NAVY PLANNING CUT TO 500,000 WITHIN A YEAR

New Point System Being Devised

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27—The navy's intention to cut its strength to 500,000 men and 50,000 officers within the next year was announced today by Secretary Forrestal. The new demobilization program will effect the release of 2,839,000 men and will be facilitated by a revision of the navy's point system to give credit for overseas duty.

President Truman, meantime, asked congress to continue the military draft of men 18 thru 25 years for two year periods of service. Considerable opposition was reported to have greeted his proposals, which were in a letter to the chairmen of the senate and the house military committees.

Point Change Soon

The navy's new program provides for a sharp increase in its rate of demobilization. The department previously announced it would release between 1,500,000 and 2,500,000 within 12 to 18 months. In addition to raising the number to be released, the time for their return to civilian life has now been shortened six months. The navy's present strength is 3,389,000, including 350,000 officers.

Secretary Forrestal, who made the announcements at a press conference, also told of the plans to alter the navy's point system. He said the system will be revised soon, probably within two months, to give credit for overseas service to men serving with the fleet or at bases outside the United States.

Points Not to Be Boosted

Forrestal emphasized that points needed for discharge will not be increased when the overseas service is established and that the point values of other factors will not be decreased.

President Truman told congress he believed a military draft of young men for two year periods is necessary to release present soldiers from excessive overseas service.

When his letter was read to the house military committee, which met today in closed session to discuss the draft and demobilization problems, his proposals met considerable opposition, committee members reported later.

Ask Halt to 18-19 Draft

Strong sentiment was expressed in the committee, it was said, for an early halt to the drafting of youths 18 and 19 and to drafting of men of any age who have dependents.

The President said that while he wished he could recommend an immediate halt to the draft, it appeared to him impossible to meet future needs by volunteers. But he urged congress to pave the way for maximum volunteering by raising the volunteer regular army's ceiling of 280,000 and by "furnishing inducements," presumably bonuses.

Mr. Truman also declared it would be dangerous for congress to proclaim the official end of the war at "too early" a date, while so many soldiers are overseas. Presidential war emergency powers would end with such declaration.

Hartford Says F. D. R. Knew of Elliott Loan

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27—Testimony flatly contradicting Elliott Roosevelt's recent assertions that his father, the late President Roosevelt, never "assisted" him in obtaining business loans was given to the house ways and means committee today.

The testimony was in the form of a statement by John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, explaining to treasury department officials why he lent $200,000 to young Roosevelt. It was read to the committee in the form of questions and answers.

Hartford's statement corroborated reports that the loan, later settled by former Commerce Secretary Jones for $4,000—two cents on the dollar—had the approval of President Roosevelt given in a telephone conversation with Hartford. Elliott has declared that any one who said his father assisted him was a "liar."

Jones Never Was Repaid

Hartford has asked that the $196,000 loss be made a deductible item on his income tax. No determination has been made by the treasury on this claim.

A statement by Jones also was read to the committee. It revealed that the late President had called him in to straighten out Elliott's tangled finances. Jones added that he had taken the $4,000 to settle the $200,000 loan out of his own pocket and has not been reimbursed, altho he expected to be repaid eventually.

"I made the loan, figuring to be taken off the hook," Hartford was reported to have told treasury agents.

Hartford was not asked to define the "off the hook" phrase. Committee members said no explanation of his meaning was needed.

Mystery Cleared Away

The A. & P. at the time was engaged in a fight against legislation which would have taxed the chain store system out of business. A bill, sponsored by Rep. Patman, [D., Tex.], introduced in 1938, would have accomplished this objective. It was pigeonholed in 1940.

Hartford's statement cleared away much of the mystery concerning the late President's role in the dealings. Mr. Roosevelt was shown to have had full knowledge of the loan and to have indorsed it. The testimony given the committee disclosed the following:

The first approach was made to George Hartford, brother of the A. & P. head, by the late Rep. Sirovich [D., N. Y.]. He indignantly rejected Sirovich's suggestion of a loan to Elliott, remarking that he wouldn't lend "a plugged nickel" on the security offered, which was stock in a proposed radio network.

Brother More Amenable

John Hartford then was approached and proved more amenable. At a conference in the Plaza hotel, New York City, Hartford told the investigators, he brought up to Elliott his doubt of the President's views of the loan.

"You can talk to father," said Elliott, confidently. He picked up Hartford's private phone and put in a call for the President at Warm Springs, Ga. After some familiar badinage about family affairs Elliott turned the phone over to Hartford, whom Mr. Roosevelt addressed as "John" altho he had never met him.

The late President told Hartford that he would "appreciate" anything that could be done for his son. The deal was accomplished soon thereafter.

Loans Totaled $800,000

Jones' testimony told of being called to the White House by the President and being asked to take charge of settling Elliott's financial affairs. He told Jones to make the best settlement possible of the loans which Elliott had made, which totalled in excess of $800,000, the committee was informed.

Other loans made by Elliott include $70,000 from David G. Baird, New York insurance man, reported settled for $30,000; $50,000 from Maxwell M. Bilofsky, New Jersey radio equipment manufacturer, reportedly settled for $20,800; and two advances totaling $500,000 from Texas oil interests. No report was made to the committee concerning these transactions.

Chicago Hails Gen. de Gaulle on Visit Here

Chicago, which owes much of its early history to French explorers and settlers, last night welcomed the leading Frenchman of today, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, president of the French provisional government. He was the city's guest at a banquet in the Blackstone hotel, and will spend most of today attending official functions. This evening his party is scheduled to leave for Ottawa, Canada.

Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green extended greetings to the French president on behalf of the city and state, praising him as a symbol of the courage and the devotion to freedom of the French people.

Has Faith in Future

In reply, Gen. de Gaulle said:

"It is said that often nations hide their aims from each other. But the French nation does not hide hers. She wants to attain a degree of activity enabling her to play a role much more important than before in the economy and exchanges of the world.

"The world will find no equilibrium, no happiness, and no peace if we let the level of general prosperity drop or even if we keep it standing still."

Asserting that he holds an unshakable faith in the future, he added:

"Let me say that the welcome of Chicago has greatly contributed to that faith. Viva Chicago! Viva America! Viva France!"

Several thousand persons cheered Gen. de Gaulle when he arrived at Chicago airport at 8:18 p. m., more than two hours later than he was expected. The delay was caused by a stop at Selfridge field, near Detroit, Mich., where he reviewed 350 French air force cadets in training there.

Party Comes in Three Planes

The French president's party flew here from New York in three airplanes, with the general riding in the last plane to land, a huge C-54 of the army transport command.

All members of the party were hurried into automobiles and driven to the Blackstone hotel. Streets near the hotel were jammed with people, who yelled enthusiastic greetings.

He was taken immediately to the Crystal room of the hotel, where the speaking program began before the guests had dined. The reversed procedure was made necessary because radio station W-G-N was broadcasting the speeches.

Gen. de Gaulle spoke in French, reading from a manuscript. An English translation of the speech was read later.

No wine was served at the dinner. The menu included lobster canape, consomme, filet mignon, salad, dessert, and coffee.

Gets Steak Thru Army

The hotel management explained it was able to serve the steak thru the courtesy of the United States army.

Today Gen. de Gaulle will attend mass in Holy Name cathedral, visit two war plants, and take part in a parade from the hotel to the La Salle st. entrance of the city hall, where he will speak briefly at a public reception. The parade, starting at 11:15 a. m., will move north in Michigan av. to Jackson blvd., west to State st., north to Washington st., and west to La Salle st.

Flat 20% Cut in '46 Income Tax Predicted

BY LAURENCE BURD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27—A 20 per cent cut in individual income tax rates, starting Jan. 1, was predicted today by Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.], ranking minority member of the house ways and means committee, which originates tax legislation.

Rep. Knutson

Knutson told reporters he expects congress to apply the 20 per cent cut "across the board" to all individual tax payers.

In other words, levies would be computed on the basis of present rates, after which one-fifth would be deducted in computing the tax owed. This would mean about one-fifth less would be deducted from workers' pay checks under the tax withholding system.

Called Fairest Way

"A flat percentage cut would be the fairest means of reducing taxes because it would treat every one alike," Knutson said.

The congressman also predicted that the excess profits tax on corporations, which now takes 95 per cent of business' excess earnings, will be repealed this fall. This proposal has wide support both in congress and the treasury department on the theory that business must have the financial resources and the incentive to expand quickly and provide millions of jobs for veterans and displaced war workers.

Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means group supported Knutson's prediction of lower tax rates in 1946.

New Bill Expected

"We can't eliminate the excess profits tax on business without cutting individual taxes," Doughton said, in promising that his committee will report a tax bill some time this fall.

Knutson indicated that some tax relief for corporations might be made retroactive to 1945. He explained that corporate taxes for this year will not be payable until 1946, and said the amount of cash taken from business in taxes next year "can speed up or retard the return of a prosperous peace time economy."

The Minnesota congressman predicted the early peace time budget will total about 26 billion dollars annually—6 billion each for interest on the national debt, veterans' benefits, and national defense, and 8 billions for other government functions.

Badger's Flagship San Diego Leads Procession

WITH THE U. S. 3D FLEET, Aug. 28 (Tuesday)—(AP)—American naval units steamed into Tokyo bay today in final preparation for landings of 10,000 sailors and marines at Yokosuka naval base on Thursday (Wednesday, Chicago time).

The special task force making this initial entrance into the waters of the Japanese capital left its anchorage in Sagami bay this morning for the 20 mile trip around Miura peninsula into Tokyo bay.

(Broadcasts from the special force said its selected anchorage was about 300 yards off Yokosuka.)

Breech Blocks Removed

Headed by Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger's flagship, the cruiser San Diego, 10 ships of the special force rounded the point and went thru the narrow Uraga channel, only 2½ miles wide and lined with silent coastal guns.

All indications were that the guns had been made inoperative by removal of breech blocks as ordered in surrender terms, altho they still pointed toward the American ships.

Following the San Diego thru Uraga strait came several destroyers and one troop transport carrying marines who will occupy three tiny islands in the north of Tokyo bay guarding the Yokosuka naval base. They are scheduled to go ashore in a few hours to see that Adm. Halsey's orders that the islands be totally neutralized were carried out.

Alert for Mines

Every one was alert for the possibility of mines—either Japanese or American, dropped by B-29s—altho minesweepers had spent hours searching for the underseas explosives in this harbor, once the most heavily mined in the world. The ships altered course a few times, presumably to avoid danger zones.

Carrier planes roared overhead as the ships progressed thru the channel.

LOOKS AT DEAD NIPPON CITIES FROM A BOMBER

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE AIR APACHES OVER JAPAN, Aug. 27—The cities of south Japan lie dead, their hearts burned out by American bombs.

Nagasaki and Hiroshima, whose names became household words when atom bombs brought their death, Kure and Sasebo, one time homes of the cocky Jap navy, Nobeoka and Kushikino and Miyazaki and Kumamoto—in all of them only ashes and rubble remain of the vast factories which were to have made Japan the indisputable mikado of the far east.

All afternoon Lt. Joe Kienholz, Pasadena, Cal., and his crew have been flying this B-25 from the Air Apaches [345th bomb group] 1,000 miles over south Japan, dodging the tail of a typhoon.

Villages Are Untouched

While every factory area we visited today is smashed and burned, not one of the hundreds of villages that dot Japan like filling stations pockmark America has been touched. Every river crossing has unshattered bridges. Trains snake thru the green valleys, laying gray smoke over the totally cared for land. Even a few cars and trucks and buses chug along the concrete highways.

Just south of Nagasaki on the shore of a bay full of Jap ships in various stages of submersion, several score of allied prisoners live in a one story H-shaped warehouse type building.

As our B-25, 11 others from the same outfit, and two Marine seaplanes came over the men ran into the courtyards and later left their fenced compound to line up on the seawall. Most prisoners were wearing shorts only. [In accordance with the peace terms, big yellow PW letters had been painted on the tiled roofs.]

Jump and Wave

As our planes circled and dived some men vanished into the barracks and came out with bits of white cloth or paper and spelled out the words, "News." The men jumped and waved.

Since they were able to leave their compound, they apparently are no longer guarded. Their prison is about five miles from the once great iron works at Nagasaki. These large buildings are now stark skeletons of twisted and blackened steel, made so by the constant pounding of army and navy planes.

Nagasaki stretches from the bay up three valleys, like fingers of an outstretched hand. One of these fingers is gone, amputated by the atomic bomb. This area, perhaps five miles long and three miles wide, is totally dead.

However, you can't tell this destroyed area from those which

M'Arthur Prepares to Take Off for Okinawa

MANILA, Aug. 28 (Tuesday)—(AP)—The first American occupation forces landed in Japan today at 9 a. m. Tokyo time (7 p. m. Monday Chicago time).

Forty-eight two and four engined transport planes and Flying Fortresses began landing at that hour at Atsugi air field, 18 miles southwest of Tokyo, with 150 technical specialists.

The first arrival of ground personnel will prepare for mass arrivals two days hence. The advance party immediately set about arranging for American signals and landing procedures for the air armada due Thursday (Wednesday Chicago time) with Gen. MacArthur and his staff.

Will Enlarge Air Field

The advanced party brought in special equipment for immediate contact with the advanced staging area at Okinawa from which the party took off.

Atsugi's air field, like all other Japanese air fields, is barely large enough for American planes. The technicians went to work to render it as ample as possible in a short time.

Col. John H. Lackey Jr. of Norfolk, Va., commander of the 317th troop carrier group, piloted the lead plane. Col. Charles Tench took over the task of supervising Japanese preparations as previously detailed by the document handed the Japanese emissaries in Manila 10 days ago.

Warburton Commands Field

Col. E. K. Warburton of Westboro, Mass., took over command of the Atsugi air field on his arrival. Gen. Kenney, commander of the far east air forces, said Warburton "knows more about Japanese planes than any man in the Southwest Pacific."

The communications commander, Col. Samuel S. Auchincloss of Tryon, N. C., said he expected to make early use of Radio Tokyo. His men will take over all radio telephonic equipment, including all harbor and airdrome radar locations. The technicians will set up control towers to handle hundreds of planes.

Col. Lackey, who led the advance party, has been flying in the Southwest Pacific area nearly three years. He led the first flight of C-47s across the Pacific for the Port Moresby and Buna, New Guinea, campaigns in late 1942 and early 1943.

MacArthur Ready to Fly

Col. Francis O. Gideon of Payne, O., arrived with the first party to plan operational requirements for occupation and the regulation of massive air traffic, including troop carrying.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters wound up its affairs in the Philippines last night preparatory to taking off for Okinawa, whence the allied supreme com-

Occupation Policy for Japan

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

OKINAWA, Aug. 27—American occupation authorities have evolved an administrative policy—based primarily on expediency—of coöperation with the existing Japanese government.

Military control, it is understood here, which will be channelized thru Emperor Hirohito, his cabinet, and local governments, is to be supervisory rather than operational. It furnishes a striking contrast to the allied military government as set up in Germany.

The policy for Japan led to the remark that from all indications the occupation would be undertaken jointly by the allied nations and the government of Japan.

Originally it had been assumed that occupation authorities would close banks, newspapers, radio stations, and schools temporarily. Now, however, it appears that they may continue to operate along with public services and utilities. Newspapers and radio stations would continue to disseminate news subject to allied censorship.

According to dispatches from Manila, the Japanese press will even be permitted to cover the American landings and the surrender ceremony.

The Japanese government will be watched closely in the initial phase of the occupation for any indication of double dealing or duplicity. Eventually it is anticipated that the militarist influence will be removed from the government. The main danger as seen here is that until that time the militaristic clique may use the present arrangement to bolster Japanese "face."

mander will fly to Japan Thursday, [Wednesday Chicago time] to accept its complete surrender.

Before leaving Manila with an advance echelon of staff officers, aides and more than 100 war correspondents, Gen. MacArthur announced that the American 8th army, veterans of the Philippines campaign under Lt. Gen. Eichelberger, will be among the first occupying forces to land in Japan. They will take over the Tokyo and Yokohama areas on Sept. 1. [Friday Chicago time.]

10,000 to Take Base

Ten thousand marines and bluejackets will seize cotrol of the huge naval base at Yokosuka and three adjacent island fortresses Thursday.

The Japanese will affix their signatures to the act of surrender in Tokyo bay aboard the battleship Missouri Sunday [Saturday Chicago time] and one day later all the emperor's far-flung armies will have surrendered.

MacArthur announced that Lt Gen. Eichelberger, who will occupy the Tokyo area, will acompany him to Atsugi.

Land Monday on Kyushu

The job of the first band of American troops and experts landing at Atsugi today was complex, said Correspondent Spencer Davis at Okinawa. Technicians will check Atsugi's main 5,600 foot runway and two alternate strips 4,150 and 5,100 feet long which must carry the burden of the transport planes.

Others will set up communications in Atsugi's control tower, for the planes will be shuttling between Atsugi and Okinawa for a week or more. Reconnaissance patrols will be sent out to see that the Japanese are hewing to the surrender line.

Will Take Five Months

Davis said that in the opinion of observers on Okinawa, the occupation of northern Japan would be a gradual process and it probably would take five months for American forces to reach maximum strength, which some estimates have placed at 500,000.

An immediate march on Tokyo was unlikely, Davis reported, in view of a request by the imperial government to withhold a crossing of the Tama river, the capital's southern boundary, until all Japanese troops within the city are disarmed.

He reported that at least 17 Japanese army divisions and six brigades were now or had been recently on the Kanto plain near Tokyo.

Gen. Eichelberger has had close contact with the Japanese for a quarter century. His first intimate contact was in Siberia in 1918 to 1920, when he headed operations and intelligence sections of the American expeditionary forces there. He later served nearly two years in the Philippines and China, and then became Far Eastern specialist with the military intelligence division, general staff, where he served until 1924.

Reports 20 Die in Crash

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 (AP)—Robert Shaplen, NBC and Newsweek war correspondent, said in a broadcast tonight from Okinawa that about 20 veteran communications men were killed in a plane which cracked up while taking off with the advance echelon for Atsugi air field near Tokyo. Considerable equipment also was lost, he reported.

"The accident has caused some delay in obtaining complete information from Japan this morning [Tuesday, Okinawa time]," Shaplen said.

Navy Planes at Atsugi

GUAM, Aug. 28 [Tuesday]—(AP)—The navy disclosed today that a search plane of fleet air wing 18 landed yesterday at Atsugi airdrome because of engine trouble.

The Japanese did not approach the plane while it was on the ground at the spot where army air borne advance units landed today.

Prepare for Take-Off

OKINAWA, Aug. 28 [Tuesday]—(AP)—Grease monkeys tuned the motors of a great air fleet of more than 350 transports and bombers on Okinawa's sprawling runways today, in readiness for the air borne occupation of Japan.

Ahead of them lie 1,980 statute miles of flight, to Tokyo and return. It would take at least 10 hours for the big transports to make the circuit, and longer for the "Tokyo trolley," the C-47s of the 317th troop carrier command.

Weather Is Hazard

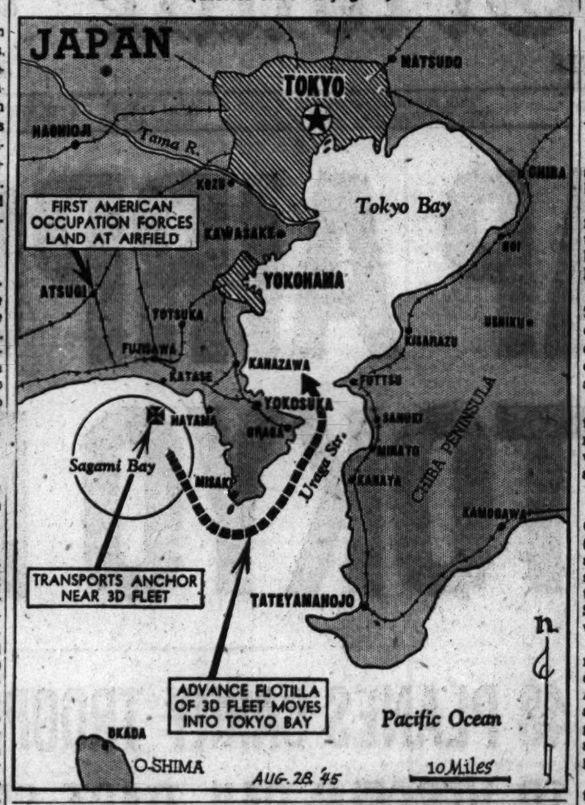

Their job of pioneering the route to Tokyo will require closest attention to weather. Already typhoons have caused a 48 hour delay in the entire operation. Navigational aids were required, and the navy assigned eight "bird-dog" destroyers, stationed 100 miles apart along the flight route to point the way. They will be in constant communication with the transport planes.

In the first flight the pilots and crews were chosen on the basis of seniority. Leading this group is Maj. Stanley V. Rush, Houston, Tex., chief pilot of the Pacific wing.

Other pilots and navigators in the first detachment include Capt. Joseph R. Buliga, navigator, 3736 S. Hermitage, Chicago; Capt. Lloyd R. Emmons, South Bend, Ind.; Maj. Edward B. Cummins, Harrisburg, Ill.; Lt. Col. Robert J. Durin, Steward, Ill.; T/Sgt. John T. Shute, Highland, Ill., and T/3 David J. Atchison, 910 Spring st., Elgin.

THOUSANDS OF JAPS ON SHORE STARE AT FLEET

Yanks Get View of Imperial Palace

WITH ADM. HALSEY IN SAGAMI BAY, Aug. 27 (AP)—Led by Adm. Halsey's flagship, the battleship Missouri, an impressive spearhead of 3d fleet warships triumphantly entered Japan's Sagami bay today and dropped anchor within 25 miles of Tokyo.

The battleship Iowa came to a stop directly behind the Missouri. Off to the left was the British battleship Duke of York, Adm. Bruce Fraser's flagship.

Resort homes dot the shoreline three miles from where the Iowa dropped her anchor.

Small boats flying the American and British flags swarmed around the war ships like waterbugs as they carried personnel and mail back and forth between the bigger vessels.

See Emperor's Palace

The shoreline, showing little signs of war damage, looks much like America's west coast. In the distance is the emperor's summer palace at Hayama. Smoke stacks, also in the distance, seem to jut up from the Hiratsuka gunpowder factory.

The summer palace, where Gen. MacArthur may set up his first headquarters, is beautifully laid out with a green roof and impressive tower.

The victorious fleet was clearly visible to thousands of Japanese along the shore between Katase and Chigasaki. American and British seamen, their faces and shirts moist with perspiration, lined the decks for their first good look at the Japanese coast line.

The Missouri sighted Miyikishima, 60 miles off the Japanese coast, at 6:52 a. m., and Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, Halsey's staff officer, signaled the fleet at the entrance to Sagami bay, "here we come."

Halsey on Bridge

Adm. Halsey was on the bridge thruout, walking back and forth and obviously enjoying the view of the Japanese islands and a lone Japanese destroyer.

"Well, admiral, you've been looking for the Jap navy. There it is," joked a staff officer pointing to the destroyer bringing the Japanese envoys to get instructions.

Capt. Harry D. Heneberger, Winchester, Mass., commander of the destroyer flotilla, and Lt. [j. g.] Sam Walker of New York City, were among the officers who met the Japanese party. Staff officers at the conference aboard the Missouri included Lt. Robert M. McGill, Springfield, Ill.

Halsey Bars Fraternizing

Before entering Sagami bay, Adm. Halsey cautioned all personnel that the Japanese would be treated with decency but that any disobedience by the Japanese of surrender terms would be dealt with by force.

He also said there would be no fraternization with either military or civilians.

"Any violators of these measures will be severely punished," Halsey warned the fleet. "Let your strength and your decency govern every action in relation to the Japanese."

In addition to the eight American and two British battleships in Sagami bay, four other American capital ships—the Wisconsin, Alabama, Indiana, and North Carolina—were lying off the coast as an outer screen.

The armada also includes 17 aircraft carriers, six escort carriers, 20 cruisers, 91 destroyers, and 25 destroyer escorts—all American.

NEWSPAPERS IN U. S. GET FLEET PICTURES ON DESKS IN 8 HOURS

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 (AP)—Despite the great reaches of space over the Pacific ocean, American newspapers today had on their desks photographs of the United States fleet moving into Sagami bay, some eight hours after the warships steamed into Japanese waters.

The pictures came by navy radio, transmitted direct from the battleship Iowa to the navy receiving station here. Then they were placed immediately on the Associated Press wirephoto network. Reception was the best ever accomplished from ship to shore over such a distance, and the photographs as received here were as good or better than similar transmissions from Guam to San Francisco.

The transmitter aboard the Iowa is equipped to send a seven by nine inch photograph in seven minutes.

Reopen Radio Telegraph Service to Japan Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(AP)—Admiral Luke McNamee, president of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company, announced today that direct radio telegraph communications between the United States and Tokyo will be reopened officially tomorrow for the first time since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. McNamee said the facilities at first would be limited to official military and government, press and prisoners-of-war messages, and that the Tokyo end of the circuit would be controlled by the American army of occupation.

Report Canada Plans End of British Nationality

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 27 [Special]—Reports are appearing in the Canadian newspapers that the government intends to introduce legislation making Canadian and not British the legal nationality of the people of this dominion and substituting a national flag for the Union Jack. Such action, it is argued, would be in accord wtih the evolution of Canada toward complete nationhood but would not imply disassociation from the British commonwealth and allegiance to the king.

a Japanese pilot to guide it into the bay.

The destroyer-transport in this force was the Gosselin. Three of the destroyers were the Wedderburn, the Yarnall, and the Stockham.

[A Japanese mine exploded in Tokyo bay last night off the port side of the Gosselin, but no damage was done to the American ship and no one was injured, a NBC broadcaster said.]

Two Japanese submarines, one of them flying the black flag of surrender, were sighted yesterday and were taken into Sagami bay by allied prize crews.

Transports Move Up

ABOARD THE TRANSPORT GRIMES IN SAGAMI BAY, Aug. 27 (AP)—Transports carrying American and British occupation troops steamed thru the mists off Japan today and into the green waters of Sagami bay, anchoring near the warships of Adm. Halsey's 3d fleet.

Fujiyama, her towering head almost covered with clouds, looked down on the great display of Anglo-American naval might. Troops aboard the transports focused glasses at cities along the shore, awaiting orders to begin the occupation.

For more than three days the transports had been circling off the Japanese coast awaiting completion of plans that would send them into Sagami.

Take Jap Pilot Aboard

The sun was shining brightly when, shortly after noon, the transports steamed past O Island and the Grimes took aboard a Japanese lieutenant commander to guide her in. He was Zedo Kusuda, a former destroyer skipper. He was brought up by the United States destroyer Stockham.

No salutes were extended on either side as he was brought to the cabin of Commodore Roland N. Smoot, Coronado, Cal., with his charts, which had a red border, signifying their secrecy.

Asked by correspondents if preparations had been made to receive the Americans, he said he believed so. Asked how the Japanese people felt about the occupation, he said they had no feeling.

Dodge Storms for Days

This landing force had dodged storms and typhoons for days, but the sea's surface was only ruffled by ground swells when at 10:45 a. m. it sighted rugged hills to the northwest, on O Island. It was the first sight of land for the troops since their departure from Guam Aug. 15.

At 2 p. m. the destroyer Stockham came alongside carrying four Nipponese pilots. All were smoking and smiling as Kusuda was transferred from the Stockham to the Grimes. Kusuda, met by an officer, was alert for any reaction among the American troops. But the soldiers merely looked on with curiosity.

CHICAGO-BOUND ORPHAN TRIES TO STOW AWAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Aug. 27—A 10 year old Ukrainian orphan, Robert Sokowski, whom a Chicago service man has offered to adopt, tried unsuccessfully to stow away on an American troopship bound for New York from Liverpool, it was reported tonight.

Robert was believed in a hurry to join Sgt. Edward Klonowski, 24, of 4621 Grace st., Chicago, who fathered the lad after Americans rescued him from the Germans in Italy. Impatient at the red tape delaying his adoption, Robert eluded his guardians in London Aug. 17 and made his way to Liverpool where GIs helped him stow away. Thirteen miles out, however, Robert was discovered by the captain who ordered him back to Liverpool on the pilot boat.

The embassy reportedly indicated the adoption papers may soon be cleared. Meanwhile Robert is returning to his temporary guardians, the 385th squadron of the 8th air force's 364th fighter group.

ATTACKED MANY TIMES, BATAAN GOT ONLY A BATH

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Japanese suicide planes repeatedly attacked the carrier Bataan but only splashed salt water against her, the navy said tonight in telling of the carriers part in the fighting with task force 58 off the Nansei Shoto Islands last April 17.

A dive bomber headed straight for the carrier. Gunners hit it several times, but the plane kept coming. The Bataan began zigzagging. Two pieces of the plane flashed past the carrier's island structure and the plane exploded in the water 100 feet away. Wreckage littered the flight deck, but the only damage was to the uniform of a landing signal officer, who was sprayed by salt water.

Up until March 19, the Bataan's planes had accounted for 61 enemy aircraft, but its gunners had never gotten a chance to shoot at a kamikaze. Then, while the Bataan's planes were raiding shipping in Japan's Inland sea, a torpedo-bomber tried to attack. The gunners brought it down. In the next few weeks the gunners ran their score to six.

BRIG. GEN. BEEBE RESCUED IN JAP PRISONER CAMP

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—The war department was notified today that Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe, captured by the Japanese during the Philippine attack, had been rescued by a parachute team at Camp Hoten, Manchuria.

The general is still at the camp, being treated by American medical officers who parachuted down after the Japanese surrender, the department said.

Beebe, whose wife lives at Faribault, Minn., is 53 years old and a veteran of battles in World War I. He supervised the system of blockade running which kept American resistance going for weeks in the Philippines after the Japanese had landed and set up a siege of American forces.

[Mrs. Beebe said in Faribault that this was the first word concerning her husband she had received since May, 1942. Gen. Beebe at one time was commandant of Shattuck Military academy at Faribault.]

Japanese Start Beating Swords Into Plowshares

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 (AP)—The Japanese today said they were almost literally beating their swords into plowshares. A Tokyo broadcasts said Japanese swordsmiths had turned to the production of farm implements and already were making sickles and spades.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER WINS HIGHEST MEDAL

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 27 (AP)—A Michigan second lieutenant and a South Carolina private will receive congressional medals of honor from President Truman in Washington, D. C., for gallantry in killing a total of 88 Japanese in two battles in the Philippines.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported today the nation's highest military award would go to 2d Lt. John C. Sjogren, rural route No. 1, Rockford, Mich., northeast of Grand Rapids, a former Sunday school teacher, and Pvt. Thomas E. Atkins, Campobello, S. C., who had trouble qualifying as a rifle marksman.

Sjogren was credited with knocking out nine enemy pillboxes and killing 43 Japanese on May 23 while with the 40th division on the Island of Negros.

Kills in Hand to Hand Fight

Sjogren is the first 40th division winner of the congressional medal. The citation stated he crawled 20 yards thru enemy fire to drag back his wounded second in command. He then ordered a squad to concentrate fire on a pillbox slit while he crawled to within a yard of it to push in grenades. The Japanese tossed back some of the grenades but Sjogren outpitched them.

Altho wounded by one of the grenades pitched out of the pillbox, Sjogren fought on and knocked out the pillboxes. He also killed a Nipponese in hand to hand combat. His comrades said it seemed as if he had three grenades in the air at once most of the time. Sjogren said he used more grenades than bullets.

Sjogren originally was classified 4-F, then reclassified for limited service, but was put into the infantry at his own request.

Yank Stops 2 Companies

Atkins, the first living Yank of the 32d division to win the congressional medal, was honored for action on the Villaverde trail in northern Luzon. He was in a foxhole with two companions on March 10 when an estimated two companies of Japanese attacked, killing his companions and setting up a machine gun 15 yards away. The Japanese attacked for four hours but Atkins held his post, firing more than 400 rounds of ammunition, burning out his own rifle and those of two dead companions and killing 45 Japanese.

SJOGREN "HATED FIGHTING"

At Rockford, Mich., Sjogren's mother, Mrs. Carl Sjogren said the news was "a surprise to us."

"He hated fighting and was too busy teaching Sunday school and Boy Scouts to have any part of it," she said.

Mrs. Edward Erickson, an aunt, said the lieutenant taught Sunday school at the Algoma Baptist church until the week before he left for service and had worked as a machine operator at the Rockford Shoe factory.

When Sjogren first volunteered for service he was rejected because of an old sprain in his back. In January, 1942, he was accepted for limited service but protested so vehemently, according to his 84 year old father, that nine months later he was put on active duty and sent overseas.

THE 'REAL' PEARL HARBOR STORY EXPECTED SOON

F.D.R. Knew Attack Was Coming, Letter Hints

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27—The inside story of Pearl Harbor, with its shocking disclosures that the late President Roosevelt knew the Japs were going to attack the United States, may come soon, the weekly capital news letter, Human Events, reported today.

The publication, edited by Felix Morley, newspaper man and recently resigned president of Haverford college, and Franck C. Hanighen, former foreign correspondent, said startling disclosures are expected in congress when and if the Pearl Harbor investigation report is made public.

Secrets Locked in Safes

The army and navy conducted separate inquires into the responsibility for the greatest naval disaster in history. These reports have been held in the safes of the war and navy departments for months.

President Truman last week indicated he expects to receive the official report when congress reconvenes and said he will then be prepared to state whether Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, navy and army commanders at Hawaii at the time of attack, will be brought to public trial.

Facts Known by G. O. P.

"Some Washington circles say the Republican party during the last election campaign was in possession of copies of secret documents concerning Pearl Harbor," Human Events said. It continued:

"The Republicans finally decided not to utilize them publicly, fearing that they would be blamed for revealing military secrets to the Japanese." A part of this story is the administration attempt to push thru a bill making it a penal offense to publish decoded telegrams and radiograms—a move which was blocked by Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.].

Knew Attack Was Coming

"The documents, it is claimed, will show that the President knew that the Japanese were planning to attack us [altho he didn't know it would be at Pearl Harbor], that the heads of the armed forces did not approve the ultimatum to Japan of Nov. 26, 1941 [which students now believe precipitated the war], and that the President, by diplomatic methods, lured the Japanese into attacking us. All this, plus other startling details, may be revealed."

The news letter also stated that it can now be told that reliable sources confirm the story, first published by THE TRIBUNE, that Japan's first bid for peace was made last January to President Roosevelt thru a communication from Gen. MacArthur.

Could Have Avoided Losses

"Many said that if MacArthur had been heeded, our heavy losses at Iwo and Okinawa could have been avoided," the publication said. "Whether or not the proposals which MacArthur received were bona fide and whether the negotiations would have proceeded—without the use of the atomic bomb—as swiftly as those just concluded, may remain a matter for debate.

"But, it is felt that MacArthur's record, when made public, will appear as highly intelligent, and the President's as purblind."

BRITISH TO BUY MALAYA RUBBER AND TIN AT ONCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Aug. 27 — With the British government's backing, groups of rubber, copra, and tin experts will move into Malaya alongside allied occupation forces to buy up existing stocks of the three commodities and speed up industrial rehabilitation on the peninsula, it was officially announced tonight.

Units of civil experts set up by the ministry of supply and the colonial office will work in conjunction with the army civil affairs staff, it was stated.

New York Reunion

Betty Hutton and her fiance, Chicagoan Theodore S. Briskin, in New York reunion yesterday.

New York, Aug. 27 [Special]—Betty Hutton, whom Hollywood identifies as its No. 1 movie jitterbug and perfect screwball, is going to marry a self-made Chicago business man, serious as he is charming.

The lucky hepcat tamer is Theodore S. Briskin, just 27, 6 feet 1, hair jet black, eyes brown, mustache small and black.

The announcement was made today at the Waldorf-Astoria to the popping of champagne corks and the flourish of blonde, blue-eyed Betty's 8 carat diamond engagement ring, which Briskin got this morning on his arrival from Chicago.

Betty herself had arrived today from Europe by plane, after being forced to cancel her U. S. O. tour because of a nervous breakdown.

Betty is 24. It's to be the first marriage for both, and in about three weeks in Hollywood.

TRIBUNE STORIES TEACH NAZI PWs U. S. DEMOCRACY

Because THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has helped reëducate German prisoners of war toward a democratic conception of life, suitable stories and articles from THE TRIBUNE henceforth will be translated into a German language monthly digest at the headquarters prisoner of war camp at Concordia, Kas., army authorities there said yesterday.

"Your newspaper has been coming regularly to this camp and has served a useful purpose indeed in the reëducation of German prisoners," a letter written by Capt. Karl C. Teufel, assistant executive officer, said. "Many men read this newspaper in English, but because there are a great many more who can read only German, we propose each month to turn out a digest of suitable articles which can serve a reëducational purpose."

Translations, Capt. Teufel said, will be as literal as possible, and the entire project will be carried out by American personnel. It is believed, he added, that the digest will help promote a proper mental attitude among the Germans "and therefore promote likewise the cause of lasting peace."

RED BAG OF JAP PRISONERS NOW TOTALS 438,000

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Russian occupation of Japanese held territory in Manchuria, northern Korea, and southern Sakhalin Island apparently was complete today as Moscow reported the round-up of 30,000 additional Japanese prisoners. This brought the total bag up to 438,000.

The apparent cessation of Russian movements in the Far East came after Gen. MacArthur announced that American troops would occupy the southern part of Korea. The Russians have moved down to middle Korea on a general line running from Heijo on the west coast to Gensan on the east. These points are north of the 38th degree of latitude, which is to be the official demarcation line.

It was believed in Moscow that soviet amphibious forces might be continuing their stepping-stone advance toward northern Japan over the Kurile Islands, west of the Aleutians, but the soviet bulletin did not report any new operations in the island chain.

PLANES, SHIPS TO SPEED RETURN OF WAR PRISONERS

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 27—American prisoners freed in Japan and Korea will be brought to Manila by plane and ship. An effort will be made to send them homeward within five days. It is feared, however, 30 per cent will need hospitalization in Manila.

Notification of the families of the evacuees will be among the first tasks of the personnel division. At each camp the men will fill out a brief form, giving name and next of kin. This information will come to Manila by courier plane and be radioed to the war department in Washington, D. C., which in turn will notify relatives that their kin have been found. Each prisoner also will be allowed to send a brief personal message to his home.

Prisoners freed in China and Manchuria will be processed by the army forces in China, but it is expected many will come home thru Manila.

Will Start Quickly

Evacuation of American and allied prisoners of war will start "almost simultaneously" with entry of occupation troops into Japan, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced.

The Red Cross said 5,000 messages from relatives in the United States—most of them including pictures of wives, mothers, and children—were received today by special transport for distribution to the prisoners.

Many of the prisoners, said the headquarters statement, are veterans of Bataan and Wake Island.

Australians Protest

Australian war correspondents going to Japan with Gen. MacArthur tonight bitterly protested a ruling by the Australian army high command that will prevent them interviewing liberated Australian prisoners.

The ruling was conveyed to them thru MacArthur's press relations headquarters. It stated that recovered prisoners will not give interviews to radio or newspaper correspondents except in the presence of a representative of the director general of Australian public relations.

Correspondents said this means a complete black-out on news of the whereabouts, condition, and experiences of more than 15,000 men. They asserted it might take from two to three months for notification to reach anxious relatives because of cumbersome government methods, whereas newspapers could get word home in a period of hours.

BRITAIN MAY COMPROMISE ON FREEDOM OF AIR

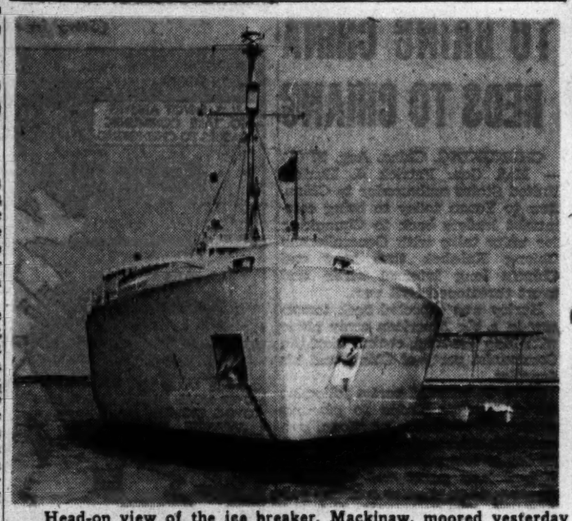

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 27—British Minister of Civil Aviation Winster said in an interview here tonight that Britain has not changed her policy of opposition toward free and open competition on the international air routes of the world. He declared, however, that "with a little give and take on both sides" he expected a compromise on air transport rights.

The American air lines, which have promised the civilian flying populace daily schedules to Europe in huge, multi-motored craft and at prices almost any wage earner can afford to pay, still are operating on a quasi-military basis under army air transport supervision.

They have not been able as yet to procure the civilian air transports to make expanded service possible, but, more important, they have not been able to obtain landing rights in Europe which would permit operation of transoceanic aircraft seating 100 or more persons.

ALL-EMBRACING PACT WITH CHINA CALLED RED IDEA

U. S. Aided in Treaty Negotiations

MOSCOW, Aug. 27 (AP)—The new Russian-Chinese alliance was made a far-reaching agreement at Russian suggesion, it was learned on good authority today.

When the alliance first was discussed, the Chinese did not have in mind such a broad agreement as has been reached, this information said, and it was Russia which proposed that all questions be settled in an agreement which really meant something.

With the soviets taking such a realistic attitude and expressing a desire to settle all questions, Chinese Premier T. V. Soong asked for and received authority to approach questions on this broader, all embracing basis, it was said.

The groundwork for the fruitful discussions between the Chinese and Russians was said to have been laid at the Caire and Tehran conferences, with the late President Roosevelt taking an active role.

World Benefit Cited

During Soong's discussions with soviet leaders, United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman consulted daily with the Chinese premier. The visits to Moscow of Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, American ambassador to China, also are recalled.

The newspaper Pravda, commenting on the alliance, said Russia was the first state basically to recognize China's sovereignty, and declared China had seen in the soviet union a faithful, disinterested friend.

The chief aim of the pact, Pravda said, is to prevent new Japanese aggression. It declared the alliance was for the benefit of the whole world.

Hailed by Byrnes

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes today termed the new Russian-Chinese treaty "an important step forward" in relations between the two countries.

"We were kept informed of the progress of the deliberations in Moscow and we welcome this development as a practical example of the continuing unity and mutual helpfulness which should characterize the acts of members of the united nations in peace as well as in war," Byrnes said.

The Byrnes comment was in answer to written questions submitted by reporters.

First Lakes Cruise

The coast guard icebreaker Mackinaw arrived at navy pier yesterday, bringing 84 cadets from the Coast Guard academy to the city in the course of a training cruise on the Great Lakes.

This is the Mackinaw's first visit to Chicago since she was commissioned last December at Toledo, O. The training cruise is the first on fresh water in 78 years of such cruises by coast guard cadets. Their academy at New London, Conn., is a counterpart of the army academy at West Point and the navy's school at Annapolis.

Four Chicago men were in the cadet contingent aboard the Mackinaw. They are Charles D. Bishop, 23, of 519 Barry av.; James B. Brooks, 23, of 9343 Loomis st.; Robert W. D. Urfey, 20, of 220 S. Euclid av., Oak Park, and Winston F. Crum, 20, of 743 Wenonah av., Oak Park.

FINDS WAR EASES JOB OF BUILDING A MODERN MANILA

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 27—The ruin and rubble of Manila, with 30 per cent of the old city destroyed, presents a great opportunity to build a modern, efficient city, Louis P. Croft, adviser to President Sergio Osmena on land planning, said today.

Croft, formerly with the natonal park service in Washington, D. C., came here in 1940 as park and recreational planner for the late President Manuel Quezon. He was working out plans for improving the city when the Japs invaded. He was imprisoned, with his wife and daughter, in the Santo Tomas camp. There he found himself in company with some Manila magnates, and during the 39 months they were prisoners, he sold them on the benefits to be derived if Manila were rebuilt along modern lines.

War Eased Task

"When the battle for Manila was over," he said, "we found the warfare had actually performed the first step necessary to any effort to modernize the big city.

"More than 30 per cent of the area involved in our plans was destroyed, and with it 80 per cent of the invested capital. Areas where probably it would have been difficult to put thru condemnation proceedings are now in ruins, thus easing our task."

Croft has three principal objectives: To move all industries to the north port era on the north side of the Pasig river, establish a civic center of which the old walled city would be the center, and straighten and widen the main streets to eliminate congestion and confusion.

Houses for Workers

In the port area the plans call for building piers to handle ocean as well as island shipping. Alongside the piers warehouses are to be erected, and behind them houses for waterfront workers. At present warehouses and industrial plants are jammed into the area south of the Pasig river, where there is no room for expansion.

Croft proposes to restore the massive 30 foot high walls of the old walled city, eliminate the slum area, and change it into a 160 acre park, and probably rebuild five ruined churches. The sixth church in the walled city, St. Augustine's, escaped virtually unscathed.

Around the walled city the city planning expert proposes to erect a new city hall, the Roosevelt memorial library, auditorium, courthouse, and semi-public buildings. The entire civic center's area would be about 500 acres.

10 to 20 Year Program

In correcting the congested downtown traffic by widening and straightening the streets, he also expects the city's sewage system to be expanded. It now serves only 30 per cent of the city. The water system is excellent, Croft says, and can supply 1½ million population. Manila had a pre-war population of 700,000, but it has now swollen to around a million.

Croft estimates it will take from 10 to 20 years to complete the program, depending on how much financial help comes from outside the Philippines. He cannot estimate the cost.

Working with Croft are experts on loan from the army and navy, including Maj. Arthur Carrara, former Chicago architect. The latter's services as a city planner were utilized by the mayor of Melbourne, Australia, when Carrara was stationed there.

FIRE CAUSES $1,000 DAMAGE

Fire which originated in a basement rubbish pile last night caused $1,000 damage to a two floor vacant frame house at 730 Weed st. Chief John Zacker of the 3d battalion said he did not determine the cause.

FREED SHANGHAI CHEERS LANDING OF 2 U. S. PLANES

Japs Direct Yank Flyers to Reception at Field

BY VERN HAUGLAND

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28 [Tuesday] —(AP)—Two United States strategic air forces planes carrying correspondents and press officers landed at this great Chinese city shortly after 10 a. m. today. [8 p. m. Monday, Chicago time.]

A great cheering throng greeted us. Uncertain of the status of the air fields so lately run by the Japanese military, we landed alongside a paved highway.

Japanese officers emerged from the quickly gathered crowd of Chinese and ordered us to take off immediately. They said we should proceed to a regular airdrome where a reception was awaiting us. We protested that we preferred to remain where we were rather than risk an additional landing, but we finally flew to the air field.

First man to land was Capt. Sanword Moats in a Mustang. Our big B-17 followed after Moats and landed safely.

Occupation Completed

Chinese at the field said the Chinese army had complete occupation of Shanghai Monday night.

Yesterday we had flown over Shanghai while en route from Guam and Okinawa to Weihsien to witness the parachuting of supplies from 10 B-29s to 1,500 Americans and Britons in Japanese prison camps.

We "buzzed" Shanghai for almost an hour shortly after sunrise. We found the city decked with Chinese, American, and British flags. Some of the buildings on which British and American flags were flying housed white persons, who waved wildly.

We droned repeatedly over the city at heights as low as 300 feet. About 40 Japanese fighter planes, apparently undamaged but with the engines hooded, were parked on one airdrome.

Shanghai Little Damaged

The beautiful city has virtually escaped damage in the war. A few factories were bombed—we counted less than half a dozen—and they were by no means completely wrecked.

We flew over one building marked with a red cross and two letters, "P. W," marked in concrete in the courtyard. What looked like prisoners of war there waved and jumped up and down.

On several fields we saw troops drilling, but were unable to determine if they were Chinese or Japanese. We also saw a number of white men doing calisthenics drill. The rivers were choked with junks and other small craft. There was one destroyer, apparently Japanese.

With an estimated 200 Japanese troops encircling the field but out of sight, we spent an hour on the ground when we reached Weihsien trying to talk to Chinese onlookers and conversing with American army officers who drove up half a hour after we landed.

Eight Americans landed by parachute 10 days after Tokyo disclosed the Japanese surrender offer. Three days later 10 others landed on the field in a C-47 transport.

Camp in Church Compound

The Japanese still control the prisoner of war camp—largest in North China—in the suburban Presbyterian church compound a mile southeast of the center of the ancient walled city of Weihsien, 400 miles north of Shanghai and 665 miles west of Nagasaki.

We circled the prison camp before and during the dropping of supplies in an adjoining field marked by a white cross. The B-29s hit right on the target. The prisoners remained in the camp, watching from walls and rooftops, waving and cheering madly.

The B-29s carried oil drums filled with canned goods anchored to bomb racks. Bombardiers released the drums in the same way they had dropped bombs and the bomb sight played its usual part.

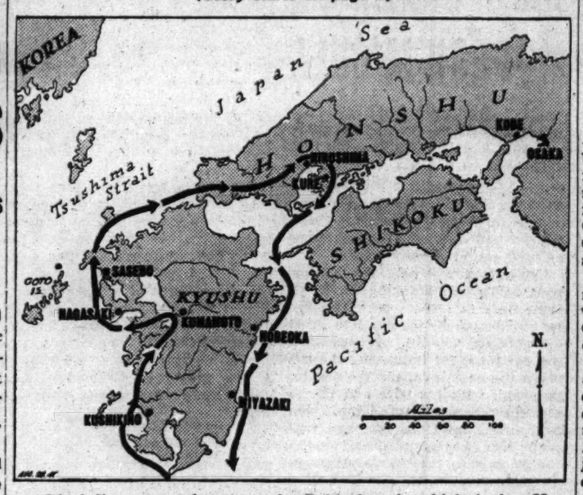

One officer who had been there a week, Maj. Oswald Stewart of Hyde Park, Mass., said the prisoners had been on a starvation diet a long time but for the last six months had been fairly well fed and well treated.

Lt. Gen. Doolittle, commander of the 8th air force, lent us his Fortress for our flight.

Doolittle also lent his crew, including Maj. Francis O. Marion, Normal, Ill. and Staff Sgt. Norbert M. Heston, 1138 Calfant st., South Bend, Ind. I was the only news correspondent aboard. Also aboard is Lt. Col. Norman Ross, 8th air force press officer, of Chicago, and Capt. Fred L. Mollwitz, 4313 N. Morris blvd., Milwaukee, Wis.

Flight Over Atom Bombed Cities

LOOKS AT JAPAN'S CITIES OF DEATH FROM A BOMBER

Tribune Man Sees Ruin on 1,000 Mile Trip

were pasted by small fire bombs. There is no great crater—as a matter of fact, none at all. The streets are not broken as they are in frequently bombed cities. Steel power lines still stand. So do the few concrete buildings, indicating that the greatest damage to property was wrought by the heat of the atomic bomb. Steel street cars are burned but not flattened.

At least 90 per cent of this stricken area was built over with houses and other structures of wood. Some Japanese today were poking among the ashes.

The dock and factory areas of Nagasaki's other fingers are also ruined. But otherwise those parts of the city are whole.

90% of City Damaged

In Hiroshima the area of damage is much greater, probably 90 per cent of the entire city. There as in the atomized part of Nagasaki, the wooden structures have been turned into ash. The steel and concrete ones are gutted.

All along the coast of southern Japan are factory areas. We started at the southern tip of Kyushu, followed the west coast to the Inland sea, cut across to Honshu and then came back down the eastern coast. In every valley mouth big enough to hold buildings, factories once stood.

No place in the United States, except possibly in the TVA area, are there so many power plants. Every river seems to have several. Power lines, their white porcelain insulators sparkling, criscross the mountains that make up southern Japan. Telephone poles are heavy with lines just like those along our highways.

Some Trains Still Run

Some trains still are running. We saw three and they looked quite modern. The locomotives were camouflaged with black and white stripes.

The land installations at the two naval bases, Sasebo, 30 miles north of Nagasaki, and Kure, 15 miles south of Hiroshima, are gutted—and that means the entire base area at Kure which extends some three miles.

At Sasebo two aircraft carriers lie under camouflage nets. Twenty-six submarines are lined up in one cover. About a dozen destroyers ride at anchor in another.

But if you want to see the remnants of the Jap fleet you should go to Kure. There the sight is beautiful. A battleship lies half submerged. A carrier is flopped on its side and another is down at the stern. Of two cruisers only the stacks and turrets remain above water. Sundry other ships are unidentifiable—only their keels show.

Ships at Anchor

But not all of the fleet is submerged. Fourteen destroyers, two heavy cruisers, a light cruiser, 25 submarines, and two score auxiliary ships are anchored orderly off the Kure drydocks. They still fly Jap flags, but their crews only stand and gawk, their guns covered.

Similarly the batteries of naval and anti-aircraft guns which are dug into the hills around Kure and Sasebo stand covered and untended.

Everywhere the Japs turned up their faces and stared as we went by. Once we flew over a beach on which a hundred or so were bathing and they all ran.

Salute Passing Planes

At one air field two men stood at attention and saluted. They held the salute until we passed. In one rice field a group of children waved.

Rural southern Japan is beautiful. It's beautiful in the same way as a formal garden—in the thoroness and skill with which it is graded. The little fields come green right down to the road. Forests cover the hills thickly. Many forests have been planted. You can tell by the way the trees grow in rows. There doesn't seem, from the air, to be a weed anywhere. Dams every half mile or less control the rivers.

The China sea washes the west coast gently but on the east the boisterous Pacific churns into a foam, climbing and rolling far up the beaches.

Some ships still plow from harbor to harbor but all we saw was small stuff, the largest about the size of a small ferry. The big stuff is all in the harbors, some afloat and some submerged.

HIROHITO'S 'LOVE' FOR ATOM BLASTED FOLK LED TO SURRENDER

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

The real reason for Japan's surrender was the destructiveness of American atom bombs coupled with Emperor Hirohito's "love of the people," Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni said yesterday. He announced one purpose of the forthcoming extraordinary diet session is to "clarify frankly" the reasons for capitulation.

Other Tokyo broadcasts said confusion on the home front "seems to be more complicated than the front lines"; reported a series of home front and foreign office changes to adapt the nation to meet its role as a beaten people; and announced plans for rehabilitation work.

The diet session, postponed until Sept. 4 to coincide with delayed occupation plans, will be watched by the entire world, the premier told cabinet and house conferees at his residence. The Domei news agency said the premier will hold a similar conference today with members of the house of peers.

POSTAL, INTERIOR UNITS BACK ON 40 HOUR WEEK

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—The postoffice and interior departments went on the 40 hour, five day week today, and the war department will cut to that basis Sept. 9.

Secretary Ickes made the cutback with pay of workers reduced accordingly, effective immediately for 4,023 interior employes in Washington, and ordered the field offices which have the balance of the department's 44,453 employes to put it into effect not later than the week beginning Sept. 9. During most of the war the interior department worked 48 hours, and since early in July has been on a 44 hour schedule.

Postmaster Gen. Hannegan announced an immediate switch from 44 to 40 hours. It applies, however, to departmental workers only and not to letter carriers and other "field service" workers. Postoffice workers will lose overtime, but wage increases made effective July 1 will give them approximately the same pay.

27 RED OFFICERS TIED TO BERLIN'S BLACK MARKET

BERLIN, Aug. 27—[Reuters]—British troops, aided by British, Russian and French police, today threw a cordon round the black market in Tiergarten park near the reichstag ruins and forced several thousand persons to pass thru a control post at Brandenburg gate.

Some cigarets and food were seized fro German civilians, and the names of 27 Russian officers taken. These names will be sent to Marshal Gregory Zhukov. Recently Zhukov cashiered 15 officers for black market offenses.

Today's move marks a drive to stamp out all such markets in the British sector.

U. S. ENVOY FLIES TO BRING CHINA REDS TO CHIANG

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 27 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, United States ambassador to China, flew to Yenan today to bring communist leaders back to Chungking for unity talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that may end China's long internal strife and avert threatened civil war.

Hurley was expected back tomorrow in a big American army plane with Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Communist party of China, and his deputies.

[The Communist party, following soviet Russia's pledge to give exclusive aid to Chiang's national government, expressed a willingness yesterday to compromise with Chiang's Kuomintang party and urged the formation of a popular coalition government. The Communsts, in broadcasts from Yenan, offered a six point program calling for a conference of all Chinese parties, free elections, and the recognition of a popularly elected government to "immediately realize peace and avoid civil war."]

Take over Shanghai

Underground Chinese forces meanwhile took over Shanghai and government troops entered Nanking, China's pre-war capital, front dispatches said.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Shanghai late yesterday said the Chinese had completely occupied the city. The dispatch came from a reporter who had landed in an American plane.]

In Nanking, Chinese military and government officials, flown by air from Chihkiang, laid the groundwork for the formal surrender of Japanese Gen. Tasuji's Okamura's forces in China to Gen. Ho Ying-chin, Chinese field commander.

Reports here said the surrender would be signed in Nanking Sept. 6.

Hurley's mission to Yenan, the Chinese communist center, in the role of a mediator raised hopes of a new era of peace for China, especially since it followed upon the Russo-Chinese 30 year treaty by which the soviet union agreed to aid Chiang's national government only.

Safe Conduct Implied

Hurley has long used his good offices in an attempt to bring the Communist and Kuomintang parties together for talks. By going to Yenan to fetch the communist leader and his party, Hurley implicitly provided safe conduct for them and removed any apprehensions they may have had over their personal safety.

Hurley initiated discussions between the government and Communists, looking toward the formation of coalition government and a unification of China's armed forces, soon after he came to China a year ago as the late President Roosevelt's representative, an authoritative source said.

He went to Yenan in November, 1944, and returned with a proposal for a coalition government. But government-communist differences could not then be resolved.

He also visited Moscow in August, 1944, and in April this year and discussed China with Generalissimo Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov. These conversations presumably laid some of the groundwork for the Russo-Chinese treaty, the terms of which were announced yesterday.

REPORTS 89,798 PATIENTS IN 54 NAVY HOSPITALS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire reported today the 54 navy hospitals in the United States are caring for 89,798 patients and the load will increase during the next few months.

The navy surgeon general disclosed at a news conference that 15,000 sick and wounded navy men and marines remain to be returned to this country from the Pacific. They are being brought back by surface vessels and planes at a rate of approximately 1,800 monthly and all should be returned by mid-October, McIntire said.

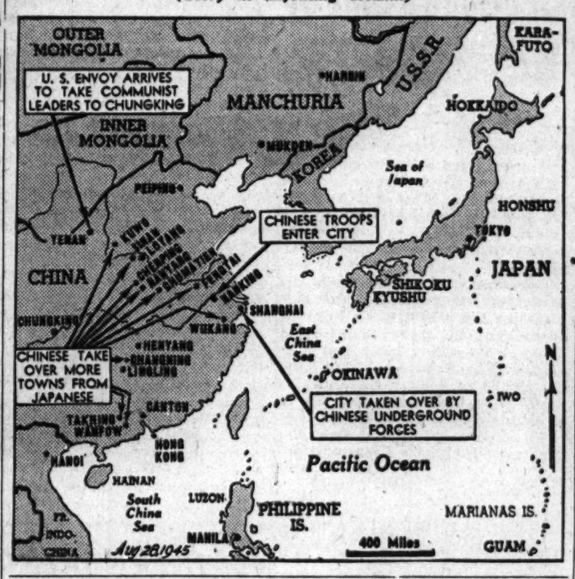

McIntire reported that the No. 1 reason for medical discharges in the navy is mental disease. From January, 1942, until June, 1945, he said, 25.8 per cent of all medical discharges were neuropsychiatric cases.

ALL LEND-LEASE ITEMS IN CHINA FROZEN BY U. S.

Move Made to Guard Stored Supplies

KUNMING, China, Aug. 27 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, United States services of supply chief in the China theater, disclosed today that all lend-lease items in China have been frozen.

"One of our jobs is to see that United States equipment in storehouses in China is safeguarded and properly transferred to authorized persons," he said. "This equipment will be properly handed over. We don't want to see any of this equipment turned over to unauthorized persons and we want it to be in good shape."

Aurand said the Chinese would use Liuchow, Kwangsi, as a pivot for redeployment and for supplying areas the Japanese had occupied.

'No Borrowing from N. S.'

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 28 [Tuesday] (AP)—The Australian press strongly criticized cancellation of American lend-lease today. One paper, the Daily Telegraph, headlined "No Borrowing from America."

The Telegraph's Canberra correspondent wrote, "Australia will not incur dollar debts to America in efforts to replace lend-lease. The government will follow the lead given by Britain and refuse to enter into any contract incurring heavier overseas debt outside the sterling bloc."

[Britain never has announced she would refrain from borrowing from the United States, but the Australian account indicated that Australia at least believed this to be the case.]

Correspondent Knox said he got his facts from the Australian cabinet discussion yesterday. No decision has been announced by the cabinet but a statement is expected shortly. It is known that urgent cablegrams have been passing between the Australian and United States governments.

British Talk of Barter

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Treasury sources said tonight Britain may suggest a modified barter agreement based on short-term credit as a substitute for lend-lease. However, if a straight dollar loan from the United States is the only means available for continuing certain imports, the loan probably will be accepted, other sources said.

The government wants British goods accepted in lieu of dollars for a percentage of the cost of more American materials and is opposed to any long-term credits, the treasury informants said.

Treasury adviser Keynes left for Washington today by ship for the British-American talks on problems arising from termination of lend-lease.

Treasury informants made it clear that Britain is opposed to a 30 year credits plan proposed by Leo T. Crowley, director of the United States' foreign economic administration, because Crowley's proposal presumably calls for a straight deal involving dollars borrowed and dollars repaid.

CANDY, GUM, $1,000 STOLEN

Burglars took 38 cartons of candy bars and nine cartons of chewing gum, as well as $1,000, from the safe of the Rotman Brothers' confectionery, 3020 Irving Park rd., Isadore Rotman told police yesterday.

ARREST GERMAN FOR ESPIONAGE; HUNTED MONTHS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—The justice department announced today the capture of a German it described as a nazi espionage agent sought by the federal bureau of investigation for six months.

Hans Zuehlsdorff

The FBI identified him as Hans Zuehlsdorff, 25, and said he was an associate of William Colepaugh and Eric Gimpel, German agents who were arrested by the FBI in New York after landing from a German submarine at Hancock Point, Me., in November, 1944.

Zuehlsdorff was apprehended Aug. 9 by British authorities in Trinidad, B. W. I., and was brought to Miami, Fla., last night by an FBI agent, FBI Director John Edgar Hoover said.

YANKS LOCATE JAP 'TIGER'; HE AGREES TO QUIT

Luzon Leader Writes Surrender Letter

MANILA, Aug. 27 (AP)—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, "The Tiger," commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines opened surrender negotiations with the United States army today from his mountain hideout in northern Luzon. He once promised to dictate peace in the White House.

Gen. Yamashita

In a letter delivered to an army outpost near Kiangan, Yamashita said he had received instructions from Tokyo to surrender and that he had ordered his surviving troops to stop fighting.

The tamed tiger said he believed negotiations could be entered into immediately, altho he was still awaiting further instructions from Tokyo. The letter was addressed to Maj. Gen. W. H. Gill, commander of the 32d division. It was brought in by a Japanese patrol which carried a radio for further communications.

Planes Give Instructions

The fantastic finale to the long quest for the conqueror of Malaya and Corregidor resulted directly from Yamashita's action in releasing an American fighter pilot unharmed. He was Capt. Dan Shaw of Poteau, Okla., who returned with a letter from Japanese mountain headquarters praising him for refusal to disclose information during 11 days he was held captive.

Gill pointed out the exact location of Yamashita's headquarters, and planes were sent over giving specific instructions to the enemy general on how to surrender.

Yamashita, acknowledging receipt of these instructions, wrote to Gill:

"I am taking this opportunity to convey to you that orders from Imperial headquarters pertaining to cessation of hostilities have been duly received by me Aug. 20 and I immediately issued orders to cease hostilities to all units under my command insofar as communications were possible.

He's Very Grateful

"I also wish to add at this point my heartfelt gratitude to you, fully cognizant of the sincere efforts and deep concern you continuously show with reference to the cessation of hostilities. I failed to receive orders from Imperial headquarters authorizing me to enter into direct negotiations here in the Philippines with the United States army concerning carrying out the order on cessation of hostilities but I am of the fond belief that upon receipt of this order negotiations can immediately be entered."

The first Japanese to surrender in central Mindanao were taken to internment camps today.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today the appointment of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler as commanding general of the Luzon area command. Beightler, former Ohio State highway director, has been commander of the 37th division — formerly the Ohio national guard—which played a leading role in the Luzon campaign.

He will serve under Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, commander of army forces, western Pacific who was designated by Gen. MacArthur to receive the surrender of Japanese forces in the Philippines. Styer heretofore has been commander of services and supply.

Japs Sign at Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 28 [Tuesday] (AP)—Japanese surrender envoys signed preliminary peace agreements for southeast Asia at 1 a. m. today in the grand ball room of the government house. The ceremony, climaxing two days of negotiations, paved the way for allied reoccupation of Singapore, the East Indies and all southeast Asia.

A plenipotentiary signed for Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, commander of the Japanese southern armies, while Lt. Gen. F. A. M. Browning affixed his signature on behalf of Adm. Mountbatten. Browning told the Japanese they must smooth the way for the allies in this theater pending Tokyo's formal surrender Sept. 2.

[The British Broadcasting company said the British East Indies fleet was steaming toward the Straits of Malacca Monday night for "a triumphal entry into Singapore." The British ships will make "preliminary contact with the Japanese" while en route tomorrow, the report added.]

Truk Agrees to Surrender

GUAM, Aug. 27 (AP)—Negotiations are underway for capitulation of half a dozen by-passed Japanese island fortresses, including Truk, the navy announced today.

Naval headquarters reported that Japanese commanders have agreed to surrender their garrisons at Rota in the Marianas Islands, Jaluit in the Marshalls; Yap, Truk, and Palau in the Carolines, as soon as they receive instructions from Tokyo. Surrender overtures likewise have been made to the Japanese on Ponape and Kusaie in the Carolines, Wake, and Nauru. The white flag has not appeared on those islands as yet.

The biggest prize is Truk, where navy patrol bombers reported Aug. 26 that white crosses, previously specified in the surrender message, had appeared on the runways of the island.

Gen. de Gaulle Arrives in Chicago

Gen. Charles de Gaulle waving to crowd at Chicago airport last night from limousine with Mayor Kelly, who gave him official welcome to city.

GEN. DE GAULLE SAYS FRANCE RELIES ON U. S.

Nation Needs Help in Post-War Days

Following is the partial text of Gen. de Gaulle's address last night at the dinner held in his honor:

"I know your city is frank, daring, and above all, hard working. I know that in Chicago people are faithful to their friends. That is why the president of the French republic finds a very cordial and moving atmosphere.

"But I know also that in Chicago people care more for acts than for words and that is why I want to speak to you of France. I prefer not to recall statements of principle and to mention a few realities.

Points to Realities of Today

"Surely we could not forget Cavalier de la Salle or Marquette, Washington or Lafayette, the American and French bills of rights, and the victory of 1918 with Foch and Pershing and that of the four freedoms of 1945, but while paying tribute to our great common past, let us, if you will, look at the present as it is today.

"Where is France today? France is a country coming out of a war with more than 500,000 dead killed on battlefields or by execution squads in the camps of the enemy or in bombing raids. Our destructions total 100 billion dollars.

"One Frenchman out of every seven is homeless. When the greatest part of our soil was liberated we made an inventory. It is not encouraging. Nearly all our harbors were destroyed; 4,000 bridges were demolished; our railroads and waterways were rendered useless from one end of France to the other.

War's Disaster Revealed

"Two thousand locomotives were running, instead of 18,000. The output of our mines was only a trickle. Our electric plants were damaged, our factories paralyzed. There were no stocks anywhere. Our telegraph and telephone lines were out of order, but we immediately set to work.

"Today thru our ports we can import 1,500,000 tons a month; 2,500 bridges have been repaired, at least provisionally. Seven thousand locomotives are in service. We extract nearly three-fourths of the coal extracted in 1938. We have nearly reached the half way mark of our pre-war production.

Grateful for U. S. Help

"I must say that imports of raw materials and food from the United States, for which we are profoundly grateful, have contributed to this improvement. The program of imports for the end of the year established by you and by us is bound to accelerate this improvement. All the same, we will spend a hard winter. We know it and we do not hide it, but it will be less hard than last winter, which was very bad.

"The French nation wants to attain a degree of activity enabling her to play a role much more important than before in the economy and exchanges of the world.

"The world will find no equilibrium, no happiness, and no peace if we let the level of general prosperity drop or even if we keep it at a standstill.

Wants German Equipment

"I want to be frank with you right to the end. Frenchmen are relying on you Americans. It is not that we are asking for gifts from one state to another; but it is true we are asking for your help. We are asking it first of all to settle in a fair way the distribution to western Europe of certain means of production that the Germans have used thruout history for war and that we think it preferable to use from now on for peace.

"We are asking your aid in the form of supplies of certain raw materials, certain agricultural and industrial machinery so that we can produce and therefore exchange in the shortest time and on a scale as large as possible.

"I shall keep from my visit to your victorious country the most unshakable faith in the future. Let me say that the welcome of Chicago has greatly contributed to that faith. Viva Chicago! Viva America! Viva France!"

KILL NAZIISM IN AMERICAN ZONE, IKE COMMANDS

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 27 (AP)—Top ranking United States military and civilian officials charged with carrying out the duties of occupying Germany received orders today to implement firmly the Potsdam declaration and denazify completely the American zone.

The orders came from Gen. Eisenhower and Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, his chief deputy on the allied control council for Germany, at the first session of a three day conference.

The Potsdam declaration provides for payment of reparations by removal of industries which might be built up into another war machine, for allied control of Germany until the German people are judged ready to rule themselves peacefully, and for general denazification of Germany.

Protest Secret Meeting

The initial conference session took place all day behind closed doors, but after a formal protest it was agreed that the correspondents could sit in on all subsequent meetings.

"Everybody must understand what we are doing in Germany," Eisenhower declared. "The army's No. 1 job was to defeat Germany, but now its one purpose in life is to support the military goverament.

"The army in general is committed to the support of our [Washington] policy, and all military formations must coöperate with the military government in carrying it out."

He issued a directive forbidding divisional and regimental commanders from issuing orders to burgomasters and stressed that orders to the local burgomasters would be made by the heads of the military government detachments concerned.

Foresees Greater Trouble

Clay told the conference that he foresaw serious trouble when the reparations program provided for in the Potsdam declaration "becomes effective." He predicted "Difficulties will increase when the Germans see their capital assets being removed."

Clay emphasized that the policy of keeping some Nazis in key jobs because of their experience would not be tolerated.

He added that "to accomplish our objectives it is inevitable that the German standard of living be reduced. However, we are not going to destroy the German people—we must leave them sufficient economy to have hopes for the future.

"Our short range problem is simple—to reëstablish local German self-government. This must be augmented by throwing increasing authority to the Germans and by insuring a free press, radio, trade unions, and political activity."

3d Cabinet in 11 Months Takes Over Rule of Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria, Aug. 27 (AP)—Premier Faris El Khoury announced today the formation of his third cabinet in 11 months, with the members drawn entirely from the strongest bloc in the Syrian chamber of deputies. Former Premiers Khaled Agem and Lutfi Haffar and Mkhael Lyan, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of parliament, took the places of Mardam Bey, foreign affairs and public defense minister, finance minister Antaki, and Justice Minister Ghazzi.

DANGERS IN WAR TRIAL PROGRAM CITED BY GAULT

Law Expert Condemns Allies' Measure

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Dangerous precedents will be established by the program of trials for the German war criminals in Nuernberg, Germany, next month, P. F. Gault, constitutional and international law expert, said in an interview yesterday.

The trials are scheduled to begin Sept. 1. Sitting in judgment will be an international military tribunal established in London Aug. 8, after extensive conferences, by the United States, England, Russia, and France.

Representing the United States will be Robert H. Jackson, associate justice of the United States Supreme court. Jackson also was American signee of the charter by which the tribunal was created.

Trial Establishes Precedent

"If this program is followed," Gault said, "it will establish a precedent under which citizens of the United States from the President and members of congress down, whether soldiers or civilians, may in future be placed on trial, imprisoned, or executed by judgment of a kangaroo court on which the United States would not be represented.

"It is evident that the agreement under which these trials are scheduled presents a grave question of national policy that, under our form of government, can be determined only thru the established Constitutional process of obtaining the advice and consent of the senate."

Agrees with Bar Association

Gault said his opinions were expressed "entirely without consideration for the alleged war criminals, but with thought only for the questions of democratic freedom and legality involved." He added that a "select committee on the trial of war criminals of the American Bar association" twice has expressed similar views.

The bar committee, Gault said, was composed of these distinguished lawyers: George A. Finch, Washington, D. C., chairman; Edwin De Witt Dickinson, Berkeley, Cal.; Sheldon Glueck, Cambridge, Mass.; Charles Cheney Hyde, Columbia university, New York; Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Newark, N. J., and Charles H. Watson, Chicago.

Gault listed a number of violations of the American legal system in the constitution for the trials as follows: Trials may be held outside the presence of the accused; there is no appeal from the tribunal's judgment; the tribunal may admit any evidence it wishes to admit; it may decide whether testimony or evidence is relevant before it allows it, no matter what a defendant claims about it.

Red Point Diet

A meat eating owl which appeared on the fire escape at an apartment building at 713 Rush st. is being offered to the nearest taker by its captor, Mrs. Cora T. Black, owner of the building since 1927.

Mrs. Black discovered the bird when neighbors told her an eagle was sitting outside her apartment door.

"Having been raised on a 550 acre farm, I saw the thing was a screech owl and took it in so the cats wouldn't get it," she said.

Now, however, she would greet a new owner, or zoo keeper, enthusiastically. The owl, she says, eats a half pound of liver a day, at a cost of one red point for pork liver, four points for beef, and six points for calf liver.

Riverside to Vote Today on $50,000 Play Center

Riverside voters will go to the polls today to decide whether to approve a $50,000 bond issue to convert the 28 acre estate of Henry Babson at 230 N. Longcommon rd. into a recreation center. The grounds and property have been given to the suburb in memory of Babson's late son, William, 14.

FRENCH ENVOY'S WIFE HOPES FOR LONG VISIT HERE

Mme. Henri Bonnet, wife of the French ambassador to the United States, said last night as she arrived with the Gen. DeGaulle party that she hoped soon to return to Chicago for a longer visit in the city that was her husband's home from 1941 to the summer of 1943. While he was here with the World Citizens association, she was in New York running a hat shop.

"I started making hats in my room," she said, "and soon I had a shop." The chapeau she was wearing drew admiration at the dinner in the Blackstone hotel. It was three big flowers fashioned of mauve-pink tulle. From her own shop? No, she said. It was from Paris.

Mme. Bonnet arrived on the DeGaulle plane. In the plane preceding it and carrying the assistants to the ministers, another woman rode. She was Mlle. Suzanne Borel, assistant to the French foreign minister, Georges Bidault.

While waiting for the DeGaulle plane to arrive, she was greeted by Capt. Nicolle Smagghe and Cadet Sabine Wormser, two women of the French Forces of the Interior who have been speaking in this country.

GIs TAKE OVER GERMAN MONEY PRINTING PLANT

BERLIN, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Americans acquired control today of the German bureau of printing and engraving and its vaults, which contain hundreds of millions of marks of negotiable, tho largely unfinished German currency. The money was in various stages of manufacture.

The Russians had guarded the bureau pending a final boundary settlement. The kommandantur decided the bureau was in the American zone. The Russians had contended it was in their zone in Kreuzberg borough under a borough change the Germans made in 1933.

Maj. Grove Ginder, Gary, Ind., finance officer of the American troops in the Berlin district, started an invoice.

OPA PLANS '42 PRICE CEILING FOR NEW CARS

Expects Program to Help Absorb Output Cost

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—The prices of new automobiles will be approximately the same as in 1942, the OPA announced tonight.

Price Administrator Bowles, announcing the long awaited "pricing principle" for new cars soon to roll from assembly lines, said a price increase was most unlikely.

Each auto manufacturer will figure his own ceiling, using a pricing formula laid down by the OPA. Some makes may cost more than in 1942, when final reports are in, but the OPA saw no general increase in prospect and emphasized that prices on individual cars have not been settled.

Dealers' Costs Met

It is "a fair assumption," Bowles said in a statement, that the public is unlikely to pay more for 1945 models than the present price on 1942 models—less the amount tacked on to reimburse dealers for storing 1942 cars thruout rationing.

That would restore prices to about those of 1942 because it knocks off a 27 per cent increase since 1942. The increase met the dealers' cots of storing, cleaning, and maintaining the vehicles.

Bowles said the formula for pricing the new cars was handed to manufacturers last week in Detroit. When the companies come back with their proposed prices they must obtain OPA approval to put them into effect.

Under the OPA's reconversion pricing formula ceiling price adjustments are based on costs in the last period of normal production, to which are added increases in basic pay schedules and in costs of material, plus a normal peace time margin of profit.

Based on 1941 Models

The pricing rule for automobiles is based on 1941 models. The profit factor will be either the manufacturer's own 1936-'39 margin or half the industry average of that period, whichever is higher.

"If the price computed according to this formula is higher than the manufacturer's 1942 model price," Bowles explained, "this will become his new ceiling price. If it is below his 1942 price that 1942 price will stand."

Bowles recalled that the automobile industry increased the price of its 1942 models from 10 to 19 per cent over the prices of 1941 models. Since the adjustments for cost increases now authorized are to be applied to the 1941 model base, Bowles said the 1942 price increases "will serve to cushion the effect of the cost adjustments."

WALLER OBJECTS AS CITY ORDERS GARBAGE CANS

The city council finance committee voted yesterday to award to the Reeves Steel and Manufacturing company a contract for 30,000 garbage cans to be distributed free in the area between Pershing rd [39th st.] and Division st., from Halsted st. east to the lake. The cans will cost $3.78 each and will be used in an effort to keep alleys clean.

Ald. Waller [43d] caused an outburst of bickering among the 25 committee members when he objected that the distribution of the cans would offer an opportunity for political favoritism. He said it would be unfair to spend city funds for the benefit of one section of the city and suggested that the committee give consideration to drafting an ordinance requiring property owners to purchase their own refuse containers.

On Ald. Kells' [28th] motion the committee voted to buy the cans, Waller protested that "you're shutting me off." Still demanding to be heard after the meeting, Waller followed Ald. Bowler [25th], committee chairman, to his office. Bowler shut the door on Waller.

WIFE OF BRIDGES RECITES OTHER WOMEN'S NOTES

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 [Special]—Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader, was pictured by his wife in their stormy divorce trial today as a gay philanderer who often left notes from other women in his clothes.

Mrs. Bridges read into the record indirect quotations from notes she said she found when going thru her husband's pockets preparatory to sending his suits to cleaners. They were signed, she said, by "Ruth," "Hazel," "Ann," and "G."

She denied charges made last week by her husband and her daughter, Jacqueline, that she frequently was drunk, had disorderly visitors in her home, and took her daughter to bars. She accused Bridges of once pushing her out of a window of their home. Her marriage to Bridges in 1923 was a "common law" arrangement, she said. They were legally married in 1934, and separated four years later.

REMOVE LAST BAR TO RETURN OF NYLON HOSE

WPB Lifts Controls on Many Items

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 [Special]—Nylon stockings will be back before Christmas, chicken in abundance will be available "very soon" for America's dinner table, and manufacturers again can use leather for riding boots, house slippers, and "wedgies."

These were highlights from the reconversion front today as government agencies announced the lifting of additional war time controls on industry, food, and transportation.

Reporting optimistically on the progress of the manufacture of civilian goods, the government foresaw knives and scissors pouring into hardware stores "very shortly," vacuum cleaners fairly plentiful by Jan. 1, and refrigerators, percolators, mixers, and electric ranges available this fall and plentiful in 1946.

Revoke Nylon Order

The war production board removed the last bar to the return of the nylon stocking to hosiery counters by revoking a regulation which, since the early days of the war, had banned use of nylon or silk in the manufacture of stockings.

This action had been forecast last week by the WPB when it lifted its war time prohibition against manufacture of nylon for civilian use. It was indicated that nylon hose and other products would be selling at retail "perhaps by Thanksgiving" and certainly by Christmas. In another step to ease the hosiery situation, the WPB removed its controls over rayon yarns, effective at the end of September.

The department of agriculture paved the way for the return of chicken in volume to the civilian market by wiping out, effective at noon today, most chicken procurement controls.

Ends Army Set Aside

This action, which will force the army to buy in the open market to meet its chicken needs, terminates the set aside order which went into effect last December in a group of eastern seaboard and southwestern states, as well as an order of Aug. 13 giving the army priority in several other states, including Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Iowa, in procuring 125 million pounds of poultry, largely for canning.

The set aside order, effective in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Missouri, was originally 100 per cent and was cut to 70 per cent two months ago. The priority order for midwestern states had resulted in army acquisition of about 5 million pounds of poltry, it was said. Stocks of canned chicken now in possession of the military are estimated to be adequate for remaining needs.

A turkey set aside program remains operative in 23 midwestern states, but the department announced the nation has produced another record turkey crop—44,150,000 birds. This is 22 per cent above last year's record crop, and 44 per cent above the average for the years 1937 to 1941.

Revoke Tea Controls

Packaging and distribution controls on tea also were revoked by the agriculture department, along with orders on the distribution and sale of fresh and processed citrus fruits and restrictions on the civilian sale of dried milk products and milk sugar.

The WPB announced in lifting most of its restrictions on the manufacture of leather products for civilian use that drastic military cutbacks in leather and shoes had made the action possible. All that now remains of the basic shoe and leather conservation order are provisions restricting production to a base period quota by price ranges, the WPB said.

The petroleum administration for war announced the rescision of several controls over the oil industry, including the ban on shipments of petroleum to the east coast by rail and intercoastal waterways and restrictions on the movement to the east of asphalt and residual fuel oil. Controls on oil well spacing and restrictions on construction in the production, refining, transportation and natural gasoline branches of the petroleum industry will be elliminated after Sept. 1, it was said.

The office of defense transportation revoked 218 special orders governing taxicab operations in various cities.

34 RATION BOARDS MERGED INTO OTHERS BY OPA DIRECTION

Thirty-four war price and rationing boards in Chicago suburbs were ordered closed by Sept. 30 and merged with other boards in an order issued yesterday by James F. Riley, area director of the office of price administration.

As a result, 34 paid clerks will lose their jobs. Volunteer workers are asked to accept appointments on the consolidated boards. The cut leaves 133 boards in the Chicago area. These are the boards affected:

Flossmoor, Thornton, Matteson, Glenwood, South Chicago Heights, and Steger to merge with Chicago Heights; Hazelcrest, Dolton, South Holland, Riverdale, Phoenix, and Dixmoor to merge with Harvey; Alsip and Calumet Park to merge with Blue Island; Worth and Chicago Ridge to merge with Oak Lawn.

Lake Bluff to merge with Lake Forest; Kenilworth to merge with Wilmette; Niles, Lincolnwood, and Morton Grove to merge with Skokie; Northfield and Northbrook to merge with Glenview; Wheeling and Prospect Heights to merge with Arlington Heights; Itasca and Addison to merge with Bensenville.

Schiller Park to merge with Franklin Park; River Grove to merge with Elmwood park; Stone Park and Berkeley to merge with Melrose Park, and Hillside, Westchester, and North Riverside to merge with Riverside.

Other OPA contractions are expected.

JUDGES INSPECT QUISLING'S TWO PALATIAL HOMES

OSLO, Aug. 27 [Reuters]—The "Eagle's Nest," a Berchtesgaden style hideout in the hills outside Oslo, belonging to Vidkun Quisling, premier of Norway during the German occupation, was visited today by the judges before whom Quisling is being tried for treason.

Courtroom proceedings were suspended for the day while the judges drove to the miniature fortress that Quisling had ordered built, but which had not been completed when his world collapsed around him.

In court, Quisling had described it as "just a little villa with a few rooms on a patch of ground."

What the judges found was a 20 room fortress, with concrete defenses. Machine gun emplacements, a radio transmitter and enough food for six months.

$5,000,000 Palace

Before they visited this 'little Berchtesgaden," the judges toured $5,000,000 Gimle palace, Quisling's palatial summer residence, to investigate his claim in court that he had lived in "austere simplicity" while he was prime minister.

The space where the dungeons would be in a normal castle was found to contain a super modern air raid shelter, with a gas filtering plant, separate electricity units and comfortable sleeping accomodations.

Quisling's picture collection included one Rembrandt, two Rubens, and a number of Italian old masters, including Giorgioni Tiepolo.

The castle now belongs to the Norwegian state, and has become a problem because nobody in Norway wants to live in this Quisling setting. At present, it is occupied by Gen. Andrew Thorne, commander of the allied land forces in Norway, and his British and American staff.

Dart Board in Boudoir

In what used to be Mrs. Quisling's boudoir, an American colonel has installed a dart board, packages of peanuts and family photographs, which provide a strangely human note amidst the museum like surroundings.

The palace, in which Quisling spent five years as Norway's puppet prime minister, is a strange mixture of an 18th century German prince's castle, and an American millionaires home.

Side by side with Louis XV, apartments, rich with marble, silver, and old masters, are spacious, glistening tiled bathrooms equipped with sun lamps and rowing and other slimming equipment.

In the grounds, what appeared to be a typical Norwegian farmer's hut, covered with Norse wood carving, turned out to be a modern turkish bath, where Quisling recovered from his drinking bouts.

Has His Head Examined

Quisling did not accompany the judges on today's tour. Yesterday he was taken to hospital for an X-ray check following reports that he might be suffering from brain trouble.

[An Associated Press dispatch said Judge Erik Solem announced the examination had showed that Quisling was sane.]

The Quisling trial will not be resumed before Wednesday, in consequence of the medical examination.

The prosecution today was reported to be planning to show a news film portraying events in which Quisling took part during the German occupation.

Hero's Award

For heroism shown in exposing himself to shrapnel and tumbling debris to rescue a number of soldiers injured by an ammunition explosion, Col. Julius Klein, of 3172 Sheridan rd., has been awarded the soldier's medal, according to an army release yesterday from Manila. The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. Ewart G. Plank, commanding general of the Philippine base section of the army forces in the western Pacific. The explosions occurred on a dock at New Caledonia, and claimed the lives of 36 men. Col. Klein is a Chicago newspaper man on military leave.

MAYOR TO LEAD CAMPAIGN FOR ALLIES' CAPITAL

Mayor Kelly was named a committee of one yesterday to carry to Washington, D. C., Chicago's plea for establishment of headquarters of the allied nations' organization here. The action was taken at the first meeting of the committee of more than 100 appointed by the mayor last week to advocate this proposal. The committee met in the city council chambers.

"There is no question that the united nations' organization headquarters belongs in the United States," Rep. Edward A. Kelly told the group. "Chicago is the only town that can accommodate the people who would come here if the headquarters are established." He cited the crowding in San Francisco during the charter conference.

Sveinbjorn Johnson, attorney for the metropolitan transit authority, pointed out that outbreak of war in Europe might paralyze any headquarters established there.

At the suggestion of Fred Rathje of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, the committee authorized Mayor Kelly to designate a smaller committee for the active campaign.

ARMY AWAITS WORD TO MOVE OUT OF WARDS

An army spokesman said yesterday that no word had been received from the secretary of war for the army to move out of Montgomery Ward & Co. plants in Chicago and six other cities, altho President Truman Saturday directed that the facilities were to be released from government control.

Army officials said they were waiting for official word, so they could begin the tremendous job of turning back the seized plants.

One hundred fifty army officers, enlisted personnel, and civilian employes of the government have been in control of the company units since Dec. 28, when the army took over the plants under an executive seizure order.

CENTRAL YMCA SCHOOLS

A New and Expanding Program

Ever since the Central YMCA Schools were organized in Chicago in 1889, their work has been a record of achievement recognized both by employers and by thousands of students who have taken their courses. Today, in the reconstruction period, the YMCA Schools are entering a new day, with an expanding program which includes much for the returning service man.

School of Commerce

This school offers unique educational opportunities to employed men and women, as well as unemployed. It was organized in 1902 to fill a distinct need. Throughout Chicago there are countless men and women who realize their handicap because they do not have comprehensive business training. Others, who are college graduates, feel the need of specialized training in certain branches. To all such people, the YMCA School of Commerce offers the opportunity they have been seeking. In fact, thousands of successful men and women have been aided over the years in their advancement by the training they received at Central. The schools are convenient—within walking distance of any part of the Loop.

(School of Commerce Opens September 28)

Accredited High School

At both day and evening classes in the Loop you can have all the cultural advantages of a high school which is fully accredited—in fact, the only fully accredited High School in the Loop. These schools meet the diversified needs of different students. The programs are complete, leading to a diploma in 2½ to 4 years. The tuition is low, and where desired, a partial payment plan can be worked out.

Evening Classes Begin September 5

(Day Classes Begin September 10)

Schools Approved for Veterans

Central YMCA Schools are among those which have been approved to provide an education for service men and women under the Service Men's Readjustment Act, commonly known as the G. I. Bill of Rights. The YMCA is also participating in the rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. A manual describing the services available to veterans at the YMCA Schools will be sent upon request.

Up-To-Date Secretarial Courses

Gregg Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping, Business Correspondence, English, and other subjects are available in the Secretarial School which is modernly equipped in every way. There is probably a bigger demand for well-trained secretaries today than there has been for many years and at good wages.

(These Classes Start September 11)

You are cordially invited either to visit the school headquarters or write or phone for literature.

The New ROOSEVELT COLLEGE...

offers equal opportunity to all

On September 24, Roosevelt College will open its doors as a four-year college of liberal arts, sciences, commerce and music.

This is news for high school graduates, veterans, employed men and women and others who seek college training in a convenient Loop location, in day or evening classes, and at moderate cost.

Housed in its own eleven-story fireproof building at Quincy and Wells Streets, Roosevelt offers the advantages of a modern metropolitan college—well equipped classrooms and laboratories—a library of 25,000 volumes—a faculty and staff of more than one hundred highly trained members.

CAB AIDS URGE CHICAGO-ORIENT AIR LINE ROUTE

Recommend Permit to Northwest Air

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Examiners of the civil aeronautics board recommended today that Northwest Airlines, Inc., be permitted to fly trans-Pacific routes to the orient in competition with Pan American Airways, Inc., only United States civilian carrier presently authorized for that area.

An examiners' report on the Pacific case, which must be approved both by the full board and the President before it goes into effect, recommends issuance o a certificate to Northwest authorizing service for seven years between the co-terminal points of New York and Chicago and the terminal point of Manila, via Edmonton, Canada; Anchorage, Alaska; Paramushiro, Kurile Islands; Tokyo, Japan; Shanghai, China, and Hong Kong.

Extensive New Services

The Pacific case involves the establishment of "extensive new and additional" air transportation services between the United States and the orient, between the United States and Australia, and between the United States and Alaska.

Pan American now holds a certificate authorizing it to fly between San Francisco and Hong Kong via Honolulu, Midway Island, Wake Island, Guam, Manila, and Macau. It also is authorized to fly from San Francisco to Los Angeles, Honolulu, Canton Island, Suva in the Fiji Islands, Noumea, New Caledonia, and the terminal point of Auckland, New Zealand.

If the recommendation for Northwest goes thru, it will be the first commercial air route across the north Pacific granted by the CAB.

Urge Route Extension

Examiners Ross I. Newmann and Lawrence J. Kosters also made the following recommendations:

1. That Pan American's certificate be amended so as to extend its central Pacific route [a] from Midway Island via Tokyo, Shanghai, Hong Kong, and Bangkok, Thailand, to Calcutta, India; [b] from Manila via Singapore to Batavia, Java. Such amendments would be limited to a period of seven years.

2. That Pan American be authorized to provide nonstop service between Honolulu and Wake Island.

3. That Pan American's certificate be amended to provide for service between Noumea and Sydney, Australia.

Ban on Local Traffic

4. That a certificate be issued to Alaska Airlines, Inc., authorizing service from Anchorage via Juneau and Ketchikan, Alaska, to Seattle, Wash., subject to the condition that the line will not carry local traffic between Juneau and Ketchikan.

5. That Pan American's three certificates authorizing service between Seattle and Fairbanks be consolidated into one certificate redesignating Juneau and White Horse as intermediate points and naming Seattle and Fairbanks as terminal points.

6. That Pan American's certificate be amended to include Anchorage as an intermediate point between Juneau and Fairbanks subject to the condition that local traffic between Anchorage and Fairbanks shall be carried only on flights originating or terminating at Seattle.

Extends Canadian Route

7. That Western Air Lines, Inc.'s. certificate be amended so as to extend its present route 52 from Lethbridge, Canada, via Calgary, Canada, to Edmonton.

The examiners also recommended that the remainder of the 15 applications involved in the case be denied.

In recommending the north Pacific route, the examiners said:

"The greatest advantage of a north Pacific route over the existing central Pacific route is the saving in mileage between the United States and principal centers of Asia, ranging from a few hundred miles between San Francisco and Shanghai and Hong Kong to more than 1,500 miles between New York or Chicago and Tokyo and Shanghai."

FRANCE OBJECTS TO SLAV SEIZURE OF COPPER MINES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

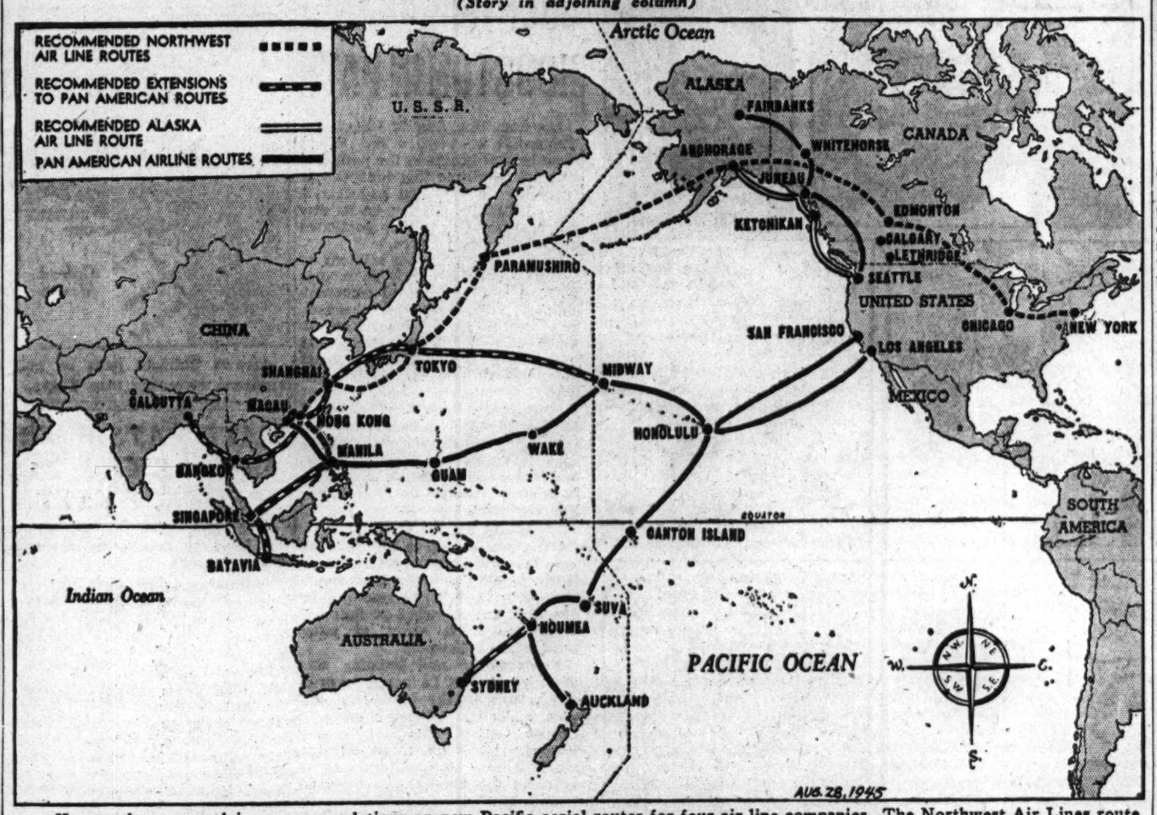

PARIS, Aug. 27.—The French government, according to reliable information, has ordered its new ambassador at Belgrade to protest to Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government against nationalization without recompense of the French owned Bor copper mines. These are the largest copper deposits in Europe and are estimated to be worth $42,000,000.

It is understood that the French government intends to take up this subject at the projected conference of the Big Five foreign ministers in London.

It is reported from other sources that the British government intends making similar representations concerning Yugoslav nationalization of the British controled Trepca lead and zinc mines.

Chicago to Manila Air Route Given Aeronautics Board Recommendation

Key on the map explains recommendations on new Pacific aerial routes for four air line companies. The Northwest Air Lines route from New York thru Chicago and on to Manila by way of Alaska would be the first north Pacific route recommended by the civil aeronautics board.

DOUGLAS PORT CALLED KEY TO AIR LEADERSHIP

BY FRANK STURDY

B. R. J. Hassell, commander of the army's largest arctic air base for trans-Atlantic flights for the last two years, urged yesterday that Chicago pick the Douglas airport as the site for a large modern terminal as the city's bid for a dominant position in international air transport.

A reserve officer at the start of the war, Hassell was ordered into the army air forces. Because of his long study of northern flying routes, he was assigned immediately to an air base in snow and ice locked Greenland. He served later in Iceland and Baffin Land, and until leaving the army recently, was in command of the Goose Bay airport in Labrador.

Army Created Routes

"Chicago should be the starting and stopping point of the great circle routes to Europe," Hassell said. "The bases for such routes were built by the army as avenues of war, and they should now become the stepping stones for peaceful transportation.

"What Chicago needs without unnecessary delay is a terminal airport of sufficient size and in the right location to meet all future needs. Within a short time, perhaps only a matter of months, the air lines will obtain four engined airplanes with which to start trans-Atlantic service. The present Chicago airport will suffice for these aircraft for a while, but as traffic volume increases and larger planes are flown, a bigger airport must be in readiness.

An Excellent Airport

"The army has the nucleus of a vast and excellent airport in the Douglas field at Park Ridge. It offers the primary requirements for a good, large, commercial air base. There are no dangerous obstructions to flight in any direction. This means take-offs and landings can be made with the greatest safety. It already has runways strong enough to take the heaviest airplanes planned now, and the runways can be lengthened within the borders of the present field.

"There was just one reason for building air bases and routes in the arctic—it offers the only land area on the great circle courses across the North Atlantic from the United States. For years, people have been looking at maps that make it appear the shortest way is to the east. Actually, the shortest course is to the north, but it does not appear that way except on a globe."

Vision Will Count

For the same reason, the route to Europe from Chicago is shorter to the north than to the east, Hassell pointed out.

"The same vision that brought railroads to Chicago, making it the greatest center of industry in the country, should now provide the city with the means of becoming the country's air center," he said.

"Other cities are faced with the same or tougher problems. Chicago cannot afford to lose in this race. There is no logic in taking passengers to Europe east from Chicago when the shortest way is to the north, and there will be no excuse for it if the city offers the air lines the terminal they require."

DOUGLAS PORT CHOICE BACKED BY INDUSTRIES

Development of Douglas airport near Park Ridge into a huge air terminal to serve Chicago was advocated yesterday by officials of several member companies of the Northwest Industrial Development council.

Acquisition of the airport by the city has been proposed because the field has concrete runways constructed to accommodate the heaviest transports, and a half-mile long factory that could be remodeled into the largest air freight terminal in the world.

Those expressing approval of the plan included J. W. Gooch, general manager of the Do All company of Des Plaines, and Walter D. Steele, president of the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing company.

"Every northwest community should benefit by the development, not only in matters of convenience, but in the business stimulus which naturally accompanies such activity," Steele said.

NAVY REOPENS FIRE IN MERGER ROW WITH ARMY

Still Resists Plan, Forrestal Hints

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 [Special]—That the navy will continue to oppose a merger of the war and navy departments but is willing to compromise by retaining certain war time consolidated features, including the joint chiefs of staff, was indicated today by Secretary Forrestal and Adm. King, commander in chief of the fleet and chief of naval operations.

The controversy between the army and navy over the merger of the two great arms was tacitly suspended by executive direction for the duration of the war. Now, however, it is threatening to flare into the open again, with the navy still set to resist the move.

At his news conference today Forrestal said the navy had reached a decision on what should be the "minimum" program of permanent relations between the navy and the army.

Plans for Joint Staffs

First, he said that the joint chiefs of staff, composed of Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, Adm. King, Gen. Arnold, commanding general of army air forces, and Adm. Leahy, who presides over the joint chiefs as personal chief of staff to the President, should be retained as a permanent post-war board.

Forrestal said the joint chiefs functioned as a high command for the army, navy, and air arms and planned and directed the grand strategy of the war. Results of the war proved its efficiency, he asserted.

The joint chiefs also achieved the aim of "creation of unity of command" of the services, Forrestal said.

The "minimum program," he continued—avoiding any mention of a merger under a single head—also should embrace the retention of other army-navy coöperative functions.

The joint aircraft board is one. The army-navy petroleum board is another. There also are numerous procurement boards, such as the ones for common purchase of munitions and textiles.

"Pattern Should Be Kept"

"In addition," Forrestal proposed that "as part of of the whole pattern of national defense, certain civilian war time agencies, such as the war production board, war man power commission, and certain others should be continued in form if not in substance."

He explained he did not contemplate the present organizational structures of the WPB, the WMC, and the other unspecified agencies should be retained, but that the "pattern" be kept and brought up to date from time to time so that in the event of another emergency there would be the nucleus of civilian agencies to aid national defense.

Adm. King added that Forrestal had expressed the navy's views on the post-war proposition "in as definite a form as we are ready to put it."

KILLS SELF AFTER FATALLY WOUNDING WOMAN IN TAVERN

After shooting and fatally wounding Edwina Stafford, 41, of 1948 Sedgwick st., as she sat in the Nook tavern, 338 Armitage av., yesterday, Marcus Kelly, 41, of 1921 Sedgwick st., was found shot to death with the same revolver in an alley in the rear of 2118 N. Clark st.

Marcus Kelly

Edwina Stafford

Four witnesses to the shooting told Capt. Patrick O'Connell of the Hudson avenue police that Kelly, owner of the tavern, shot the woman without provocation or warning. They said that Kelly and the woman had been keeping company for several months.

Police notified Kelly's wife, Helen, in her home at 1035 Grace st. She said that she and her husband had been separated for several months.

An inquest into both deaths will be held today in Hollerbach's undertaking rooms at 525 Armitage av.

POLISH SAILORS, BRITISH TROOPS FIGHT OVER GIRL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Aug. 27—Military and civil police at Okehampton, Devon, have been reënforced and marines have been sent into the town to help maintain order, it was reported tonight, following street battles between Polish sailors and British air borne troops over the week-end. Five British soldiers and a number of Poles were said to have been injured.

It all started at a dance Friday when a row over a girl between a Pole and a Britisher developed into a free for all. Three girls and a policeman had to be given first aid.

The following night the fight was resumed in the streets with sticks, bricks, and other weapons. British officers had to order the men to return to camp. Both the Poles and air borne troops were confined to their camps tonight.

ALD. CULLERTON, MELLINGER ON AIRPORT BOARD

Mayor Kelly disclosed last night he has added two members to the original 18 man airport selection committee, named last week to pick the site for a new Chicago airport. The additions are Aubre. H. Mellinger, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, and Ald. P. J. Cullerton [38th]. The mayor said he probably will call the first meeting of the committee for Sept. 5. It was indicated that Merrill C. Meigs, chairman of the Chicago Aero commission and a federal consultant on aviation, will be made chairman.

PIGEON 'BOMBS' DROPPED TO NAZI SLAVE LABORERS

Birds Returned with Military Data

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

HERRINGTON, England, Aug. 27 (AP)—One night in mid-April a jet black Liberator bomber cut the night sky over Germany, winging toward a pinpoint objective on the navigator's map.

The target of the big ship piloted by Lt. Bruce Edgerton of Washington, D. C., was not an industrial plant or a military installation. It was a camp for slave labor. The "bombs" which soon were to go plummeting down from 24,000 feet were among the top secrets of the war.

A Military Secret

I flew with Edgerton and his crew that night over Leipzig and Dresden, but only now am I allowed to tell the full story. For Edgerton's Liberator, "Midnight Mistress," was one of the first ships to carry parachute "bombs" loaded with live pigeons.

The live cargo went overside by hand in a dozen cardboard cylinders. Like paratroopers, the pigeons' parachutes snapped open on miniature static lines.

Asked Data on Nazis

Each pigeon carried a small container on one leg with printed instructions in several languages and requests for information on Nazi installations, troop strength, and deployment which were to be fastened to the birds for relay to approaching spearheads of Gen. Hodges and Gen. Patton.

The pigeon parachute bombs were dumped on Germany by the night flying 406th squadron of the 8th air force which in the last 20 months of the war dropped millions of leaflets and patriot newspapers in Europe.

Altho the percentage of returning pigeons never has been disclosed officially, I learned later that a number of birds returned to their cages in England with valuable information. Others may have been lost and still others may have gone into some one's cooking pot.

THEFT LAID TO EX-HOTEL CLERK

Police yesterday seized Harold Barrett, 59, of 4933 Lake Park av., on a warrant charging him with the theft of $105 from the East View hotel, 4945 Lake Park av., where he had been employed as a desk clerk for three weeks prior to Aug. 20.

Hails Bulgars' Decision to Postpone Elections

SOFIA, Aug. 27 [Reuters]—Maynard Barnes, United States representative in Sofia, in a note published today congratulated the Bulgarian government on its decision to postpone the Bulgarian elections. He said that this will give the Bulgarian nation complete freedom in choosing a representative government.

BROOKS ADVISES STATE LEGION TO WORK FOR PEACE

Asserts Allies Now Have 'a Frail' Charter

BY THOMAS MORROW

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] yesterday told the state American Legion convention in Hotel Sherman that the veterans' organization must work to avoid "the next world war" which he said is "too terrible to contemplate."

After the senator's address, Omar J. McMakin of Salem, Marion county, received the unanimous convention vote for state commander. William P. Kleuskens of Chicago was the unanimous choice for senior vice commander, and James B. Ringley of Chicago was named national committeeman.

In his address, Sen. Brooks pointed out that the United States sent more men and expended more millions than any other country in laying the basis for peace. Knowing that each war begins where the last left off, Brooks told the veterans, they must join with World War II. veterans in developing a fellowship to assure continued peace.

"That was what was contemplated when delegates came from all over the world to the Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco conferences," Brooks continued, "and adopted finally the document known as the united nations charter, which was quickly ratified by the senate of the United States.

Charter Called Frail

"For the first time, we have joined hands with the nations of the world in planning for peace and preventing the next war. That charter is a frail one. It is only the beginning. Some day it may grow to be the structure that may actually house permanent peace. But today it is just a start.

"With all the destruction moving in the world, you know how hard we must work to keep America strong. If there is to be liberty, if there is to be stability, if there is to be a representative government in the world, it must spring from America. We have it if we can keep it.

"No one can predict the future, but we can predict this—that we are all willing to die for our country, to pledge allegiance to our Constitution, to our God, and our nation as we look forward to meet any responsibility."

Division Commanders Named

Division commanders elected at the convention are: 1st division, William P. Burns, Chicago; 2d, Louis J. Daigle, Rockford; 3d, Stan Merrion, Monmouth, Warren county, 4th, Lynn H. Cannon, Decatur, and 5th, Jean Benson, Vienna, Johnson county. Leonard Esper of Springfield was chosen alternate national committeeman.

Lawrence J. Fenlon, chairman of the national Legion employment committee, put the state organization behind the interpretation of the selective service act which assures the veteran his pre-war job for one year even tho he displace another employe—of no matter what seniority—in that job. The 1st district advocated a measure to revise the Legion stand.

Draft Plan Backed

When the state convention learned that President Truman had advocated a two year draft of men 18 thru 25, the meeting immediately passed a resolution indorsing the idea.

John Stelle, former Illinois governor, who was indorsed for national Legion commander, advocated appropriation of funds for a membership drive among World War II. veterans. The meeting recommended to the finance committee an expenditure of $50,000 for this work.

The convention also recommended that atomic bomb secrets be retained exclusively by the United States, Great Britain, and Canada. Another measure advocated that the Legion refuse to allow use of political literature exploiting legionnaires at conventions.

Third 90° Temperature of Month Expected Today

For the third time this month the thermometer is expected to reach 90 degrees today, Forecaster H. L. Jacobson said yesterday, but cooling breezes from the northwest will keep it from soaring much above that figure.

Yesterday's high was 88.2 at 5 p. m. The only 90 degree temperatures recorded this month were Aug. 1, with an even 90, and Aug. 20, with 91.

Yes, the newly improved formula for Allen's Foot-Ease spells death to Athlete's Foot germs. Kills on contact—laboratory tests prove this statement beyond question of a doubt. Good News? Sure—but that's only the half of it. The improved Allen's Foot-Ease has an effective deodorant action—helps keep perspiring feet dry, and free from offensive odor. So why fool with less effective foot powders—just sprinkle Allen's Foot-Ease on your feet, between your toes and into your shoes. Don't suffer longer the itching torment of Athlete's Foot. Fine too, for tired, burning feet. Guaranteed to satisfy or money refunded. Only 25¢ at all druggists.

GREENVIEW AID NAMED HEAD OF LEGION WOMEN

Mrs. Earle Eldridge of Greenview, Menard county, was elected president of the American Legion auxiliary of Illinois at closing sessions of the Legion's token convention here yesterday. It also was announced that the 25 districts of the Legion auxiliary in the state have credited $57,896 to the sale of craft articles made by veterans of World War I. and II., during the year 1944-'45.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Robert M. Stack, Chicago, first vice president; Mrs. Anita Seymour, Virden, Macoupin county, second vice president; Mrs. Walter J. Huffman, Park Ridge, historian; Mrs. Florence Kellogg, Chicago, treasurer, and Mrs. Gene Brown, Sparta, Randolph county, chaplain.

The Homewood unit received the junior activities award for the greatest increase in membership during the year with a reported tripled membership over last year. The 5th district, composed of the western part of Cook county, received the auxiliary loan fund award for the largest contribution to student loan funds.

M'KAY SEEKS TRIAL DELAY, VENUE CHANGE

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 27 (AP)—Frank D. McKay, Grand Rapids politician, today petitioned the Ingham county Circuit court for a one year delay and a change of venue on his charge of conspiracy to corrupt the state liquor commission.

McKay asserted that Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler has so prejudiced the people of Michigan against him that he cannot obtain a fair trial in any county at this time. He also aseerted that Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr, who ordered McKay arrested on the charge, was held in such universal esteem in Ingham county that no jury there would give him his constitutional presumption of innocence.

McKay, a former Republican national committeeman, is scheduled to go on trial Sept. 5. Judge Carr set Friday for hearing on the petition.

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 27 (AP)—Authorities at St. Monica's hospital, where physicians are waging a battle for the lives of Louise and Macila Miranda, the Siamese twins born Saturday to Mrs. Rita Miranda, today held scant hope for survival of the infants, first Siamese twins reported in Arizona. The Rev. Emmett McLoughlin, superintendent at the hospital, said the twins are of almost identical size and that their combined weight is 8 pounds 9 ounces.

U. S. NEWSMEN GET PERMITS TO ENTER HUNGARY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes announced today that clearance had been granted for immediate entry of American newspaper correspondents into Hungary.

H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, United States representative in Budapest, notified the state department that several American correspondents who had filed applications had been cleared by Hungarian authorities for immediate entry. Schoenfeld also said blanket authority had been given for entry into Hungary of all accredited American war correspondents with allied troops.

The correspondents cleared for immediate entry represent the Associated Press, United Press, International News Service, the Christian Science Monitor, and a reporter representing both the newspaper PM and the Nation magazine.

REALTY TAXES DEADLINE SET FOR SATURDAY

Several thousand taxpayers appeared yesterday at the office of County Treasurer Victor L. Schlaeger to pay the second half of 1944 real estate taxes. Schlaeger warned that Saturday is the deadline for such payments and that thereafter a penalty of 1 per cent a month will be added to overdue bills. The treasurer's office reported that the last batch of corrected bills, embodying cuts in assessment by the board of tax appeals, will be mailed by tomorrow. Recipients of these bills have 10 days to pay and the Sept. 1 deadline does not apply to those who receive theirs late.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 27 (AP)—The first special train carrying United States troops home left today with about 300 officers and men. It is expected to move about 1,000 Americans during the next week. Many who left today had been posted at northern stations of the Alaska division, United States army air forces.

BLISTERED TOES WIN $20 WEEK SUPPORT FOR INDIAN WIFE

Mrs. Ethel Wolfe, 33, of 1106 Columbia av., a full blooded Mohawk Indian, was awarded temporary alimony of $20 a week yesterday from her husband, John R., 45, an engineer, following a hearing before Judge Charles E. Byrne in Superior court. She testified her husband stepped on her toes until she had blisters. Her Indian name is Yago Doga Rela, meaning "full of life," she said. The hearing was held in connection with her pending divorce suit.

REWARD POSTED FOR STOLEN DOG IN NEED OF CARE

George Bill, who operates a drug store at 3458 Irving Park rd., still is awaiting the return of his pet dog, Babe, which was picked up by an unidentified person at St. Louis av. and Irving Park rd. Saturday evening. The dog, a black cocker spaniel, is suffering from a throat ailment and is unable to eat solid food. Bill fears that the animal may die unless it receives the proper care, and has offered a reward for its return.

Robbery Theory Offered in Slaying of Foreman

An inquest into the death of Walter Adams, 42, of 1029 N. Winchester av., a foreman for the Stewart-Warner corporation, who was found fatally shot, his pockets turned inside out, in the rear of 1952 Warren av. early Sunday, was continued yesterday by Deputy Coroner Eugene Ingles until Sept. 14. Detective Charles McMenigal of the Warren av. station testified he believes robbery was the motive for the slaying, altho Adams' widow, Pauline, said her husband was carrying only a small amount of money.

THOUSANDS FLEE GULF HURRICANE; HOUSTON IN PATH

Houston, Tex., Aug. 27 [Special]—Thousands of persons fled inland from coastal homes in the path of a tropical hurricane that tonight was smashing its way thru Bay City, a town of 6,600 population, on its way north toward this heavily populated and rich industrial area.

Damage running into millions of dollars increased hourly as reports trickled in over crippled communications. Two deaths of fishermen, drowned Saturday, have been attributed so far to the storm that has been hugging the Texas coast along the Gulf of Mexico for four days.

In Bay City the air was reported filled with debris as a 100 mile an hour wind lashed the city. Buildings were unroofed, trees uprooted, and water was standing in streets as much as two feet deep. Only one highway remained open.

Winds Hit 135 M. P. H.

Wind ranging up to 135 miles an hour caused damage estimated at half a million dollars at Rockport, a town of 1,729. Heavy property damage also was reported at Palacios, population 2,288, about 90 miles southwest of Houston.

Every house and building was damaged at Port Lavaca, a town of about 2,000 in the Matagorda bay area, and about 100 miles north of Corpus Christi. The place was flooded. Motorists attempting to reach it said that within 8 to 10 miles of the town the low coastal plain appeared covered with water.

Seadrift, a community of 437 just below Port Lavaca, suffered from winds that reached a velocity of 135 miles an hour. Mountainous tides were reported nearly to have swamped the hamlet.

Some 20,000 persons were evacuated from Freeport, on the coast about 60 miles directly south of Houston. Tivoli, a village of 30 or 40 homes, was under water. There was heavy damage at Austwell where the wind hit 120 miles an hour.

Houstonians Seek Shelter

Some 1,200 persons took shelter in public buildings in Houston. A weather bureau advisory said the hurricane would move on this heavily populated area tomorrow morning. At midnight 55 mile an hour winds were buffeting the area. Rainfall was measured at more than seven inches.

Port Aransas, a fishing village on the exposed tip of Sandy Mustang Island, was flooded by a tide of 10 feet above normal that sent four feet of water into the town. Sea water also was flooding Aransas Pass, another fishing resort.

The storm, first reported in the gulf Friday, centered last night off Corpus Christi bay, and slapped Corpus Christi with 90 to 100 mile an hour winds. Damage there, however, was confined to power line disruption, broken windows, and smashed signs. The loss was estimated at approximately $100,000.

Brownsville and near-by Port Isabel, at the lower tip of the Texas coast, felt strong winds from the storm's fringes but suffered little damage.

CIO Fires 40 Employes as Revenue Falls Off

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27 (AP)—Reconversion has hit even the CIO. Spokesmen for the United Automobile Workers union disclosed today that 40 international representatives have been laid off, with five more due for notice soon. A decline in revenue, due to cutbacks in industry, was given as the reason.

MATE PAYS WIFE $5 WEEKLY TO PROTECT TEETH

Judge Charles E. Byrne in Superior court yesterday was asked to decide who started the arguments that wore out the false teeth of Frank Richards, 75, in continuous conversation. The court ordered Richards to pay his wife, Camella, 72.

Richards' attorney, Victor Frohlich, blamed his client's wife, who lives at 2546 Berteau av., with touching off the lingual marathons. Mrs. Richards and her attorney, Ralph Marrandino, blamed Richards when the wife sought temporary alimony. When Frohlich told Judge Byrne that they had been married 38 years, the court said, "It seems a shame to break up a union that has endured for that length of time."

Frohlich said his client couldn't afford to keep paying $150 for new sets of teeth that his wife's arguments wore out. Richards, practicing on his latest set, clicked confirmation.

Crash Victim Rescued by Police and Firemen

A fire department company and four police squads labored 15 minutes yesterday to remove George Childs, 19, of 10635 Green Bay av., from a truck which was overturned in a collision with an automobile at 73d st. and Paxton av. Childs, employed by a rug cleaning company, suffered knee injuries and possible fractures of several ribs. He was taken to Jackson Park hospital. Lawrence From, 50, of 7019 Paxton av., the automobile driver, was not injured.

SEX CRIMES STIR EVANSTON; SET $1,000 REWARD

Council Acts After Girl, 18, Is Stabbed

Evanston's city council last night made available to its police department $1,000 to be used as rewards in an effort to check what aldermen described as a wave of sex crimes in the suburb. They said the offer of additional sums by private citizens would be acceptable.

The council acted on the heels of a disclosure yesterday that an 18 year old girl was stabbed with an ice pick Sunday night by a Negro when her screams frustrated his attempt to rape her.

This crime followed the rape of an Evanston school teacher in her apartment by a Negro on Aug. 15, and the rape last week of a Negro woman whose assailant also stabbed her with an ice pick. Police believe he is the same man who committed Sunday night's crime.

Feeling in Suburb Is Tense

Remarks by councilmen reflected a tense feeling among Evanston citizens as a result of the situation. The council met as a committee of the whole in advance of the regular council meeting to discuss the situation.

"If such a thing happened to a member of my family, my first reaction would be to do something drastic," said Acting Mayor Robert E. James. "In the long run, I feel sure I would let the law take its course. The council has a definite responsibility to do everything possible to protect the citizens of Evanston. All publicity must be given, and pray God that we have no more."

The reward resolution was offered by Aldermen Neil Reynolds and Henry P. C. W. Barber of the 2d ward. Reynolds said he had received many calls from persons in his ward suggesting the organization of a committee to protect the neighborhood.

Cites Howard St. Taverns.

The resolution provides that the money shall be expended in such a manner as the police department and the corporation counsel shall decide.

Ald. Fred Thoma of the 8th ward said he felt that the way to check crimes was to remove their cause, which, he said he believed, is the operation of numerous taverns on Howard st., the dividing line between Evanston and Chicago. He offered a resolution, which was referred to the judiciary committee, asking that the Evanston city council urge the Chicago city council to reduce the number of taverns.

Girl in Serious Condition

The girl attacked Sunday night, who is in serious condition in Evanston hospital from a deep wound in her side, described her assailant as a Negro about 6 feet tall, very dark, about 25 years old, wearing a dark hat and suit.

He stepped out of some shadows on Grove st., between Ridge and Asbury ave., and seized her as she was on her way home after alighting from a bus ot Ridge av. and Grove st., she said.

She screamed and scuffled with the Negro, who attempted to stifle her cries by placing his hand over her mouth. Finally, she said, he plunged the ice pick into her side and fled.

Neighbors, alarmed by her screams, found the girl on the ground and notified police, who removed her to the hospital.

Sentence 2 in Delinquency Case

John Fontana, 19, of 1425 N. California av., was sentenced yesterday to six months in the Bridewell, and Conrad Feierbend, 17, of 1638 N. Fairfield av. to 30 days by Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of four girls, 12 to 17 years old, in Fontana's basement apartment. Fontana is married.

Judge William V. Daly in Felony court ordered Edward E. Allen, 21, of 210 S. Ashland blvd., an usher, held to the grand jury on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 9 year old girl whom he is alleged to have raped Aug. 19 in the theater at 1710 Madison st. Allen was placed on probation seven months ago for statutory rape.

Accused of Raping Niece

Judge Daly dismissed a charge of rape against Alphonzo Amabile, 28, of 3553 Polk st., a laborer, when the complainant, the 21 year old wife of a soldier, failed to identify him. She said she was attacked in an automobile Wednesday morning at Chicago and Washtenaw avs.

William Heimgaertner, 37, of 513 Poplar st., Waukegan, was arrested by Waukegan police yesterday on a charge of raping his niece, 22, the wife of a service man. The warrant alleges the attack occurred Saturday in his home.

COPS INTERRUPT SAFE THEFT AND MAKE AN ARREST

George W. Leenheer, 6945 May st., was arrested yesterday and a stolen 400 pound safe was recovered when police interrupted a burglary in the Chase Refrigeration Supply company, 546 W. 119th st. Detectives Edward Walsh and William Murphy of the Kensington station said they were driving past the company in a squad car when they saw two men trying to hoist the safe into an automobile owned by Leenheer. The second man escaped. The detectives fired six shots at the fugitive. Leenheer was shot and wounded two months ago by his wife, Frances, 26, who was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail July 11 for assault with a deadly weapon.

2 WOMEN NAME SUSPECT, 19, AS PURSE SNATCHER

Robert T. Setter, 19, of 4835 N. Ashland av., was being held by Town Hall police last night after his identification by two women as an alleged purse snatcher.

He was arrested earlier by Police Detectives Irwin Haviland and John Peterson as, they said, he was about to step into a stolen car in front of 4905 Janssen av. The car is owned by Dr. Reuben Seid, 5640 Winthrop av.

Police asserted the same car, as identified by license, was used by a man who stole the purses of Mrs. Ann Lucy, 610 Fullerton pkwy., and Miss Betty Weber, 3631 Broadway. Setter denied the car and purse thefts.

EVICTED WOMAN WHO HAD $4,589 FACES MIND TEST

Judge Harry P. Beam in Women's court yesterday ordered a psychiatric examination for Mrs. Becky Kushner, 65, who was found to have $4,589 concealed in clothing, furniture, and utensils when she was evicted last Thursday from her home at 3022 Roosevelt rd. for nonpayment of rent. Policeman John Klecker said Mrs. Kushner was arrested "for her own protection." Mrs. Kushner, who came from Russia 40 years ago, said she earned the money by doing housework and stopped paying her $15 a month rent because she could not get service from the landlord. Judge Beam continued the disorderly conduct charge to Sept. 5.

MRS. EVAHLYN STROMSEN

Clad only in a slip and raincoat, Mrs. Evahlyn Stromsen, 34, fled from her home at 1035 Park av., River Forest, and hid for two hours in the barbecue pit last July 18 when her husband, Harold, a woodwork manufacturer, threatened to beat her, she told Judge Robert J. Dunne in Circuit court yesterday.

She was seeking to have her husband held in contempt of court for violating an injunction issued last January restraining him from molesting her. The injunction was issued in connection with her suit for a partition of their $46,000 home and $20,000 worth of furniture. In hearings before a master, the couple had agreed not to speak if they met in the home.

Stromsen did not appear, but was represented by counsel. Judge Dunne continued the hearing to Thursday.

COURT FINES 4 ON CHARGES OF TICKET SCALPING

Four men accused of scalping tickets outside Wrigley field at the Cubs ball game Sunday were fined a total of $50 and costs by Municipal Judge George L. Quilici in Town Hall court yesterday.

Attello Incerpi, 57, of 15 E. Erie st., told the court he sold his tickets at the regular price after friends for whom he waited failed to appear. He was fined $5 and costs.

The other three, fined $15 and costs each, are Herman Lefkovicz, 36, of 214 S. Hamlin av.; Hyman Kroman, 39, of 4550 N. Racine av., and Abe Neider, 44, of 3608 Sunnyside av.

ALTON ENGINEER MAKES LAST RUN TODAY AT AGE 65

L. A. Delehanty, 6134 S. Campbell av., will celebrate his 65th birthday today by making his last run as a locomotive engineer for the Chicago and Alton railroad. Born on Aug. 28, 1880, in Fenton, Mich., Delehanty started to work for the railroad in 1900 and is the oldest engineer in seniority on the Chicago terminal. He said he will feel a few regrets when he waves good-by to fellow workers and the engine cab on which he spent so much of his time, but after 45 years of service a pension "looks good."

BOY, 15, DROWNS; BROTHER KILLED AT ANZIO BEACH

Vilas Johnson, 15, of 859 Fletcher st., was drowned yesterday at the entrance to Belmont harbor. His companion, Ray Osowitt, 15, of 905 Fletcher st., called Lincoln park police. The Johnson boy's body was recovered two hours later by Walter Granby, operator of a police boat. Police said that Johnson dived and never came up. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, whose eldest son, Warren, a navy seaman, was killed in action at Anzio beachhead in Italy. Six other children survive.

GI IS SENTENCED TO 3 YEARS FOR FATAL BEATING

Pvt. Delbert F. Hoyle, 23, of Bushnell, McDonough county, a ward attendant at Gardiner General hospital, was sentenced to three years at hard labor and ordered dishonorably discharged yesterday by a general court martial at Fort Sheridan. He was charged with the fatal beating July 22 of Daniel J. Hennessy, 65, of 5009 Lake Park av. Hoyle pleaded guilty to violation of the 93d article of war: involuntary manslaughter.

Hennessy was beaten at Hyde Park blvd. and East End av. after, the soldier testified, the civilian had made improper advances to him. Hennessy, a messenger, died two days later in County hospital.

Hoyle is married and father of an infant son. His sentence is subject to review by Maj. Gen. David McCoach Jr., commanding general of the 6th service command.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 28—Attack on Forts Hatteras, Clark

At dawn off North Carolina on Aug. 28, 1861, a fleet of three 50 gun frigates and six smaller vessels flying the flag of the northern federal states opened fire on the Confederate forts of Hatteras and Clark, defending the inlet into huge Pamlico sound.

Twenty-four hours later, after almost continuous bombardment, the forts were to raise the white flag, giving the north one of its major sea-land victories of the Civil war.

The importance of the victory, bringing to the north control of one of the south's most important refuges for blockade runners, cannot be overestimated.

The northern forces, under the command of Gen. B. F. Butler, selected a particularly opportune time for their attack. The two forts were still in the process of construction when the northern forces struck. Combined, the two forts mounted 15 guns, with five others ready for mounting. The defending force consisted of about 700 men, most of them inexperienced.

After the bombardment had barely started the commander of the Confederate forces apparently realized that the forts could not hold out. Some time during the night of the 28th he abandoned Fort Clark, but held a group in Fort Hatteras to return fire against the northern fleet. By morning of the 29th he surrendered and Gen. Butler's men captured the entire garrison, 20 cannon, and 1,000 arms.

The secret of the northern capture of the fort was so well kept that in the next few days several blockade runners ran into the inlet, thinking it still a Confederate shelter, and fell prey to northern guns.

MOTHER BARRED BY COURT FROM SEVEN CHILDREN

Mrs. Lillian Peterson, 34, clerk in a drug store and mother of seven children, yesterday was prohibited by Judge Charles E. Byrne in Superior court from visiting the children while a divorce suit, charging adultery, is pending against her. Judge Byrne refused to modify an injunction issued Aug. 16 by Judge Edwin A. Robson forbidding her to see the children, in the care of the Lutheran Child Welfare Home Association, Addison. Mrs. Peterson is being sued by her husband, Gilbert, 36, of 8111 South Chicago av., an iron worker.

Judge Zuris Commended for Drive on Unsafe Cars

A certificate of commendation was presented yesterday to Judge John T. Zuris in Speeders' court by Joseph Stech, representing the Greater Chicago safety council. The presentation was made, Stech said, in recognition of Judge Zuris' activity in a traffic safety drive to keep mechanically defective automobiles off the streets.

Sentence Girl Who Eased Her Mind on Fake Check

Miss Rosemary Tontillo, 22, of 1352 Larrabee st., who eased her conscience July 18 by telling police she had cashed a worthless check at a currency exchange, was sentenced by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court yesterday to 30 days in the Bridewell, to be followed by 11 months of probation. A charge of operating a confidence game was reduced to one of obtaining money under false pretenses.

GO ON... GUESS HOW MUCH WE MAKE ON A QUART O' MILK!

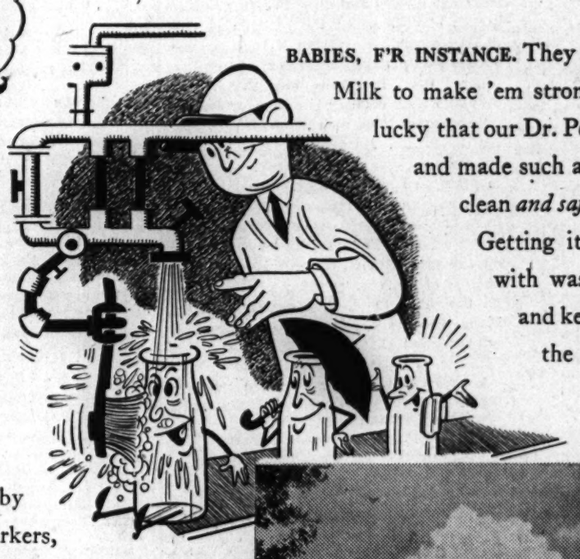

I'LL TELL YOU DOWN BELOW

Bud Bowman

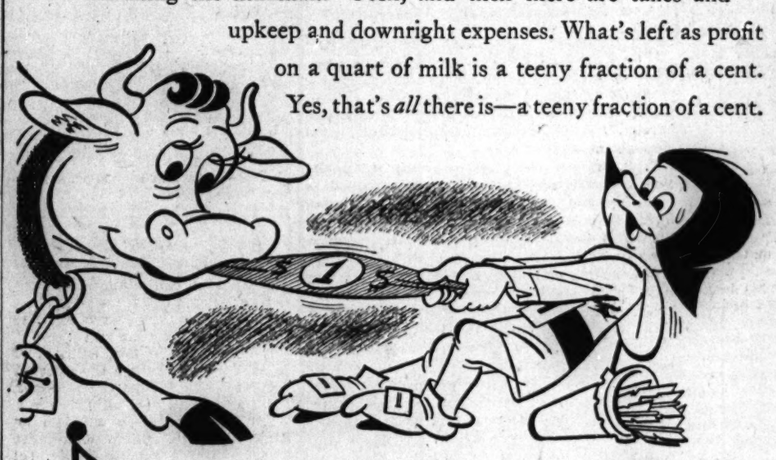

YOU MIGHT THINK we'd make millions and trillions o' dollars selling all the milk we do. Milk that's got Superior flavor . . . that's 10 times tested for richness, purity and flavor . . . a lot of people want it!

BABIES, F'R INSTANCE. They need milk like Bowman Milk to make 'em strong and happy. So it was lucky that our Dr. Peck came along years ago and made such a fuss about milk's being clean and safe for babies and everyone. Getting it safe and pure to begin with was worth extra money . . . and keeping it that way all along the line was worth more.

SO THAT'S PARTLY HOW COME milk costs what it does. Running a modern dairy right takes lots of money! The laboratories . . . receiving and bottling plants . . . giant thermos-bottle trucks . . . oats for horses on the milk-wagons . . . all that shining, stainless steel Bowman equipment!

AND MANPOWER! Thousands of people get paid by Bowman. Farmers on over 4,000 farms. Our own workers, including the milkman. Gosh, and then there are taxes and upkeep and downright expenses. What's left as profit on a quart of milk is a teeny fraction of a cent. Yes, that's all there is—a teeny fraction of a cent.

OPA IS A PEACE TIME MENACE

Washington on the whole has responded rapidly to the winning of the wars. Orders to munition makers were canceled. Lend-lease was stopped. Man power control was lifted and wage control modified. Restrictions were voided on the manufacture of automobiles, washing machines, and other consumer goods, which have been off the market since early in 1942.

There are still several diehards, however, who refuse to recognize that the war is over. Gen. Hershey goes right on drafting men for wars that have ended, and Chester Bowles issues orders about new price controls. The new autos he sees as something more to be rationed. Congress will no doubt catch up with Hershey soon after it reconvenes. But the evil results of Bowles' recent orders may be felt for a long time.

In war time there has to be some limitation on the use of raw materials and man power in making things not useful in fighting the enemy. Government authority determines how the limited supplies remaining for noncombatants are to be shared, and prevents prices from advancing unduly. When the war is over the need for control has ended. Industry turns promptly to peace time products. Competition and fear of loss of consumer good-will restrain producers from raising prices too much. Memory of the prices at which things sold before the war makes buyers unwilling to pay the advances. They also recall that over the years the prices of consumers' durable goods have gone down persistently, not as a result of any government intervention, but because of competition.

Mr. Bowles, the price man, has no confidence in the effectiveness of competition in keeping down prices, nor in the unwillingness of manufacturers to raise prices, nor in the wisdom and memory of consumers. Bowles thinks that the only factor limiting the advance of post-war prices is Bowles. And so he issues orders, prescribing selling prices by producers, margins to dealers, and other related matter. He even instructs manufacturers about how they are to distribute their production among their price lines.

Last week Bowles got around to dealing with washing machines. He authorized factory prices 5.2 per cent higher than in 1941. Manufacturers wonder how he happened to think of that number. In statements issued Friday they said they couldn't stay in business if the order stands. They placed their cost increase at from 15 to 30 per cent.

But if Bowles' order will bust the manufacturers how shall we describe its application to the laundry equipment dealers? The OPA administrator decreed that the 5.2 per cent extra they paid to the factories could not be passed along to the consumers, but must be absorbed. Their costs are up, too, and many of them have just come thru a difficult period, having to rely upon repair business to keep their doors open.

Bowles said distributors could absorb the factory price increase because "it isn't going to take any high priced sales organization to get these goods into the hands of the public." He assures retail stores that they "can look forward to excellent profits on a high sales volume."

But for high sales volume there have to be lots of washing machines. Mr. Bowles says he should be allowed to continue fixing prices because limited supplies will force prices up and cause inflation. Then he tells merchandisers to fire their sales forces and expect profits from their high sales volume. Somebody is cuckoo. It's Chester.

Mr. Bowles made some general statements last week about his policies in setting ceilings. Small concerns are to be given freedom in setting prices, while large concerns are to be kept under tight rein. This is intended to help the little fellow, but nothing can do him greater harm. It will only confirm what big companies have always said, that they can sell more cheaply because of their volume. That is something buyers readily understand.

The price czar talks about believing in profits, but in his "general rescue order," issued during the week, he announced his purpose was to let firms break even. The exact statement is as follows: "A manufacturing firm suffering an over-all loss on its operations at normal volume may receive price adjustments sufficient to bring it to a break even point." The owners are supposed to be in business for their health.

Manufacturers would logically assume that they could recover the costs of reconversion from the products they sell. Mr. Bowles has other ideas. The costs of reconversion are to be taken care of out of "the 20 billion dollars of corporate reserves accumulated during the war, and the tax rebate provisions." But this is not a communist country yet and the reserves accumulated by certain companies are not available to other companies which didn't accumulate any. This puts at a disadvantage concerns which had war orders, but didn't make any money out of them.

There is much more of the same that could be cited, but the point is clear by this time. OPA as administered by Chester Bowles is a menace. It stands in the way of the reconversion of industry made possible by the relaxation of controls by WPB and other agencies. Unless Bowles is restrained or displaced the expansion of employment will be held in check and the flow of new goods slowed down. With producers poised for a race to the market and raw materials and labor available in the greatest abundance, there is no danger of soaring prices of automobiles, radios, washing machines, and the like. Especially is this true now that lend-lease has stopped the drain on our resources. Chester Bowles' services should be dispensed with. The way to resume peace time enterprise is to resume.

HOW TO GET MORE NEWSPRINT

We printed a story the other day telling of plans for a 4½ million dollar expansion program in the newsprint mills of THE TRIBUNE's Canadian subsidiary companies. This is made possible because of the fact that those companies have an assured market for their increased production.

Not enough newsprint is being manufactured currently to supply the requirements of American newspapers. Regulations limiting consumption are still in effect at a time when more newspaper space is needed to give the public vital information in the reconversion period. The future holds forth several years of great prosperity if fullest advertising facilities are available to promote the production and sale of new as well as old products of industry.

Most of the newsprint used in the United States is produced in Canada. Less and less each year is manufactured in the United States, because of the shift of raw material sources. Canadian manufacturers are determined not to repeat the mistake they made following World War I. when they over-expanded their industry and later found themselves facing competition from Scandinavia.

The only way an adequate, continuing supply can be guaranteed the newspapers of this country is to give some sort of assurance to the Canadian manufacturers that American demand will keep pace with increased Canadian production. The simplest and most effective form such assurances could take would be long term purchase contracts, based upon the principle of adequate supply, sold at current market prices.

HAS THE ARMY HEARD OF PEACE?

As the house military affairs committee returned to Washington to consider post-war policy for the army, President Truman urged that congress continue to induct men from 18 to 25 into the services for two year terms of duty. He argued that it would be unsafe not to maintain large occupation forces in both Europe and Japan and advocated that congress do nothing "prematurely" to declare the war emergency at an end. Meanwhile, Gen. Hershey says that selective service will induct 63,000 men during September and that inductions will continue at the rate of 50,000 a month indefinitely.

The war is over, but the problem of occupation has been adopted by the army as a suitable substitute for war. It is being represented as a task of such magnitude as to justify the maintenance into the peace of a military establishment greater than any in the nation's history with the exception of the peak periods of World Wars I. and II.

The general staff is said to have decided that it must retain 2,600,000 men to occupy the defeated countries and to man American posts at home and abroad. Gen. MacArthur's requirements for occupation troops may not exceed 500,000 men, and his primary task of disarming Japan should be completed within a few months.

The other major occupation force is in Germany and Austria. It is impossible to justify the continued assignment of a single American to this task. The political decisions which have already been made concerning the future of Germany involve no American interests. The spoils of war are going to European powers. Let them safeguard their own interests. The war department must not be permitted to convert American soldiers into Hessians who will not even be paid by the foreign powers they would serve.

There are a few Americans who foresee the possibility of making big money out of the European occupation. They have been playing along with the war department ever since 1940, when the inspiration for the first peace time draft in American history came out of Wall street. They see eye to eye with the generals now on the necessity of maintaining occupation forces in Europe. The troops will be of service to them in protecting opportunities for the exploitation of people who will be unable to resist. The maintenance of the occupation force is also in the interest of the generals, for every military hierarchy has the natural self-interest that arises from the perpetuation of jobs, rank, and power. The victims of the system are, of course, the soldiers who are to be held indefinitely on occupation duty against their will.

Not until the war was over was it disclosed that large numbers of veteran New Zealand troops who had seen hard fighting had mutinied when, after they had been brought home on furlough, an attempt was made to send them back to Africa. This incident occurred in 1943, at a critical phase of the war. There is every reason for believing that American troops have sufficient loyalty and discipline to avoid a mass breach of orders, but the patience of the men will be stretched overthin if they become persuaded that artificial excuses are being invented to hold them in service now that the war is over and their country is no longer endangered.

To many of these men the army offers no hope for the future. No one over 27½ years of age, for example, can apply for training as air cadet in order to become a flight officer or flying officer, and enlisted men over 34¾ years of age have been prevented from entering officer candidate schools. These regulations can be justified on the ground that young men should be the leaders of the regular army of the future, but, on the other hand, they demonstrate that all those who are deprived of the opportunity of advancement should be released.

We seem to have more trouble getting our wars declared off than we had getting them declared on.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Let's everybody agree now that in the peace ahead no scrap uranium is to be sold to shady customers abroad.—Detroit News.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. A disorder of which one of these glands is associated with bodily growth to giant proportions?
   Spleen Pituitary Thyroid Pancreas
2. In which one of these sports does a player shoat a birdie without a gun?
   Golf Tennis Skeet Badminton
3. A gross of clothes pins refers to how many dozen? 6 10 12 24
4. A match from a book of safety matches is approximately how long?
   ¾ inch 1 inch 1½ inches 2½ inches
5. Which one of these Presidents was opposed to entangling foreign alliances?
   Wilson Truman Washington Roosevelt
6. Some birds derive their livelihood chiefly from the water, while others are land fowl. Try to distinguish between the five listed below, placing a check mark under the appropriate heading for each one. You are entitled to one point for each correct judgment.

	Land	Water
Indigo Bunting	.....	.....
Snipe	.....	.....
Albatross	.....	.....
Nuthatch	.....	.....
Flamingo	.....	.....

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

VISIT TO A HERMIT

When Commodore Perry sailed into Tokyo bay in 1853 to crack Japan's isolation, his squadron consisted of two steam frigates, Susquehanna and Mississippi, and two sloops of war, Plymouth and Saratoga. Consider the incredible fleets now assembled in those waters to force the onetime hermit nation back into the shell from which we dragged it.

The letter from President Pierce that Perry presented to the shogun was addressed to the emperor of Japan, and saluted him as "great and good friend." This was a slight error in protocol, for the shogun, altho the ruler, was not the emperor. The latter was Komei, great grandfather of Hirohito, who was not listed in the Tokyo [then Yedo] directory. He lived in Kyoto, and the shogun, whose name was Iyeyoshi, didn't forward his mail. To the shoguns, tenno heika was a negligible personage.

Shogun Iyeyoshi didn't run true to the tough old Tokugawa breed. He fell into a flutter under the guns of Perry's ships, and consulted his daimios [governors of provinces] about the demands of the foreign devils. One of these statesmen, no doubt an isolationist, roared for immediate war like an interventionist American senator. He issued a fire-eating manifesto, from which we will quote.

"Never was the clash of foreign arms heard within our holy ground," wrote the daimio of Mito. "Let not our generation be the first to see the disgrace of a foreign army treading on the land where our fathers rest.

"The necessity of caution against the ships now lying in the harbor has brought the valiant samurai to the capital from distant quarters. Is it wise to disappoint them?

"The haughty demeanor of the barbarians has provoked even the illiterate populace. Should nothing be done to show that the government shares the indignation of the people, they will lose all fear and respect for it."

In effect, the daimio of Mito threatened the shogun with civil war. Ten years later it came, and the shogunate was abolished.

WHAT OF TOMORROW?

History:
Mistakes of the past
Casting shadows on the future;
And current history is
Jigsaw-map work and jockey play of politicians,
Worms escaped from cocoons at murky dawn of a new era
Struggling on a mudflat,
Trailing statesman-wings heavy-wet with error,
Looking thru the mist of ignorance
With unfocused eyes.
So today—
Tomorrow? Why, tomorrow will be
What we make it.

The MacArthur Touch

News item: MacArthur did not negotiate personally with the Jap emissaries.

When MacArthur appears in Tokyo to instruct the emperor how to govern his people, he must transcend the son of heaven. He will be as the older brother of that son, more exalted in the esteem of the heavenly father of the Nipponese.

It is not for him to mingle with underlings. A little familiarity can breed a lot of contempt, and in the minds of the Nipponese there must be the delicate inference that Gen. MacArthur outshines Hirohito, even as the flash of the atomic bomb outshines the sun.

How comforting it is to observe the work of a man who is discriminating and deft.

AUGUST RELEASE

O where, as by this friendly lake
I build fair castles in the air,
Are those dark chains that held me fast
But yesterday? The fret and care
That mocked my weary soul are dead,
As beauty's wealth is harvested.

Along the sunset path of gold
I think my way across the lake
To sweating millions bound by toil,
By hungers food can never slake.
I call to them—they cannot hear;
The city's noise has dulled their ear.

Between us are a hundred miles
Of quiet joy and meek content;
I call to them—they will not hear
Till life's tumultuous years are spent.
For them—altho they will not care—
I build my castles in the air.

Thomas Curtis Clark

Perhaps the bombs of the rain makers of some decades ago might be called the forerunners of the atomic bomb. At that time there was much argument about their efficacy. I remember a vaudeville song that ran like this:

It never rains at all in Kansas,
It never rains at all in Kansas.
It never rains at all
Till they fire a cannon ball
And then it rains in every state but Kansas.

Geo. C. Turner

In Japan, the well-known touch of fall in the air is quite emphatic.

P. F. writes: "My son married when stationed in England. Later he was wounded in Germany and now he is back in the United States in a hospital. Will the government pay his wife's passage to the United States, or must we pay it?"

Dependents of officers and enlisted men who have been stationed outside the continental limits of the United States may obtain government transportation to the United States, depending on the military situation and the amount of shipping available. Air travel is not authorized without war department approval. Transportation of dependents to the United States is under control of the various theater commanders. Transportation for dependents also may be obtained by veterans discharged under honorable conditions. There is no provision for transportation of fiancees. They will have to travel at their own expense as commercial passengers.

M. J. writes: "A soldier writes home saying he will be tried by court martial for violation of the 61st and 83d articles of war. What offenses are charged?"

The 61st article of war covers absence without leave. The 83d article covers wilful or negligent loss, damage, or wrongful disposition of military property. Persons convicted must make good the loss to the United States.

PLANTAR WARTS

YOUNG people seldom think of their feet. They hike, dance, or play basketball for hours without complaint except possibly an occasional blister. But, as the years roll by, the expression "my dogs are killing me" becomes more frequent.

Should we study the intricate mechanism of our pedal extremities, we would be amazed that more incapacity does not exist. Our civilization is adapted to the wearing of shoes, but when they are not well fitted, they can do more harm than good. Years ago, when extremely pointed toes were in fashion, ingrown toenails and bunions were probably more prevalent than they are today.

One of the commonest sources of distress is callus formation on the sole. The cause is friction or pressure, possibly a combination of both, due to improper footgear, changes in the bones in the region of the arches [metatarsal], or faulty posture. Occasionally one leg is shorter than the other, which results in uneven distribution of weight.

Unless the causative factor is removed, paring the lesion will afford only temporary relief. A piece of moleskin over the affected area and a pad behind the callus region to raise the depressed metatarsal heads often prove helpful. As a rule surgery is not recommended, because of the danger of scarring.

Plantar warts are similar to those found elsewhere on the body except that, because of pressure, they do not extend beyond the surface. According to Montgomery, these lesions may be divided into three groups: the single, the mother-daughter or epidemic, and the mosaic.

The single is probably the most painful and usually appears under the head of each metatarsal bone. Because they are located over pressure points, they are covered by a horny layer. The mother-daughter variety is considered by some to be infectious. It is seen in youngsters and adolescents, and epidemics in schools and institutions are not unusual. The orginal [mother] is embedded in or inclosed by callus; but her numerous children are more exposed. Any part of the sole may exhibit these blemishes as pressure is not a factor. The mosaic type is so-called because, after scraping the callus, the warts beneath form a pattern thru their angular rather than rounded borders. They differ from the others in that they are painless.

Warts in this region are resistant to treatment. Improvement is often noted when tension is taken off pressure points by proper shoes and padding. Probably the most popular procedure is the use of acids—salicylic, nitric, dichloracetic, and trichloracetic. Those who use this therapy are careful not to apply an excessive amount nor to damage the normal skin. As much of the hard surface as possible is removed by scraping before the acid is applied. When correctly done, the wart can usually be lifted out.

Should simpler measures fail, X-ray therapy, expertly used, is safe and effective. Surgery, electrodesiccation, and radium are valuable and often successful. They must be employed skilfully, as ulceration or scarring may result which is more painful than the wart itself.

DISTURBING DREAMS

F. J. writes: I am in trouble with a lot of night dreaming. Can this be relieved?

REPLY

We dream during sleep when our mind is half way between wakefulness and unconsciousness. This probably explains why we do not feel completely refreshed after such a night. Position has some bearing on the situation for many observe that they dream only when lying on the back. Others bring their thoughts and troubles to bed and cannot escape them. Indigestion may be a factor.

TAPEWORM

T. J. writes: If a person has a tapeworm, can he feel it?

REPLY

Some individuals are unaware of their presence, but others may experience abdominal discomfort ranging from a sense of pressure to actual colicky pain. Abnormalities in digestion and appetite are common.

AVOID FLIES

A. R. writes: Is it dangerous to eat out-of-doors on account of infantile paralysis and flies?

REPLY

We do not know how the virus causing this disorder is transmitted. But those who believe insects are responsible recommend that contact with these pests be minimized.

The songs of poets long agone,
Poets who smote the lyre to sing
Of Chloe and the painted spring,
I think of you and wonder what

Yet when I try—what won't I do!—
To fit their aureate diction to
The wondrous fact that you are you,
I must admit, concede, confess,

This Changing World

It has been two weeks today since peace was official. Already transcendant changes have occurred.

A drug store fired a waitress for insolence.

A lady went into a department store, asked for sheets, was shown some, and said, "Well, thank you. I'm just looking."

A well dressed man was seen leaning on a shovel at the entrance to the Continental hotel. About to lay a cornerstone or sign up for the WPA?

Taxi drivers stop and try to wheedle you into a ride.

The American jaw is clacking again on chewing gum, and the flavor of spearmint is strong over the land.

You sometimes can buy two packages of standard brand cigarets from the same salesman in the same store at one time.

People who never drank pineapple juice in their lives are swilling it down now because it no longer requires 90, or any, blue points per can.

The city night is filled not with music but with the staccato bang of tire blowouts.

But turnips still taste like turnips; the soap shortage is still acute; library attendants, the most courteous public servants during the war, are still the most courteous public servants of early peace, and what do you suppose ever possessed the ravening hordes of housewifes who burst into the department stores the Thursday following peace demanding electric refrigerators, irons, stoves, washing machines, and cried, when told these would not be forthcoming for months, "But you said you'd have them after the war"? The first sign of true peace, as far as we are concerned, will be the day the chain groceries start offering those heavy aluminum cooking utensils again as a premium.

The Fires Don't Warm

A young American naval officer in the Pacific was on the Duke of York, flagship of the British Pacific fleet, not long ago, and was quite impressed. He met Adm. Sir Bruce Fraser, commander in chief of the fleet, and found him a red faced, jolly, pipe puffing sailor who has learned to get along with Americans by hospitably plying them with good Scotch. He learned that it has been tough going out that way for the British sailors, for their fleet was made a part of our 3d fleet, taking orders from the Americans, and they have had to learn American ways, communication methods, and combat doctrines. Wandering around the ship a bit, however, he found that the Americanization of the British is incomplete. The officers' country [quarters] still has the appearance of a paneled English club, in contrast to the barren, undecorative quarters of American fighting ships, and both the captain's quarters and the officers' wardroom [dining room] have false fireplaces filled with imitation coals.

Yearning Bobby Sox-ers

Mortimer Adler, the University of Chicago's great books man, wrote a little article in the August issue of Glamour [of all things!] about what is wrong with American education. At the end of it appeared the following announcement:

"For free copies of the University of Chicago's pamphlet, 'The Great Books in the Modern World,' write to the Feature Editor, Glamour."

Within 10 days Glamour had received 1,200 requests. It looks as tho even the bobby sox contingent knows there is something wrong with American education. "And," commented Mr. Adler, "as if they suspect there might be something to this business of the great books."

WAINWRIGHT AND LAURENS

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 22—Gen. Wainwright at the peace table would be a fitting sequel to Corregidor. There is a precedent. Back in 1782, with about half the world at war and the other half trying to muscle in on the peace, shrewd old Benjamin Franklin all but pried the lock off the Tower of London in making up the American peace commission.

Earl Cornwallis, ex-scourge of Virginia and the Carolinas, wanted release from his American parole so that he might serve his king in India. Somebody advised him to see Lafayette, the "boy" he had chased and been chased by over most of Virginia. Lafayette had always had pretty much his own way with Washington and congress, but the release of Cornwallis was something else. The ever generous Auvergnat rode out to Passy to talk it over with Franklin. Franklin listened, chuckled, promptly agreed, and abruptly switched the conversation to Henry Laurens.

Mr. Laurens of North Carolina was president of the Continental congress at the time of the battle of Brandywine, and had hauled the wounded Lafayette in his buggy to Bethlehem before loading out for York with the rest of the congress. Later he had been named American envoy to Holland, captured en route by the British, duly charged with treason, and lodged in the tower. London Tories had wrathfully demanded his head, but with Britons of consequence in American custody and the ghost of Maj. John Andre to remind them of what they had done to Nathan Hale, his majesty's government had appropriately hesitated. It was a hard question for the British ministry, but with everybody talking the kind of peace that nobody else wanted, and with Lord Cornwallis pining for a command in India, the answer was very simple, Franklin insisted.

Let his lordship be exchanged for Ex-President Laurens; and, since Laurens was already in Europe, he could join Jay and Adams, who also were in Europe, and the haughty Britishers could talk peace to their erstwhile incarcerated "rebel."

Who other than Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright is better equipped to judge Japan, what they need and ought to have? And who other than he is more entitled to let them have it?

IMPORTING "BRITAIN'S WAY"

Chicago, Aug. 21—Last night a parade of automobiles proceeded from Grant park down Monroe st., a parade evidently of a socialistic nature, for one of the banners read, "Britain Found the Way." Of course, nothing was said about the billions of dollars which our enterprising government is now furnishing for these socialistic experiments.

O, for a Teddy Roosevelt or some one with the strength and vigor to tell these misguided minds that what they are advocating leads on to a bondage that they do not anticipate. It leads on to forced labor, for who is going to do the work? Where are they going to get the incentive? Where are they going to get the free minds, the suggestive ideas that come spontaneously from free enterprise?

SURVEY BY WMC RAISES HOPE FOR MORE JOBS HERE

List Work for 48,500 at USES Office

Preliminary results of a survey conducted by the war man power commission among 1,300 Illinois employers indicate that the reëmployment situation in the Chicago area is better than had been anticipated, Charles P. Casey, state WMC director, said yesterday.

He based his statement on replies from 505 of the 1,300 employers to whom inquiries were sent. These included replies from 300 out of 700 firms contacted in the Chicago area.

48,500 Jobs Available

Casey said 48,500 jobs were available yesterday in the Chicago area United States employment service offices in all types of industrial work. Among the 300 Chicago firms reporting, he said, 208 showed stable employment conditions or anticipated employment expansion in the near future. This group of firms, he said, soon will be employing 15,000 more persons than during war time.

At the same time, 40 other employers indicated a decrease of 32,000 employes by Sept. 15.

War Plants Drop 4,169

War plant dismissals in Cook and Du Page counties over the week-end totaled 4,169, bringing to 95,968 the total since the Japanese offer to surrender, Charles R. Cheadle, executive secretary of the joint program information committee, said.

The largest number of dismissals over the week-end was at the Calyin Manufacturing company, 4301 Madison st., radar equipment manufacturer, where 100 men and 700 women were laid off. Officials said most of them will be rehired later when radio manufacturing materials are available.

Carl Jaeger, head of the USES office in Waukegan, said 1,800 jobs are immediately available in industries in Lake county and that employers unable to obtain help are seeking to recruit labor in Kenosha, Wis.

2 POLIO DEATHS, 14 NEW CASES ARE REPORTED

Fourteen new cases of infantile paralysis and two deaths over the week-end were reported to the Chicago health department yesterday. Since Jan. 1 there have been 82 cases and six deaths as compared with 69 cases and two deaths for the same period last year. The two new deaths were those of a six year old west side girl and a 26 year old north side woman. No new cases were reported in the county outside Chicago where the polio count for the year stands at 32 cases and one death.

SHOOTING LAID TO PUPPY LOVE BID FOR SISTER

Miami, Fla., Aug. 27 (AP)—A 16 year old girl's accusation that her sweetheart shot her in a rage after proposing a puppy love "swap" for her sister, 14, was under investigation by the state attorney's office tonight.

State Investigator I. Ray Mills said the girl, Juanita Lutrell, told him she had been shot by a 17 year old suitor, Jackie Marsh, as the aftermath of a quarrel over her sister, Evelyn. Previously, the girl had said she was shot during a playful scuffle with her friend over possession of a .32 caliber hunting rifle.

"Last Tuesday night he asked me if it was all right if he changed over to my sister Evelyn," she told Mills. "I told him it was okay with me, and he became angry." Next morning, the girl said, he accosted her with the rifle and shot her.

Hospital physicians said the girl, wounded in the abdomen, was in a critical condition. Mills said Marsh was released in custody of his father pending further investigation.

SAILOR'S WIDOW ASKS $250,000 IN BRAWL SLAYING

Damages of $250,000 under the dram shop act are sought in a suit filed in federal District court yesterday by a navy widow, Mrs. Eileen Murray Kelly, 22, of Bancroft, Ia., against four Chicago taverns and owners of the respective properties.

The suit, prepared by Atty. Charles R. Aiken, states that her husband, Chief Petty Officer Omer Kelly, celebrating with friends his promotion to ensign, was shot and killed in a brawl in the Tudor tavern, 933 E. 43d st., Aug. 3, 1944. Jack Goodman, the bartender, who admitted the slaying and contended it was in self defense, later was freed in court. The damages sought are asked for Mrs. Kelly and her son, Thomas O., 2.

Defendants are the Tudor tavern, the owners, Joseph Finkelstein, David Goodman, and Jack Goodman; Eppy's tavern, 1139 E. 43d st., the owner, Sam Epstein; Benny's pub, 1013 E. 43d st., the owners, Ben and Irene Harris, and the Biltmore tap, 4160 Drexel blvd., the owners, John Barker and Luke Daw. Property owners are additional defendants. The suit alleges Kelly had visited Eppy's, Benny's, and the Biltmore before winding up at the Tudor, and all were responsible in part for the killing.

STOVE WORKERS DEFY WLB; 450 IN PLANT STRIKE

Between 450 and 500 employes of the Cribben & Sexton company plant at 700 N. Sacramento blvd. were called out on strike yesterday by Frank M. Powers, head of the United Stove Workers' union, affiliated with the Confederated Unions of America. The strike was the first one here to affect reconversion operations and caused work at the plant to cease.

The calling of the strike marked the second time that Powers has defied the war labor board's rulings in controversies with the company. Last March the union walked out to force its demands for a 5 per cent increase in wages.

The strike called yesterday was attributed to a WLB directive which ordered the company to retain three employes.

The three employes, John Ronzeni, Joseph Weinert, and Leroy Tress, had been with the company between 13 and 22 years. When the company went into full war production several years ago, the three were promoted from hourly paid workers to foremen.

Several weeks ago the three foremen were returned to their former jobs, but the union refused to take them in as members and requested the management to discharge them.

SCHOOL JANITOR AT FLOSSMOOR DIES AFTER FALL

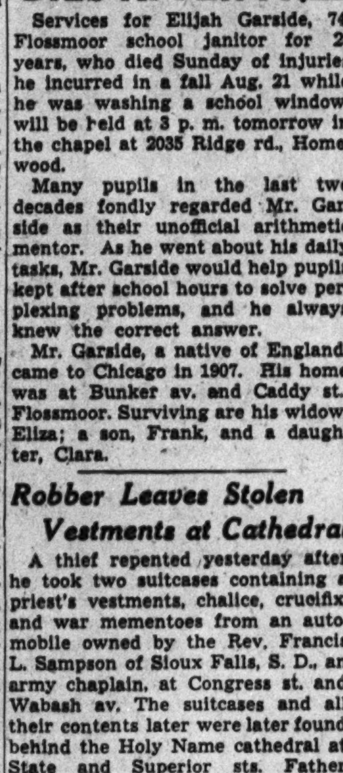

Services for Elijah Garside, 74, Flossmoor school janitor for 20 years, who died Sunday of injuries he incurred in a fall Aug. 21 while he was washing a school window, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 2035 Ridge rd., Homewood.

Many pupils in the last two decades fondly regarded Mr. Garside as their unofficial arithmetic mentor. As he went about his daily tasks, Mr. Garside would help pupils kept after school hours to solve perplexing problems, and he always knew the correct answer.

Mr. Garside, a native of England, came to Chicago in 1907. His home was at Bunker av. and Caddy st., Flossmoor. Surviving are his widow, Eliza; a son, Frank, and a daughter, Clara.

Robber Leaves Stolen Vestments at Cathedral

A thief repented yesterday after he took two suitcases containing a priest's vestments, chalice, crucifix, and war mementoes from an automobile owned by the Rev. Francis L. Sampson of Sioux Falls, S. D., an army chaplain, at Congress st. and Wabash av. The suitcases and all their contents later were found behind the Holy Name cathedral at State and Superior sts. Father Sampson, meanwhile, had gone to Camp Grant.

GARY GIRL, 6, SHOT AS SHE UPSETS GUN IN FALL WHILE PLAYING

Angeline Korfias, 6, was accidentally shot in the neck and seriously wounded yesterday when she dislodged a pistol in her home at 816 Jefferson st., Gary, Ind. Police said that the child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Korfias, was jumping up and down on a cot when she lost her balance. She grabbed a cloth shelf cover to keep her balance, but it gave way, and she pulled it to the floor with her as she fell. The pistol was on the shelf and it fell, too, discharging upon impact with the floor. Angeline was taken to Mercy hospital, Gary.

QUARTET SEIZED IN STOLEN TRUCK HELD FOR JURY

Three men and a girl who were arrested Aug. 22 while riding in a stolen truck owned by the S & K Floor Surfacing company were held to the grand jury by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court yesterday.

Maxine Schmidt, 17, of 2326 Bloomingdale av., fugitive from an Indiana training school, and William Sayles, 18, of 2321 Charleston st., were held on two counts of automobile larceny. Sayles also was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell for carrying concealed weapon. His brother, James, 21, of the same address, and Pvt. Raymond Marchlevicz, 19, of 1455 Blackhawk st., faced one charge each of automobile larceny. A similar charge against Benjamin Wanders, 17, of 2112 Concord pl., was dismissed.

Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor were dismissed against the Sayles brothers and Albert Barton, 56, who said he permitted Miss Schmidt to live in his home at 2326 Bloomingdale av. because she was homeless.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam

COSTELLO—Francis R. Costello, Aug. 28, 1941.
He little thought when leaving home
That he would return no more;
That he, in death, so soon would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.
We we do not know what pain he bore;
We did not see him die.
We only know he passed away
And could not say good-by.
LOVING MOTHER AND FATHER PLHAK.

DELFINO—Pfc. Louis A. Delfino, 28th infantry, killed in action a year ago today somewhere in France.

Buell Mullen's Painting Will Go to Warship

BY JUDITH CASS

THE striking paintings on stainless steel executed by Buell Mullen [Mrs. James Bernard Mullen] now are known in art circles thruout the country, but her latest, a portrait of Capt. James Lawrence, will be carried to foreign ports all over the world. In a ceremony from 3 to 5 p. m. today in the Knoedler galleries in New York, the state of New Jersey will accept the portrait and will hold it in custody until it can be delivered to the battleship New Jersey, now on active sea duty, and installed in the ship's wardroom.

The portrait of Capt. Lawrence, a native son of New Jersey who gained fame while in command of the American frigate Chesapeake against the British frigate Shannon in June, 1813, shows a panorama of the naval engagement in the background. It was in this battle that Capt. Lawrence uttered his famous words, "Don't give up the ship."

Neither Mrs. Mullen's husband nor their two children will be present at today's ceremony. Mrs. William H. Mitchell Jr. [Modrea Mullen] is staying in her parents' Lake Forest home, awaiting word from Lt. Mitchell, who left Seattle Saturday to report to Stockton, Cal., for new orders. He has been serving in Alaska for nine months with the army transport command and just has returned to this country.

Lt. Mullen Jr. saw his parents for two days last week when he was here en route from Wilmington, Del., to Sacramento, Cal. He recently returned from three and a half years overseas and will be stationed at Hamilton field as an operations officer. His mother will return from New York around Sept. 10.

Here and There

Miss Dodie Law, daughter of the Robert O. Laws, is spending several days as the house guest of the Donald B. Douglases in Lake Forest. Next week she will return to her parents' ranch north of Cheyenne, Wyo., where the Laws have been staying this summer. The Law family will return from Wyoming just before Christmas and will move at that time from the north shore into Chicago. With the Laws is their elder daughter, Patricia, whose husband, Lt. Joseph S. Sample, has arrived in China with the office of strategic services. Before his departure he visited his parents, the John G. Samples, in Lake Forest.

At home in Winnetka for his final leave before he departs for duty in the Pacific is Petty Officer Samuel Adams, who is visiting his mother, Mrs. Charles T. Adams. Mr. Adams, who has been stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex., will leave Saturday for the west coast. Mrs. Adams plans to return to Chicago to live late in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell II. [Ann Gaumnitz] are being congratulated on the birth of their first child, Rodney Edwin, Aug. 20, in Evanston hospital. The baby, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Gaumnitz of Evanston and Mrs. Charles W. Lobdell of Ann Arbor, Mich., has been named for his maternal uncle, Rodney E. Gaumnitz, who was killed in action on Okinawa. Mr. Lobdell is stationed at Chelsea hospital in Boston, Mass., as a pharmacist's mate in the navy. Mrs. Lobdell and the baby will live in Evanston with her parents. Young Rodney has a great-grandmother, Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell of E. Cedar st.

Wedding News

Only members of the Haven A. ReQua family, which number about 50, and a small group of friends will witness the marriage tomorrow of the ReQuas' younger son, Lt. [j. g.] Patrick ReQua, and Miss Joan Smith. Since transportation still was a problem when the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Smith, planned the wedding, arrangements have been made for the ceremony to take place at 4:30 p. m. in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest instead of Minneapolis, where the Smiths live. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will give a reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents following the ceremony, to be performed by Bishop Edwin J. Randall.

The bride will have as her only attendant her roommate from Carleton college, Mrs. Robert J. Bauske of Spencer, Ia. Mr. ReQua will act as best man for his son, who just has returned from 20 months of duty aboard a PT boat in the Pacific. At the end of a 30 day leave Lt. ReQua will take his bride to Newport, R. I., where he will report for orders.

From Sheboygan, Wis., comes the announcement of the marriage there Aug. 14 of Miss Barbara Cary Thompson, daughter of Mrs. George O'Connell of Sheboygan and of Robert H. Thompson of Chicago, to Everett Wade Turley Jr., son of Mrs. Marie Geiger Turley of Green Bay, Wis. The bride, a granddaughter of the late Dr. Frank Cary of Chicago,

Woolen Robes for Lounging Skilfully Cut

BY REA SEEGER

Lounging robes in cozy warm wool, ready for comfort when the first winds nip and chill, have pretty much the same old tried and true simplicity of silhouette. The long sleeves are skilfully tailored with cuffs at the wrists, and there's an ample wrapover in front. Most of them fasten at the side, and have a pocket and effective colored piping along the collar, cuffs, and down the outer closing.

These are the classic tailored robes, ideal for a four-year future in any college wardrobe, as the close companion of the career girl for around-the-house mornings and lazy week ends, and as the delight of any traveler. Expert tailored details and such all-purpose colors as wine, deep blue, scarlet, and a few blacks provide a range of selection for shoppers.

House coats considerably more feminine, and sometimes close to being elegant, also come in the softest of flannels and woolens as well as in trick mixtures of rayon and wool. These have wide, full skirts, a neat, narrow waistline, straight, loose, wide sleeves, and effective side fasteners such as braid-frogs in contrasting color that match the braid trim along the edge of the side panel or the simulated pocket flaps high on the shoulders. Those with six braided flaps, simulating three chest pockets on each side, have a faint resemblance to a cossack great coat. Other house coats or robes have white pearl buttons a good two inches across.

Short knee length coats in colors and with decorative trim and sash belts like those of the long models are particularly useful for wear with pajamas and house slacks of wool rayon mixtures and the padded and quilted affairs of satin or crepe. If you still cling to feminine nightgowns, these short coats make just as effective an ensemble as do the lounging slacks and pajama combinations.

Giving Child Physical Care Deepens the Spiritual Bond

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Of course, if you've never had the daily physical care of your children, or if you've never been away from your children, you may not realize it, but this is true: A close physical bond with your children creates a closer spiritual bond than can exist without it.

You may not be conscious of it until something brings it home to you. Perhaps you're too sick for a week to have the physical care of your children, tho you're actually in the house. Perhaps you've had one of those spells that come to all of us when work and visitors sap our thoughts and time, so we don't give ourselves in the usual way to the children.

"The mind and emotions of a . . . child are all tied up with the physical needs and the ways these are met." [TRIBUNE Studio Photo]

You don't think much of it, perhaps, until you get well, or until the work is finished and the visitors gone.

Then, back in the regular intimate round again, you realize that your contact has been a little sketchy, that there's been a skirting of the fringes, that you've missed a week or so of the warm closeness and freedom of communication that you had been taking for granted without realizing it. Then you begin to understand how the physical bond deepens the spiritual one.

Any one who turns her baby or her children over to any individual or a nursery school for their entire physical care misses something that she never can recapture. The mind and the emotions of a baby and a child are all tied up with the physical needs and the way these are met.

A mother has a special feeling toward the baby she's watched over, "changed," and mopped up cereal from, and toward the toddler she's trailed around after and presented carrots to in her most engaging manner, while she hopes to goodness she won't be too tired to take a bath tonight as she was last night!

You can't feel the same toward your very young school-going son or daughter if you don't keep an eye on their bathing hour; cast a wary eye on the ears; if you don't have a comforting word for that stomach ache as well as a remedy; if you don't feel pride that you've managed them so they eat everything.

You can't feel quite the same, if you don't get haggard caring for them day and night when they're ill; if you're not within call when on a frosty night you hear, "Mommee, mommee, my toes are so cold!" or "Mommee, come, I had such a bad dream"; or as you do if you feel guilty when you hear, "Mother, just look at my pajamas in back; you've forgotten to sew on that button again and the safety pin is tearing them!"

You just can't possibly feel the same bond if you turn the physical care of your child over to some one else.

Paris Boudoirs Created to Suit Individual Type

BY ANNE BRUYERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Aug. 27—"Marguerite de Valois," "Mme. de Pompadour," and "L'Imperatrice Eugenie" are the names of new boudoir and bedroom sets for women decorated by Christian Berard to harmonize with their individual types of beauty and elegance.

Tall, raven haired Louise de Vilmorin, who wears beautifully carved oriental rings, bracelets, and clips with severely tailored clothes, has a boudoir decorated with blue and gilt furniture, Turkestan rugs, and rare Chinese vases, statuettes, and paintings.

Marguerite de Valois wore high white plaited collars and deep pink damask gowns. She is the inspiration for a bedroom set which includes a rich silk canopy woven with flowers, matching armchairs, and contrasting glass tables and lamps.

The works of Van de Velde, furs, satins, and Louis XV, were the favorites of Mme. de Pompadour. The boudoir set bearing her name has colorful oils of Dutch landscapes, white satin furniture, and leopard skin rugs thrown on the floor.

Ostrich feathers, lace mantillas, daring decolletages, and wide velvet skirts distinguished the styles set by the Empress Eugenie, who still influences the noted Parisian artists and designers. Rows and rows of blue venetian lace cover the oval shaped, long, low dressing table created by Berard. Lotus pink velvet upholstery appears on the streamlined chairs, couch, and footstools. Seated on one of them is a longeared pup made of light pink and black ostrich plumes.

Fashion Flashes: Jeanne Lanvin displays a short boxed coat for evening wear of heavy white silk with three-inch wide panels of red crépe and gold embroidery running across the square shoulders and the elbow of the long wide sleeves. . . . Coralie designs a formal hat of platinum net and strings a row of gleaming jeweled stars at the nape with tiny cascades of rhinestones shooting from each star. . . . La Ville de Puy presents a georgette nightgown in azure blue trimmed at the waist with triangular insets of matching blue valenciennes, which also form two large unexpected pockets on the flowing skirt cut entirely on the bias.

Talk on Garden Herbs to Be Given at Library

Mrs. Albert D. Farwell will give a talk on "Garden Herbs, a 'Must' in Every Garden" at 2 p. m. today in G. A. R. Memorial hall in the Chicago Public library. The program continues a free series under auspices of the Chicago Horticultural Society and Garden center. The society reorganized this season and set up a center for garden information inside the Randolph st. entrance to the library. Frank K. Balthis is the horticulturist in charge. Mrs. Farwell is vice chairman on the board of trustees.

ON THE AISLE

Drama Critics Eye Washington Wistfully After Glamorous Saga of Nelson Bell

I see by one of the Sunday supplements that Washington is paradise for a drama critic, according to a pictorial outlay in four pages showing how Nelson Bell, veteran reviewer of the Post, goes to a show. Mr. Bell begins his performance by planning to use two columns for his review of "Marinka," the musical about the lovers of Mayerling which shares the splurge with him. Now in spite of the review Ashton Stevens wrote of "Carmen Jones," two columns is not space any more; it's a miracle. But miracles are duck soup to Mr. Bell.

He goes, and we follow. On his way home to dinner he stops at the theater to pick up his tickets and finds the manager waiting to greet him in style. In this town you couldn't unearth a theater manager at that hour for love nor money, tho possibly you could to get his picture taken. Next our Mr. Bell arrives at the theater and takes an aisle seat on the fourth row. Okay, we do that here, too. But Mr. Bell does more. During intermission he discusses the show's chances with the subservient producer, and it's made pretty clear that it hasn't a chance unless Mr. Bell approves. After the show he goes backstage and is kissed by the star, but at last he breaks away from the "effusive cast," and high time, too, as he works for a morning paper.

He strolls up the Washington boulevards, coat unbuttoned to the summer breeze, intent, leisurely soul, on catching the 2 a. m. final edition. We see him at work with Hassard Short, the play's director, reading the favorable notice over his shoulder. "Bell," says our caption guide, "works swiftly, aware that makeup men wait impatiently for his copy," and if you ask me, I should think they would.

But even when that copy is finished Mr. Bell still has things to do. While waiting for proofs he tells the makeup man what to do with the ads so they won't clutter up his two columns of prose. He waits until the paper is run off and has coffee with "Marinka's" Harry Stockwell, who registers delight as he reads the review, starting, naturally, with the part about himself. Then and only, then does Mr. Bell trudge wearily home. It is 4 a. m. and he might as well work for an afternoon paper. Luckily, not many plays open in Washington, as the strain must be terrific.

What the Leonards, the Caseys, the Murdocks, and the Pollaks of this town are up to, I couldn't say, but my own procedure is considerably less glamorous than Mr. Bell's. True, I go to the theater and sit on the aisle, but there the resemblance ceases. No producer wistfully inquires at intermission whether I will permit the show to survive, no stars wait backstage to kiss me, no effusive casts delay me from my appointed course. When deadlines threaten, I grab a cab for THE TRIBUNE and write as fast and as short a review as war time restrictions demanded. The proofroom reads the proof, the makeup man puts the result where he pleases. I go home.

It isn't glamorous like Washington, but that's the way it is in Chicago. Chicago is the place where Billy Rose told me he sent first night flowers to every girl in the cast of "Carmen Jones." But if any of my aisle seat confrères got so much as a daisy out of Mr. Rose, he is a daisy up on me. And Hassard Short, who was right here in town, didn't even ask whether he could read my review over his typewriter shoulder. Obviously, Washington is the place they appreciate critics. Now if Mr. Bell would like to retire. . . .

Notes

Barring calamities, Olsen and Johnson will bring "Laffing Room Only" to the Shubert Sept. 17. . . . Elisabeth Bergner opens "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" at the Great Northern Oct. 1, with Joel Ashley in the Victor Jory part. . . . RCA-Victor has an unbreakable, high-fidelity record for home use which will be available in October. It's ruby-red, flexible, slightly transparent, and weighs 13 ounces against the standard 24.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 27—England looms large in the movie news. Now it's Herbert Wilcox who's phoning Ronald Colman from London about a role opposite Anna Neagle in "Piccadilly 1945," a story with music about Anglo-American relations at the end of this war and the first days of peace. Colman hasn't done a picture in Europe since 1923, when he made "Romola" with Lillian Gish. . . . Another post-war story is "Dream Girl," written by Elmer Rice, which goes into Broadway production in mid-November with Betty Field playing the lead. The Playwright company's producing this one and Paramount, which holds the screen rights, is backing the venture 100 per cent.

So She's Here to Stay

Constance Collier was all set to sail for England and a role in Ivor Novello's play when she was cast right and left in Hollywood movies. Bob Hope wanted her for his picture, Ben Hecht has her in his first at Republic, and Darryl Zanuck paged her for a role in "Razor's Edge." So it's Hollywood for her. She was the last to arrive at her supper party for Alicia Markova and Anton Dolin. It seems she went to the Bowl with Charlie Chaplin and he wanted to stay to the bitter end—so naturally they stayed. . . . Adolphe Menjou turned reporter on me when I visited the "Heartbeat" set. He tells me Robert Montgomery has written the introduction to wife Veree Teasdale's book, "Aren't People Funny." . . . Dick Powell doesn't want to be typed, so in his next he'll play a ruthless killer who is a Pasadena bank clerk by day and gets even with fate at night. . . . When Charles Vidor, who's directing Rita Hayworth in "Gilda," asked her, "How old is your baby and can it talk?" Rita said, "Eight months and talking—but only things a mother understands."

Man Overboard for a Redhead

Peter Lawford took one look at Susan Blanchard, lovely redhead who's Oscar Hammerstein II.'s daughter, and went completely overboard. He had her tied up for three dates, but like that! . . . I hear Jacqueline White's fans are furious with Metro for turning her part in "The Yearling" over to Jane Wyman. You know producers should listen to those sidewalk fans—they not only make sense, but they're fanatically loyal to their favorites. . . . Mary Martin sings only once in "Night and Day." It's "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," of course. She's back to New York in five days to train her face into placidity—she's a Chinese woman in her next.

Won't Farm Himself Out

Bob Benchley, dining at Romanoff's with Mrs. Charley Lederer, says there's nothing to that story he's going rustic in the San Fernando valley. That night blooming baby's off to New York in a week. We roared recalling his first performance of the "Treasurer's Report" at the old Majestic hotel in New York years ago. I went with Alexander Woollcott. It was a newspaper shindig. Bob knew they'd call on him to say something, so just before he got up to speak he discovered a piece of paper with a lot of figures on it in his pocket. He was working for the old Life magazine then, and the figures were a list of contributions made to its Fresh Air fund. Well, when Bob started speaking and ran out of gas, he started to read those figures. And ever since, when he's out on a limb while speechmaking, he falls back on a list of figures he has carefully put in his vest pocket ahead of time. That's how Bob's acting career started.

Memories

It took Travis Banton to swing Deanna Durbin back into ginghams after her sophisticated go. Her hair's also back to its natural color in "Because of Him." Charles Laughton plays an actor in this one. I don't know any one who can do like justice to such a part. . . . The heat wave floored Merle Oberon, who had to be revived in the studio hospital while husband-cameraman Lucien Ballard wilted and Charles Korvin held damp handkerchiefs to his face to keep it from running off. The picture's called "As It Was Before." Moaned Merle, "It was never like this before." And hot weather in the deep south plus a vacation to Manhattan took 25 pounds off Dick Haymes, who has a month to fatten up before retakes are made on his last picture.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Models Come High

A charming French couple, now in Chicago, told Elizabeth Greenleaf a story that may be relished by white collar girl models now displaying career girl fashions in our shops. The tale concerns a sheik, or pasha, who was shown about the couturiers in Paris while beautiful mannequins modeled expensive gowns for his party. The pasha grew exceedingly enthusiastic about one number and did not seem in the least perturbed by the fantastic price. However, when ready to leave, after making his purchase, he created something of a disturbance. He had thought the exorbitant price included the gown and the mannequin. It took a heap of explaining on the part of the manager.

Word Study

Let's do something about "infer" and "imply."

Webster says that "imply" means to express indirectly, to suggest, to hint; while "infer" means to conclude from facts. You imply something in a statement you make, but you infer an idea from a statement some one else makes. The distinction is comparable, in some ways, to the words "teach" and "learn" but is not nearly so well understood by white collar folk generally. Webster recognizes this by stating that "infer" is loosely and erroneously used to mean "to imply."

Forever Blowing Bubbles

After beginning to wonder whether I actually saw soap bubbles sailing away from the 333 building, or whether the look in the eyes of the people to whom I described the sight was justified, it was a relief to read a paragraph from the 333 Girls last week. Definitely they were soap bubbles and pretty ones! But who, pray, took to blowing bubbles out an office window, and where, pray, did they get the soap?

Solid Advice: Thank Friends for Good Time

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune].

Many a high school fellow, otherwise a smooth young character who remembers all the rules about opening car doors and helping a girl on with her coat, forgets occasionally to say thank you, thus being dubbed a crude dude and dropped low on the list of dateable young males.

And more than once a gal, a sweet young thing all 'round, finds herself dismal and dateless because she neglects to make with the gratitudes when some one has done something for her.

It takes only a moment for a quick smile and thank you, whether it's for a gift from your Aunt Susie, an evening of records and cokes at some one's home, or just to the fellow behind you in history who picked up the pencil you dropped, and you'd be surprised at the results. People begin to do things for you more often and are happier about doing them.

So whether it's after an evening of a movie and milk shake or a bright lights affair with dancing and name band, thank the fellow, gal—he had fun, but so did you, so why not let him know it. And after a party, formal or informal, a dinner party with all the trimmings or an after school jam session, make it a point to tell the host or hostess how much you enjoyed it.

And if you've spent the week-end at some one's home, the first thing to do when you get home again, almost before you unpack your bag, is to send off a bread and butter note to your hostess to thank her for the fine time you had. It needn't be long, it needn't be formal, just a short letter to say how much you enjoyed the week-end and to thank her for having invited you. The important thing is to write—for even a note scrawled on brown wrapping paper is better than nothing at all.

These rules apply to boys and girls alike—it isn't true at all that broad shoulders and courtesy, manners and brawn don't mix. Why, even Johnny Weismuller takes time out to be polite.

Style Show Planned at Hospital Service Benefit Luncheon

Twenty-five models will present new fall fashions in a style show of the American Camp and Hospital service at a luncheon today in the Colony club. Proceeds from the show will be used to continue post-war work of the organization, which has provided entertainment at service camps and hospitals during the war.

About 400 club women are expected to attend the review, in which Marguerite Haines, recently crowned "Queen of Lake Michigan," will be the only professional model. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Louis Green, president of the Service club.

The bulk of the funds will be used to establish permanent post-war club rooms at Gardiner General hospital and Great Lakes.

U. of Illinois Obtains Rare Volume of First Folio of Shakespeare

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 27 (AP)—Purchase of a collection of Shakespeare's works published seven years after his death was announced today by the University of Illinois.

The volume, formerly in the library of the late A. Edward Newton of Philadelphia, is one of only two perfect copies of the first folio of Shakespeare that remained in private hands, the university said. Collected in it are all the writer's comedies and tragedies known at the time, 1623.

Librarians described the work as important for comparison with later editions and for checking to find the true text. The university has copies of each of three other collections of Shakespeare's works published within the first 50 years after his death, as well as all other principal editions up to the present.

Thru the Looking Glass

A bottle of one of our very favorite fragrances made its way to this desk recently. We welcomed it as a harbinger of fall and as the signal to switch to scents to wear with heavier clothing. It's one of those things that make the passing of the lazy summer days a little easier to take, and it injects a note of anticipation for the crisp days ahead.

The fragrance was created especially for wear with tweeds and has an affinity for wool which makes it lose nothing of its original beauty in the wearing. It is a kind of outdoorsy scent with an autumnal smokiness about it and has the nostalgic tang that is so characteristic of the season. For our money this is one of the most wearable of all fragrances. When you have it swirling about the person you can't help but feel all dressed up and crisp as a breeze. It's a bit romantic, has a smooth touch of sophistication, and is just right for all around wear.

For daytime there's a version not so strong as perfume yet a trifle heavier than ordinary cologne. This will carry you thru the daytime hours, and for evening it's available in straight perfume. Bath powder and sachet in the same lovely scent complete the ensemble.

The packaging of each item is exceptionally well done, with the daytime cologne contained in a pretty bottle topped with a wooden stopper of natural walnut.

A cologne for men is based on the same fragrance and makes an ideal after-shower rub down. Men like it and the definitely mannish look of it, done up with a leather covered, saddle stitched top.

Art Institute School to Put Students' Work on Display Thursday

The School of the Art Institute will open its annual exhibition of the work of students Thursday. Placed in the East wing galleries, the show will continue thru Sunday, Sept. 30.

More than 6,000 students were enrolled in all departments of the school for the 1944-45 season, the largest enrollment in 10 years. The extraordinary number has made possible an unusually comprehensive exhibition of painting, drawing, sculpture, lithography, ceramics, crafts, and industrial design.

Dean Hubert Ropp introduces a new note this year with an exhibit in the first gallery showing, by means of photographs, equipment, and related materials, the students at work in all departments. Among ceramics in the exhibition will be several experimental pieces finished with newly discovered glazes.

Husbands Like Affection, Too, Wives Advised

BY DORIS BLAKE

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I wonder if women haven't come to think of affection and terms of endearment as their sole monopoly. Theirs the right to complain when denied human attentions. I wonder if we as a body haven't come to think of men as the rightful dispensers or as unappreciative brutes if they don't dispense this cheer we talk so much about: The little bursts of affection, the unprompted hug or kiss, the whispered "dear" and "darling."

Anyway, among a great many women it is the common thing to think of father as the one to give and keep on giving this thing we talk about. That men can be, and are, just as hungry for the impromptu kiss, the cheery word, never occurs to them. Perhaps because men are not in the habit of voicing their complaints publicly.

Here's a case in point. It might be any number of husbands talking. Seth, we'll call him, is 47.

At 21 he married a girl, a good girl, a good housekeeper, and a good mother, as time proved. Three children were born and reared. The children are highly promising. The picture would seem to represent a successful married life, wouldn't it?

But Seth says: "Everything but the warmth of human affection has been my luck. How many times I have wished my wife would come to the door and give me a parting good-by, a hug, a kiss, a word even. Not even when I have striven to buy her something extra nice have I got more than a, to me, chilling 'thank you.' Maybe she cannot do it. It may not be in her. But that doesn't stop me from wishing for just an occasional return of my warm feeling. I'm not considering quitting or playing around with another woman, but I can well understand why it is mighty hard for a man to be true to a woman who spurns his little demonstrations."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 spade	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

In playing a suit contract, declarer's choice frequently lies between obtaining ruffs in dummy and establishing a side suit that dummy may possess. Which to do is not always clear and the exercise of good judgment is required in making the decision. Similarly, the opposition may have a choice of defenses to put up against declarer. The defense may consist of getting dummy's trumps out to prevent ruffs, or preventing the establishment of the side suit by driving out the dummy's entries. If you think declarer plans to ruff in dummy, by all means lead trumps. If dummy has a side suit that looks menacing, attack the dummy's entries as quickly as possible.

An interesting variation occurred in today's hand. West's bidding was overambitious but would have paid handsome dividends had South's defense been anything but perfect. The king of clubs was led and South was disappointed to see the ace of trumps in dummy. This would seem to allow him only one trick each in clubs, diamonds, and spades, since it was probable that East had good diamonds for his side strength. Unless the king of trumps could be developed into a winner the case was hopeless. There was only one chance and that was for North to have the queen of clubs. South therefore continued with a small club and declarer was obliged to ruff in dummy. A small spade was led to the jack. South won with the ace and led another club. This had to be ruffed in dummy and South was assured of making his king of trumps. Two diamond discards were obtained on the king and queen of spades, but that was not enough and declarer was still obliged to lose to the king.

'This Nettle Danger'

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1945: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS: In the feud between homesteaders and cattlemen Bruce Sherrill, leader of the homesteaders, is wounded. Trapped, he rides to the ranch of Cliff Applegate, his chief enemy. Linda Applegate hides him because he is wounded. When Linda and her father tell Jeff Randall what they have done, Cliff and Jeff quarrel bitterly. A former Rough Rider, Bruce goes to Washington and gets the President's promise to investigate the feud. After a quarrel with his father Ben Randall visits the Applegates. He suspects Linda has more than a humane interest in Bruce. Two government men arrive. While Bruce is rounding up cattle a shot misses him. In self-defense he shoots Wally Jelks. Randall witnesses the shooting and reports it to the government men. To Linda and Ben, Rod admits Jelks got what he deserved. Linda flays him for his unfairness, and Rod realizes she is too independent to be his wife. Jeff conspires with Cairns for a frame-up raid. Bruce persuades Sheriff Humphreys that Cairns could have planned the raid to prejudice the government men against the homesteaders. Fearing Flack may talk under pressure, Jeff pays Milroy to kill him. Flack's diary shows he was paid by Randall for spying. The government orders all fences inclosing government land taken down. Linda is spied upon by Cairns when she is bathing in a swimming hole. Her brother rescues her and beats up Cairns. Cliff adds a lashing. Jeff suggests to Cairns to hit Linda thru Bruce, with whom she is in love. There's a rumor Humphreys has found a witness to Flack's murder. Posing as his deputy, Tepley makes a tour of inspection with Humphreys. Word gets around that Tepley is the witness. Bruce fears for their safety, and is joined by Cliff in an attempt to warn them.

SIGNAL GIVEN

Humphreys gave his pseudo-deputy instructions as they came down the hill to the Diamond Tail ranch house. "Listen, Sim," he said. "If the killer is either of the fellows I think it is, he is too dangerous to arrest here. I wouldn't get away with it. One in particular is a notorious bad man, a dead shot and chain lightning on the draw. Don't let him know you have ever seen him before. I'll get him to town somehow and arrest him there. You can let me know he's the one we want by giving that bandana 'round your neck a pull to straighten it."

The moment Jeff Randall saw them the bleached blue eyes in the weathered face narrowed warily. Not an hour earlier a messenger had reached him with a story confirming what Rod had been told.

Quint Milroy was out in the big pasture helping to drive home a bunch of calves. It was very important this Tepley should not meet him.

"Have to excuse me just a minute, Humphreys," the cattle man said. "I got to tell one of my boys how to fix up a horse got cut by barb wire. Be back in a minute. Make yoreselves at home."

The sheriff was suspicious of this explanation, but he could see no ground for his mistrust, even when he saw thru the window the old man talking with Cairns.

Randall rejoined them and suggested a drink. Humphreys declined.

From his seat the sheriff saw Cairns ride out of the yard and wondered where he was going.

They discussed the fencing order.

"Mine stay up," the cattleman announced bluntly.

"Afraid you'll have trouble," Humphreys commented. "I think the President has his dander up and means to go thru."

The door opened and Quint Milroy walked into the room.

"Didn't you see Bill?" Randall asked sharply.

"No. Is he looking for me? He swung across the pasture to pick up the mail as I came back."

Tepley was busy adjusting the bandanna around his throat.

The sheriff said: "Quint, meet Sim Tepley. Sim, this is Mr. Quint Milroy."

Taken by surprise, the cowboy stared at the newcomer unhappily. It was disturbing to discover that the man whom his testimony might send to the gallows was the most notorious gunman in the northwest. He made a gesture as if to step forward and shake hands, but Milroy did not meet the advance.

"Tepley is the sheriff's new deputy," Randall explained.

With the still hard eyed wariness that distinguished him, Milroy looked the young man over. Tepley was probably only a cipher in his life, but since he was a law officer he was worth attention. It amused him to see how the mere mention of his name had startled the young fellow. His reputation inspired awe.

"New in this neighborhood, aren't you?" Randall asked Tepley.

The young man said he was, and privately thought it would be a good one to leave. He added that he had been working on the 3 D ranch near Miles City, Mont.

"But you thought you'd rather come here and be a deputy sheriff," the old man suggested.

"Well, it wasn't quite thataway," Tepley answered. "When I got to Redrock I was riding the chuck line. I happened to meet Mr. Humphreys and he took me on for a tryout."

"I see." The old man rubbed his unshaven chin with his hand. "And do you like being a man hunter?"

The sheriff smiled. "That's a kind of big word, Jeff, for a little job. Nine-tenths of a sheriff's work is just routine. I brought Sim along on this jaunt so he could get the hang of it."

Randall tittered. "Not to get the hang on some one here, I hope."

Humphreys laughed obligingly at the pun. "Well, I reckon we better be drifting, Sim," he said.

The cattleman had other ideas. "You're going to stay for dinner," he announced flatly.

This left the sheriff no choice. The custom of the ranch country was that anybody dropping in before a meal stayed to eat.

While Milroy and the two guests were washing for dinner a half hour later, using the tin basin on a bench outside the house, Cairns came into the yard at a road gait. Before he could say a word Jeff called him sharply to the porch.

Cairns gobbled his dinner fast and left. A few minutes later Milroy also departed. Humphreys felt a bell of danger ringing in him. It was time to get away from here.

While the sheriff and his companion saddled they saw nothing of Cairns and Milroy. Over a hill trail Rod dropped down to the ranch. The presence of the departing guests surprised him. He exchanged greetings with Humphreys and took a long look at Tepley.

"Tim's new deputy," Jeff explained. "Just giving their ponies a workout."

Rod did not answer. His eyes had shifted to the road that ran down from the ridge. Two riders were descending it.

"Looks like Uncle Cliff," he said. "And the man with him is that fellow Sherrill."

"Sherrill. What's he doing here?" Old Jeff's voice held anger.

The riders drew up at the porch.

"Nice to see you again, Cliff," Jeff snapped ironically. "I see you brought a friend with you."

"No friend of mine," Applegate dissented. "He had a little business with the sheriff, and I thought maybe I'd better come along."

Jeff exploded. "Don't bring yore private business here unless you want yore head shot off."

The sheriff interposed. "We're just leaving, Bruce. Unless you want to stay you can ride with us."

"That will suit me fine," Bruce said.

"It will suit us, too," Rod added.

Jeff was searching for the reason for this visit and the effect it might have on plans he had made. His brother-in-law and Sherrill had come, of course, to help the sheriff in case any protection was needed. Word must have reached them that Tepley had seen the killer of Flack, and they believed that the murderer was connected with the Diamond Tail outfit. It pleased Jeff to have Sherrill ride back with Humphreys. Given good luck, the men lying in wait for Tepley would get him too. But he did not want Applegate to be one of the party. If Cairns had a chance he would certainly shoot Cliff down too. That would be bad medicine.

OOH!—Domestic Crisis!

SUE WAS FURIOUS at Tom's coldness. But she was really to blame. As her doctor said, wives often risk married happiness by careless, "now-and-then" feminine hygiene methods. He advised using Lysol disinfectant for douching —always. Cleanses thoroughly. Deodorizes. A proved germ-killer—far more dependable than salt, soda, or other homemade solutions. Yet so gentle for douching, it won't harm sensitive vaginal tissues—just follow easy directions. More women use Lysol for feminine hygiene than any other method. Try it.
For Feminine Hygiene use Lysol—always

Peaches, peaches, peaches! Can you remember another summer when there were so many around? Midwestern peaches are rolling to market now, and some are coming from California. There's still time to can this luscious fruit, with or without sugar, and, glory be, there's many a cobbler, salad and bowl of peaches and cream remaining to be enjoyed in this peachiest of summers.

Peaches are best eaten raw, but there's much to be said for broiled peach halves served with meat, baked peach puddings, and other desserts which call for cooking the golden-fleshed fruit.

Peaches may be sweetened with sirup for encasing in a pastry shell and serving as fresh peach pie. If your market has marshmallow cream, that also is a possible sweetener, and makes a fluffy, rich, and handsome dessert, as well. No need for a whipped cream topping there!

A ball of ice cream sandwiched between two large peach halves is a wonderful dessert, and may be made more colorful and exotic by the addition of a sprinkling of blueberries or a spoonful of strawberry preserve.

For salad, stuff a peach or a peach half with cottage cheese and serve on crisp greens with a rosy-toned dressing and perhaps a few nuts on top. Or arrange sliced peaches, dipped in lemon juice—so they won't discolor, with honeydew strips, watermelon balls, and seedless grapes on a chilled glass plate lined with leaf lettuce, and serve as salad with a honey French dressing in a separate bowl.

With sausage, ham, or almost any other meat, glazed peaches are delectable. Cut firm peaches in halves and heat gently in melted margarine until soft, turning to cook evenly. Then drizzle corn sirup or honey over them—just enough to glaze and sweeten slightly, and cook about four minutes longer. Serve hot with the meat—m-m-mm, very good indeed!

Sliced peaches on the breakfast cereal add more pleasure to the morning meal. Sliced peaches on waffles are grand, too, and have you ever tried them with your gingerbread mix? Slice the fruit into large custard cups, pour in gingerbread batter, bake, and serve warm for dessert.

If you have just a few peach halves and a little sirup left after canning, add a drop or so of almond flavoring, chill the peaches, and serve for dessert in one of two attractive ways: put a peach half pit side up in a dessert dish, top with whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk, and sprinkle with shaved chocolate; or sandwich sliced peaches between layers of sponge cake, drip the sirup over the cake, and serve topped with whipped cream, a bit of marshmallow fluff, or, best of all, a small scoop of vanilla ice cream.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Ivory Cream with Fruit
[Serves six]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 cup cream
¾ teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of cold milk. Dissolve in remaining ¾ cup of milk, scalded. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Add cold cream and vanilla and mix well. Pour mixture into a mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate and surround with a ring of sliced fruit or berries.

White House Seeks Approval to Continue Child Care Centers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—The White House said today that the administration will seek congressional authority to continue child care centers necessary to accommodate working wives of service men.

A statement said President Truman had asked Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the federal works agency, to present the matter to congress as soon as it reconvenes.

While appropriations made for this purpose were based on the understanding that such assistance would be terminated when women workers were no longer needed for war production, the statement said, "problems have arisen where local communities are not able immediately to continue needed centers without assistance. A typical situation is that in which mothers who are the wives of service men must continue to work until their husbands return from overseas."

Public Schools to Begin Use of Television

BY LARRY WOLTERS

The Chicago public school system will use television as an integral part of its educational program for the first time this fall. Starting about Sept. 17, the radio council of the board of education, in coöperation with television station WBKB, will present weekly telecasts. If the experimental programs prove successful the project will be expanded, George Jennings, director, said yesterday.

The first programs will be picked up on specially developed television receivers to be installed in the Goudy Elementary school and in one other school, yet to be selected.

A different subject will be covered each week. Experts in nature study, aviation, commercial art, wood working, home economics, zoölogy, and botany will be heard and seen illustrating their subjects.

Tho he knew for years that he was living on borrowed time, Don Norman got a lot out of life and he gave a lot to others. Many of his W-G-N and ABC radio followers who attended his funeral yesterday did not know that for years he had spent most of his hours in bed because of a heart ailment. He could not climb stairs and often suffered when in the studios. He never let it show, tho, and always wore a smile and had a bit of encouragement for others in need.

Jack Owens, the singer of the Breakfast Club and Tin Pan Alley of the Air, who has been ill all summer, has sent cards to his many radio friends that he expects to be back on the air in a couple of weeks.

attended the University of Chicago and later Lawrence college, from which she and Mr. Turley were graduated in 1942. Mr. Turley and his bride will go to Bainbridge, Md., where he will report for duty with the navy.

Engagement News

Lt. Col. John F. McVey of the marine corps [retired] and Mrs. McVey of San Diego, Cal., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Lt. John H. McAuliffe Jr. of the navy's civil engineer corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. McAuliffe of Oak Park. Miss McVey, a graduate of the Washington School for Secretaries, is a hospital staff recreation worker with the American Red Cross on Tinian Island in the Marianas. Lt. McAuliffe, who also is stationed on Tinian, is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame and took post-graduate work at Harvard university.

On the Calendar

The Lake Geneva Fresh Air association will give its annual bridge-tea for the benefit of Holiday Home today in the Lake Geneva Country club. Mrs. Frank C. Porter and Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell are co-chairmen of the party, assisted by Mrs. Robert Tarrant, president of the home, which is a summer camp for underprivileged children.

Members of the Lake Geneva Garden club will meet for the last time this season tomorrow in the Lake Geneva home of Mrs. Anthony Zulfer. Officers will be elected.

The sons and daughters of Knollwood club members will compete Sunday in the club pool in the final and championship swimming meet of the summer season.

Weddings

The marriage of Miss Eleanor I. Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Robinson of Beason, Ill., and Lt. Irwin A. Smith of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Smith of Harvey, Ill., took place at 6 p. m. last Saturday in the First Presbyterian church of Chicago. The bride, a graduate of the University of Illinois, serves as dietitian at the County hospital nurses' home and is a member of the choir of the First Presbyterian church. Lt. Smith has been with the army air forces more than three years and holds the air medal with three oak leaf clusters and the distinguished flying cross.

Announcement is made of the marriage Aug. 25 of Miss Mabel Massey, daughter of Mrs. J. J. Massey and the late Mr. Massey of Pleasant Hill, N. C., to Frank A. Nader Jr. of Chicago. The ceremony took place in Interlochen, Mich., with members of the National Music camp, where the bride is working and of which the bridegroom is a former staff member, present. The bridegroom, a graduate of Armour Institute of Technology, was attended by his father, the senior Mr. Nader of Chicago, as best man. Mr. Nader Jr. is stationed at Norfolk, Va., as an engineer under navy contract. His bride was graduated from the woman's college of the University of North Carolina.

SHIP DIVERTED FROM PACIFIC RETURNS 3,047

Heard Jap Surrender News at Sea

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—The navy transport General William F. Hase, diverted from the Pacific, arrived here today but without cheering troops swarming over her superstructure.

The 3,047 troops aboard were ordered below decks to debarking stations before the transport eased into her berth. The men were sent below to speed debarkation, it was explained.

Capt. M. L. Kelly, the Hase's skipper, said his ship had just cleared Marseille, France, Aug. 17, when he announced over her loud speaker: "The destination of this ship is New York City."

Rockford Man Aboard

Among those aboard the Hase was Sgt. Archie Bissel of 1026 S. 3d st., Rockford, Ill., who said: "We had read in Stars and Stripes there were to be no more direct shipments of troops to the Pacific. No wonder we blew the lid off when the captain told us we were coming home."

Bissell, a veteran of four years' service and a member of the 74th military police company, said he would take advantage of the GI bill of rights and go to college after leaving the service.

Other ships arriving today were the Exchange, also diverted from the Pacific, with 1,950 men, and the John Pillsbury, 719.

Today's Arrivals

The following army units are scheduled to arrive in the United States tomorrow from Europe:

AT NEW YORK—[Aboard Gen. Anderson] 3,311 troops diverted from the Pacific including the 176th and 199th general hospitals; the 3737th, 3738th, 4026th, 4027th, and 4028th quartermaster truck companies; headquarters and headquarters detachment of the 813th port battalion; 5860th, 5862d, 5885th, 588th, and 497th port companies; 3372d signal service battalion; 4332d and 4333d quartermaster service companies; 486th quartermaster refrigerator company; 880th quartermaster gas supply company; 223d ordnance heavy maintenance company; 968th ordnance heavy automotive maintenance company; 208th ordnance ammunition company, 839th ordnance depot company; 66th signal repair company and the sixth medical general dispensary. [Aboard Coaldale Victory] 1,980 troops diverted from the Pacific including casuals and an infantry division reorganized detachment. [Aboard Edgar Clarke] 55 miscellaneous troops. [Aboard Paine Wingate] 447 troops for reassignment. [Aboard Richard D. Lyons] 7 miscellaneous troops. [Aboard Exchange] due yesterday, 1,951 troops diverted from the Pacific including the 786th transportation corps base depot company; 241st and 257th military police companies; 64th field hospital; 135th evacuation hospital; 3140th, 4196th, 4206th quartermaster service companies; 259th signal heavy construction group; 436th transportation corps port company.

AT NEWPORT NEWS, VA.—[Aboard Gen. R. E. McRae], due yesterday, 3,125 troops diverted from the Pacific including 517th medical clearing company, 440th, 447th medical collecting company, 324th ordnance ammunition company, 841st quartermaster gas supply company, 844th, 3675th quartermaster truck company; 3668th, 3673d, 3674th quartermaster truck companies; 236th general hospital group; 287th quartermaster refrigerating company; 3139th, 3144th, and 4196th quartermaster service companies; 586th, 587th, and 627th port companies. [Aboard Dalton Victory] 5 miscellaneous troops.

6,000 Land at Boston

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27 (AP)—Four ships brought more than 6,000 troops home today from the European theater of operations, two of the vessels making port here after being diverted from courses which would have taken them to the Pacific. The Henry Gibbons, with 2,038 aboard, and the Gen. Scott with 3,084, were the ships diverted here from Pacific destinations.

35th Infantry Leaves France

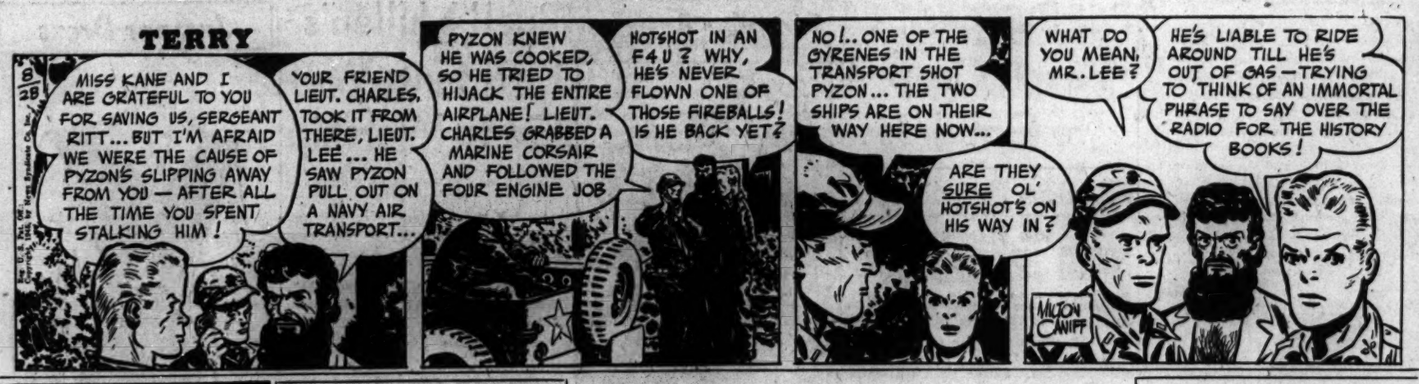

PARIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—The main body of the 35th infantry division was shuttling from Le Havre to England today for early shipment back to the United States. The 137th regiment sailed directly for America from the French port.

PLANE ON NEW FURLOUGH RUN REFUELS IN CITY

$10 AND RADIO TAKEN

Burglars entered the home of Joseph Kowalski, 1015 N. Ashland av., yesterday and stole $10 and a midget radio.

THE QUESTION

What is your idea of a successful person?

WHERE ASKED

185 N. Wabash building.

THE ANSWERS

Robert E. Clark, photographer, Summit, N. J.—I think success is doing the thing you want to do most and feeling an inner satisfaction that what you are doing is contributing to the world in general — be it small or large. The main thing is the pleasure that you derive from work, whether you make a lot of money or a little.

R. J. Novak, photographer, 1027 N. Avers av.—A successful person to my way of thinking would be a man who had enough money to get along on comfortably, a nice home, and a wife that he could be happy with. That's all I want, so I would say that being successful is obtaining the things you desire and being happy with them.

Joe Hecht, shipping clerk, 5635 S. Throop st.—What you know about yourself is your own opinion naturally and I don't think any one thinks he is a success. Therefore, I would say that if other people think you are successful then you are—just like a good book—if it's good people buy it. I'm a little bit confused.

Frankly,

Rhoda Arneson, secretary, 4043 School st.—You can't really say a person is successful unless he has accomplished something. Success to me has always been a goal that you reach for and if you are happy when you attain it you have complete success. If you aren't pleased with the results, that's not success.

Jane Drucker, assistant director, 1125 Mohawk rd., Wilmette—Fulfilment of one's aim and achieving happiness at the same time is truly success. I don't think any one is truly successful if he is not happy with a goal he has attained. He may appear to be successful to other people, but that is only superficial success.

Mrs. Carl Webster, housewife, Sheldon, Ill.—Success doesn't necessarily mean that you have become famous or are well known. It doesn't mean that you have a lot of money or a good education or a good job. I think persons can have all of these and yet be failures if they know they have not accomplished their aims.

PRESS FREEDOM HELD ESSENTIAL TO WORLD PEACE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27 (AP)—Maj. William F. Knowland, California's new junior senator, said today a free world press is essential to world peace.

—"The United States government can expedite the attainment of a free world press by not only giving lip service to the idea but, in our conferences and dealings with the other nations, making this goal a part of the agreements," Knowland told a press conference.

The 37-year-old major, a Republican, was appointed by Gov. Earl Warren to the post vacated by the recent death of Sen. Johnson [R., Cal.].

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

Aug. 27, 1945

FARMERS in Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa, with thousands of acres planted to corn, each day watch their thermometers and listen to the weather forecasts. The success of their corn crop, and consequently the amount of beef, pork, and fowl to be served on American dinner tables in the next 18 months, depends upon weather conditions during the next 45 days.

At the end of July Illinois farmers said favorable August weather, with hot days and nights interspersed with a few good rains, would insure a successful corn crop. The August weather has been only partially satisfactory. In all three states there has been plenty of rain, but the weather has been too cool for maximum development of the corn crop. Farmers in Kendall county, including the manager of the Fox River farm, believe their corn is at least two weeks behind normal development, and some farmers believe their fields are three weeks behind schedule.

Hope to Escape Frost

Kendall county farmers now are hoping that in the next 20 days they get no more rain, warmer weather, drying winds, and no frost. The manager of the Fox River farm believes his corn will mature and provide a heavy yield if those conditions occur. All his corn [480 acres] was planted before the end of May, and if the weather is ideal between now and Sept. 15 he believes his corn will be safe. Cool, wet weather, with an early frost, could be disastrous.

The date of the first killing frost is the most important factor in this year's middle western corn yield. The earliest killing frost in the records of the Chicago weather bureau is Sept. 26, the latest Nov. 24, and the average date of killing frost in this area is Oct. 26.

If an early frost should affect the corn crop before the kernels mature, the farm manager has plans for handling the crop. The 80-foot silo will hold ensilage cut from 40 acres, and a smaller silo will hold the corn from 12 other acres. The rest of the crop would be shocked and later fed to the cattle after being sent thru a roughage mill or ensilage chopper.

Dry in Other States

Corn prospects are much the same in Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa, but in other middle western states the crop needs rain. In Kansas the weather has been abnormally hot and dry, with corn leaves firing in some sections. Counties in the southern one-third of Ohio need rain, and the same need exists in the southern half of Missouri and the central counties of Nebraska.

★ The GARDEN ★

[This is the second of a series of articles on autumn reseeding of lawns.]

IN starting a new lawn, or reseeding thin stands of grass or weed-infested areas of old lawns, complete spading is recommended as the first step. The spading and raking of such areas is identical to those practices in a vegetable or flower garden, except that deep spading is not necessary.

Only four to six inches of soil need be turned for a lawn area, then the soil should be thoroly raked to create a fine seedbed. If the ground has a high clay content, a better seedbed can be created by mixing one part of peat moss into three parts of soil for the seedbed surface.

After the soil has been spaded and raked, it is important that the soil surface be made as level as possible. Low spots are easily detected by rolling the surface with a lightweight lawn roller. These low areas should be filled, and then the entire surface should be lightly raked before seeding.

REPUDIATE 'WAR IS NORMAL' IDEA, CATHOLICS TOLD

The nazi-fascist theory that war is the normal condition of society should be emphatically repudiated, the Rev. Robert A. Graham, S. J., of New York, yesterday told the Summer School of Catholic Action meeting this week in the Morrison hotel. Untold damage can be done if prophets continue to predict the worst, when courage is sorely needed, by saying that wars are inevitable and therefore all efforts of the United Nations will fail, he said.

"To say that human civilization requires that every so often our whole world must be mobilized into a vast war machine, with all spiritual and material values sacrificed, is an insult to the intelligence and moral standards of our civilization," Father Graham said.

The Rev. Daniel A. Lord, who for 10 years has directed the S. S. C. A. in Chicago, is unable to attend this year because of illness. The Rev. J. Roger Lyons of St. Louis, Mo., associate director who heads the staff of 22 lecturers, read a message from Father Lord.

MAIL BARRAGE DEMANDS EARLY RELEASE OF GIs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27—Congressional mail clerks are staggering under the load of letters addressed to senators and congressmen from soldiers and sailors, their parents, and their employers demanding speedy discharges for the service men, a survey showed today.

Estimates on the numbers of letters being received daily by members of congress range from a few dozen to 200 coming to senators from such populous states as New York and Illinois.

All except a few of the letters are written by or on behalf of members of the army, secretaries in congressional offices said. Letters from men in the ranks outnumber those from officers 10 to one, it was said.

WAR WORKERS OUT OF JOBS PUT AT TWO MILLION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Robert C. Goodwin, director of the United States employment service, estimated today that nearly 2 million war workers have lost their jobs since Japan surrendered.

Goodwin based his stimate on telegraphic reports from the chief labor markets.

"Among areas most seriously affected," he said in a radio broadcast, "have been Detroit, Mich., Chicago, Los Angeles, Cal., San Francisco, Cal., and Newark, N. J., layoffs in each of these areas have totaled more than 50,000."

FLYER LOSES ADULTERY CASE AGAINST WIFE

Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty yesterday dismissed adultery charges against Mrs. Geraldine Kuczora, 25, of 1200 Sherwin av., and Rodney Johnson, 30, of 5337 N. Clark st., a discharged soldier. The charges were brought by Sgt. Irvin A. Kuczora, 25, an aerial gunner, whose suit for divorce is pending in Superior court. Neighbors of Mrs. Kuczora testified to seeing Johnson's car parked in front of her apartment all night on several occasions. Johnson's brother, Robert, with whom he resides, testified that Johnson had never spent a night away from home. Judge Dougherty held the evidence was insufficient to confirm the charges.

WOUNDED YANK PICKETS BILBO'S CAPITAL OFFICE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 [Special]—A man who identified himself as Edward Bykowski of New York, discharged pharmacist's mate wounded on a ship in the Pacific, today picketed the senate office building in protest against statements by Sen. Bilbo [D., Miss.] regarding minorities.

He claimed Bilbo had asserted that virtually all nationalities, "in fact, any one but Bilbo, is undesirable." The senator, he contended, has "abrogated everything that veterans have died for, suffered the agonies of hell for."

HOSPITALS FULL, ILL VETS PUT IN ARIZONA JAIL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 [Special]—Arizona is so overcrowded with World War II. veterans in need of hospitalization that men who are ill have had to be placed in the Phoenix jail and in hospitals for the insane while others are living in tents and trailers on the Arizona desert.

Such conditions resulting from the veterans' hospital situation in Arizona were made known here today by a delegation from that state which will meet tomorrow with President Truman and Gen. Bradley, veterans' administrator, to urge establishment of a 3,000 bed veterans' hospital near Phoenix.

Maj. Marvin Smith, chairman of the delegation of 25, explained in an interview that Arizona has two veterans' hospitals—in Prescott and Tucson—with a total bed capacity of 810, and that both are filled to overflowing.

No Other Place for Them

"It has been necessary," he said, "to care for a number of veterans in the state asylum, which is no place for them. Some are even cared for temporarily in the Phoenix jail when they are sick because there is no other place for them."

He said the Arizona situation has been made especially serious by the increasing number of veterans from other states who are coming there for their health.

Rep. Harless [D., Ariz.] said it was the "immigrant veterans," those from other states, who are living in tents and trailers on the desert trying to regain their health.

Calls Situation Bad

"I have seen them myself," he said. "It is a very bad situation."

Members of the delegation, which represented several cities in Maricopa county, veterans' organizations and other bodies, estimated that 150,000 veterans would settle in Arizona—about three times the number that went to war from that state—and that 65 per cent of these will go to Maricopa county.

The Iowa Poll

INCREASED FAVOR SHOWN FOR HIGHER MINIMUM WAGES

DES MOINES, IOWA—Six out of ten Iowans favor revision of the wages and hours act upward from the present 40 cents per hour minimum, but divide on the amount of the increase, THE IOWA POLL finds.

Also, 41% expressed belief that increases are desirable as a depression retardant, contrasted with 22%, of the same opinion, Sept. 24, 1944—an up of 19%.

Diverging Opinions

Iowans were asked: "Under the national wages and hour law, 40 cents per hour is now the lowest legal wage. Some say this needs changing. Which one of the following represents your opinion?"

(a) Increase the minimum from 40 to 65 cents.
(b) Increase the minimum from 40 to 50 cents.
(c) Leave at 40 cents.
(d) Do away with the 40 cents per hour minimum.

SAILOR MISSING FOR TWO YEARS DECLARED DEAD

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR H. LANDT of 3711 Odell av. were notified yesterday that their son, Herbert, 25, a fireman 2d class in the navy, missing since July 13, 1943, has been officially declared dead. He was on the destroyer Gwin, which was damaged by a Japanese torpedo in Kula gulf, off New Georgia Island, and later sunk by American gunfire. He is survived by a brother, Rodney, and a sister, Virginia, besides his parents.

LT. DAVID J. NELSON, 24 year old pilot of a B-17 Flying Fortress, is presumed by the war department to be dead, his mother, Mrs. D. J. Nelson of 1417 E. 67th pl., has been notified. He was reported earlier to be missing on a bombing mission near Caen, France, on Aug. 8, 1944. Lt. Nelson made approximately 20 missions over Europe and was awarded the air medal. He attended Tilden Technical High school and Hyde Park High school. He enlisted in the army air forces in August, 1942.

GRIMM BENCHES BILL NICHOLSON IN CUB SHAKEUP

Heinz Becker Gets Starting Berth

BY EDWARD BURNS

Bill Nicholson, the Cubs' long slumping slugger, will be riding the bench when the Cubs meet the Pirates in Pittsburgh tonight. If he does not get in the late innings it will be the first time he has been out of a Cub lineup since 1942, when he missed two games because of injuries.

BILL NICHOLSON

Manager Charley Grimm did not emphasize the benching of unhappy Nick. Charley simply announced a big shuffle and the great right fielder's name was not on the list. Nick will be replaced in right field by Capt. Phil Cavarretta, and Heinz Becker will return to first base, where he performed ably during Cavarretta's 13 game incapacity because of a shoulder injury.

Nicholson, who skipped the Cub spring training camp, nevertheless reported on opening day and played the season opener against the Cardinals. He scored the first Cub run of the National league season with a homer off Ted Wilks in his first time at bat. The run was vital because the Cubs won by a margin of only 3 to 2.

Led League in '43 and '44

Up till now Nick has played in every inning, tho it long has been apparent this season that he has lost his former fine sense of timing and other elements of slugging coördination.

The benched hero led the National league in 1943 and 1944 in both homers and runs. In 1943 he knocked 29 homers and drove in 128 runs. Last year he made 33 home runs, including four in a double header to set a league record, and drove in 122 runs. In 117 games this year Nick has hit only 10 homers. He has batted in 75 runs, a dozen or so on taps to the first baseman on which he was retired. He trails both Phil Cavarretta and Andy Pafko in RBI's. His batting average has been about 30 points under the team average, including pitchers. The number of runners he has left on bases did not become appalling until reflections anent the Cubs' unfinished losing streak of five straight, which brought about the shrinking of their lead over the Cards from 7½ games on Aug. 19 to 2½ games on Aug. 26.

Hack, 3b; Johnson, 2b; Becker, 1b; Cavarretta, rf; Pafko, cf; Lowrey, lf; Merullo, ss; Gillespie or Rice, c, and Borowy, p.

Night Record Not So Good

Hank Borowy, who was abandoned by his support in the Cardinal series and lost, 1 to 0, despite a three hit masterpiece, will try for better luck in tonight's affair.

Grimm's nonplussed proteges have no fear of the light's glare, but their record is not too good under the lamps. They have not won a single ton night game this year, their only nocturnal successes being in twi-

The Eyes of Youth

What the end of gas rationing won't produce!
Today down the street, all on the loose,
An ancient gig came churning along
With a horn that squawked like a hoot owl's song;
Folks turned to look at this equipage gay
With its rococo trim of a bygone day,
It promptly evoked some humorous chat,
"For the love o' Pete, now what was that?"

And I couldn't but think of a long ago year
When that very same gig was the first to appear
Along the streets of the olden town,
No target then for the curbstone clown;
With its shining brass with its shimmer and shine,
It was then very swank and 'on the line.'
Now its body prim with the top upon it
Looks for all the world like an old lady's bonnet.

Now tell me, can you, as we grow old
Do WE look as comic and out of the fold,
Do young eyes see us as wholly passe
As that quaint old wreck that I saw today? —Jazbo of Old Dubuque

Sudden Thoughts

Fashion is style that goes out of date as soon as it is adopted.—Rusty of Old Waterloo.

I've always admired the far-sightedness of the American business man. For example, in the last four years he has had hundreds of "Help wanted" signs painted. Now all he needs to do is add one word and go on using them for another four to ten years.—Berge.

Since none of the keen quips I have submitted in the last few weeks have appeared in the column, I've just been wondering, is Arch saving them as a surprise feature in the New Wake Book?—Al of Dorchester av.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27—Altho the White Sox labored strenuously enough tonight to produce a six run inning they weren't able to prevent the Browns from making a sweep of the five game series. The batch of six runs, four of them because of a full house homer by Oris Hockett, gave Ed Lopat a two run edge with three innings to go but he blew apart quickly and the champions proceeded to fix up an 8 to 7 success for themselves. And James Dykes, along with two of his lieutenants, was bounced again.

The fadeout of Lopat in the seventh just after being bolstered by the six run splurge hardly came as a surprise to the ladies' night crowd of 18,294. The Browns slapped him around freely enough to pile up 10 hits in six innings, a total the Sox reached when the Hockett homer knocked out Tex Shirley in the seventh. Then after three blows off Lopat in the home half Earl Caldwell was summoned but he yielded the hit that drove in the tying and winning runs.

Dykes Thinks It's a Plot

Mr. Dykes who has seen so much of the Messrs. Pipgras, Grieve, Weafer umpiring team that he thinks it's a plot, got himself tossed out for the second time in two days because he yelled from the bench about a strike called by Grieve in the seventh inning. This banishment had hardly taken effect before commotion broke loose on the field, ballplayers running in circles and the umpires seemingly doing the same. Eventually it was learned that Pipgras had ejected Coach Mule Haas and confined Coach Bing Miller to the bench. Grieve now is one up on his team members, he having banished Dykes twice to one each for the two others.

Altho kicked out twice while here Dykes at least scored a moral victory by getting results from his complaint to league headquarters about the Sox seldom seeing any umpires other than the trio present tonight. Messrs. Pipgras, Grieve, and Weafer were originally scheduled to reappear in Chicago tomorrow night, but revised orders will send only Weafer to Chicago to join up with Bill McGowan and Art Passarella. Pipgras and Grieve will remain here to team up with Eddie Rommel.

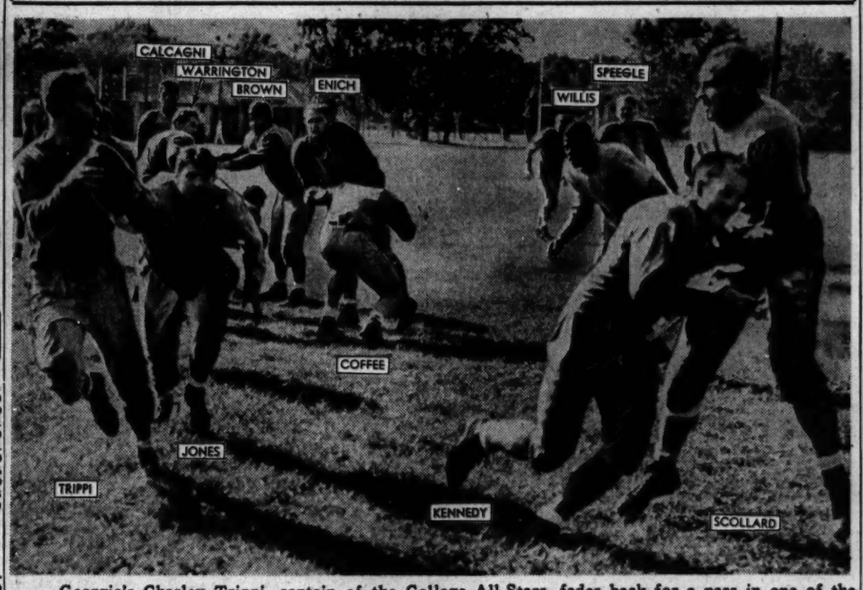

Browns Tally in Third

Two infield hits got Lopat into the mixup that led to the Browns' first run in the third. Don Gutteridge beat out a blow that Dan Reynolds captured in deep short and Lou Finney was given a hit on a pop fly that eluded Le Roy Schalk. After Milt Byrnes had been suppressed on a fly ball, Vern Stephens singled to right to score Gutteridge. The run in the fourth, however, was the result of some sound spanking of the Lopat southpawing. Gene Moore hit the right center field wall for a two bagger and Shirley scored him by lining a single into center.

For the first four innings the Sox attack was only good enough to get one runner as far as third base, but by scraping together two hits and a pass in the fifth they got a man the rest of the distance. Lopat sin-

PREVIEW OF A GREAT FOOTBALL SHOW

Georgia's Charley Trippi, captain of the College All-Stars, fades back for a pass in one of the Collegians' final workouts for the game with the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field Thursday night. Bob Kennedy of Washington State is blocking an opposing end—Nick Scollard of St. Joseph's college.

Twilight Tear to Return to Racing at Washington Today

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Twilight Tear, Calumet farm's "horse of the year" in 1944, which hasn't faced a barrier since she defeated Devil Diver and Megogo in last fall's Pimlico Special, will go to the post today at Washington Park in the $5,000 Escoba purse, a six furlong allowance event. Her opposition will consist of Fighting Don, Occupy, Sirius, and My Tet Rambler.

The great daughter of Bull Lea-Lady Lark was well on her way toward Top Flight's money winning record for fillies, $275,900, when she closed her 1944 campaign with a two year total of $202,165. Then came the government hiatus of four and a half months and Twilight Tear was ready to return to action when Churchill Downs opened in mid May. She suffered a hemorrhage during a workout and immediately was taken out of training.

Passed by Busher in Earnings

In the meantime, Louis B. Mayer's Busher and Brownell Combs' Durazna have been gathering major honors not only in the competition for fillies and mares but in the handicap division as well, and Busher's third place in the recent Beverly handicap carried her ahead of Twilight Tear in total earnings—$204,920.

If Twilight Tear goes well today, Trainer Ben Jones may decide to send her into the $20,000 Chicago handicap next Saturday. Tomorrow, however, Busher will have the opportunity of adding another $25,000 to her record in a match race with Durazna, a mile affair, winner take all.

Longden, Woolf to Be Aboard

The 3 year old Busher and the 4 year old Durazna will be in the hands of two of the smartest "money" riders in the country. Johnny Longden will ride the Mayer colorbearer, and Georgie Woolf will have the mount on Durazna.

Successful players of the daily double in the crowd of 17,000 yesterday were rewarded with a $258.80 return when Hyman Siegel's Ankylos, ridden by Otto Grohs, took the first race at $18.20 and, J. D. Weil's Miss Damion, with Billy Thompson up, won the second at $18.

Joe's Choice, a consistent performer in his two years of racing, won the featured fourth race, billed as the $3,500 Chalmers purse. The colt, owned by Leo J. Caillouette and ridden by George South, whipped the favored Woolford farm's Bull's Eye by two and one half lengths in the good time of 1:23 3-5 for seven furlongs.

The day's mutuel handle was $1,083,187.

Oak Park Nine Wins Tourney Battle, 2 to 1

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 27 [Special]—Little Herbie Adams, Oak Park, Ill., southpaw, pitched and batted his team to a 2 to 1 victory over Trenton, N. J. in the opening game of the American Legion junior world series before 4,500 tonight.

Adams' double sparked a two run Oak Park fifth inning rally after a triple by Lou Strzelec and a single by Jim Brophy had given the New Jersey team a one run lead in the third.

Altho in and out of trouble thruout, Adams fanned nine and was effective in the clinches. His rival, Righthander George Uyhazi yielded four hits and fanned seven. Two of the hits, bunched with an error in the fifth, decided the issue.

Shelby N. C. and Tucson, Ariz. play in the second game of the series tomorrow night.

COLLEGIANS AT PEAK FOR 12TH ANNUAL GAME

Plan Hour Session on Battle Site

BY WILFRID SMITH

This is the evening the All-Star football men hold dress rehearsal in Soldiers' field and then begin their tedious wait for the battle with the Green Bay Packers Thursday night. With all preparations completed, the All-Stars face 48 hours leisure, broken only by a class room discussion and a brief drill outdoors.

The All-Stars will leave their Northwestern university camp immediately after lunch Thursday for their headquarters in the Sherman hotel. By this time tomorrow the vanguard of Chicago's football guests will be here. With travel restrictions removed, there is no doubt but that a capacity throng of approximately 90,000 will jam Soldiers' field for the 12th game of the series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities. Tickets still are available, however, in the $1.20 sections.

They'll All Get New Uniforms

The All-Stars will receive their new uniforms tonight at Soldiers' field. Their drill will be routine, inasmuch as it is impossible to make it 100 per cent secret. After an hour's work under the lights, equipment will be stored and the squad will return to Evanston.

Yesterday's drills followed the usual pattern, altho there was no contact work. The squad met for a blackboard talk in the morning and then reported on the field after lunch. All phases of attack and defense were covered in review and emphasis on blocking assignments indicated the dissatisfaction of Coach Bernie Bierman and his aids with the performance in Saturday's game at Great Lakes.

While the All-Stars won, 35 to 0, from the inexperienced Bluejackets, the victory was achieved principally by forward passes. Only once did the All-Star attack move steadily along the ground and since Green Bay's line is far heavier and more experienced than that of the sailors there is no reason to believe that the collegians' rushing plays will be successful.

Trippi Will Be Ready

With Capt. Charley Trippi on the sidelines—he will be ready Thursday night, however—Perry Moss, Tom Harmon, and John Strzykalski sparked the All-Star attack. Moss, who led Tulsa last season as a freshman, completed eight consecutive passes before he failed to find a receiver, and two of these scored. Harmon also threw a touchdown pass and Strzykalski's passes in the last period accounted for the fourth and fifth touchdowns.

The latest report on Harmon, who was injured Saturday, is that the former Michigan half back will be able to play, altho he will not be in top condition. Incidentally, Harmon's 20 yard run around defensive lift end was the longest gain by rushing the All-Stars accomplished at Great Lakes.

Kickers Are Plentiful

These four players also will handle the kicking assignment and if further aid is required, Joe Renfroe of Tulane can be sent in to punt. Roman Bentz, former Tulane tackle, will kick off for the All-Stars.

Most cheering news from Trainer Carl Erickson's quarters was the report that Dick Barwegen, former Purdue guard, who was injured at Great Lakes, may be able to play a few minutes against Green Bay.

PACKERS DRILL UNDER LIGHTS; COACHES WORRY

BY EDWARD PRELL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 27—The Green Bay Packers tonight got into the All-Star mood by turning on the floodlights in City stadium, bordered by the East river, a somewhat remote comparison to Soldiers' field which is adjacent to Lake Michigan. And there weren't 90,000 people watching, as there will be Thursday night in the Chicago arena, but the professional champions got a psychological lift in the brilliant atmosphere.

Even so, there was little easing of the nervous state with which their coaches are approaching the game. This couldn't be an act because there are too many plainly etched factors working against the Packers.

First, they won't have the brilliant passing of Cecil Isbell, who sparked the 45 to 28 triumph in 1940, their last previous appearance in the All-Star series. The over-all picture is of a squad which isn't far enough along physically or mentally to play the type of game the Packers play, for instance, against the Chicago Bears.

Curly Holds Back Nothing

In a morning meeting in the Northland hotel, Curly Lambeau, the wily Green Bay coach, laid it on the line with his players.

"We're behind schedule," he told them. "Remember, this is like the Thursday before a Sunday ball game. You don't know your assignments well enough. We haven't come close to reaching the efficiency we will need to beat the All-Stars."

Then Lambeau yielded the floor to Sgt. Johnny Blood, the old Packer pass catching star, who sat in on the All-Stars' 35 to 0 victory scrimmage over Great Lakes last Saturday. The sergeant's report was little less than terrifying.

Johnny Praises Passers

"They threw so many passes," said Johnny, "that I thought I was watching the Packers. This is the best looking All-Star squad I've seen. I saw the 1937 team which beat Green Bay, 6 to 0, and the gang in 1938 which took the Washington Redskins, 28 to 16. This team has a lot of dangerous runners. Tom Harmon looked wonderful. He really convinced me he can go."

The professional elevens strive for perfection, which should be taken into consideration while perusing these gloomy reports. Perhaps Lambeau is comparing his team as of today to the one he hopes will bring a seventh world championship to this tidy little football minded city in the 1945 National league campaign. It could be that the Packers don't have to be at full strength to whip the All-Stars. At any rate it is certain that for the third straight year the pros will enjoy no runaway.

The Packers of 1940 began an era of superiority over the collegians with that 45 to 28 victory. In 1941 the Bears triumphed, 37 to 13, and followed with a 21 to 0 decision in 1942. This gave the pros a three year composite score of 103 to 41. In 1943 the All-Stars whipped the Redskins, 27 to 7. And last year the Bears had to rally to win, 24 to 21.

Discharged Ring Champions Must Defend Titles

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—The National Boxing association today unfroze the titles of all its championship boxers out of service.

This action, President Abe J. Greene said, places all champions out of the service on a competitive basis. Soon after Pearl Harbor the N. B. A. froze the titles of men in the service until the war's end.

Greene named Freddy [Red] Cochrane, welterweight; Manuel Ortiz, bantamweight; Sal Bartola, featherweight; and Ike Williams, lightweight, as the champions immediately affected. The heavier weight champions, Tony Zale, middleweight; Gus Lesnevich, light heavyweight, and Joe Louis, heavyweight, still are in uniform.

Last Call (and No Foolin'!)

That long anticipated battle between the College All-Stars and Green Bay Packers now is only two days away. (The time is Thursday night and the site Soldiers' field). So it behooves you to act at once if you want to see this No. 1 Sports Spectacle. Tickets still are on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and Tribune Tower. Price:

TRIPPI TO VISIT MOTHER AFTER ALL-STAR GAME

Tom Harmon to Rest in California Home

Charley Trippi of Georgia and Tom Harmon of Michigan, who are expected to lead the College All-Stars' passing and running attack against the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field Thursday night, will leave in different directions immediately after the game. Trippi will travel to Buffalo, N. Y., to visit his ailing mother before reporting to the 3d air force at Tampa, Fla., while Harmon will depart for the Pacific coast to "sit quietly in my house overlooking San Fernando valley."

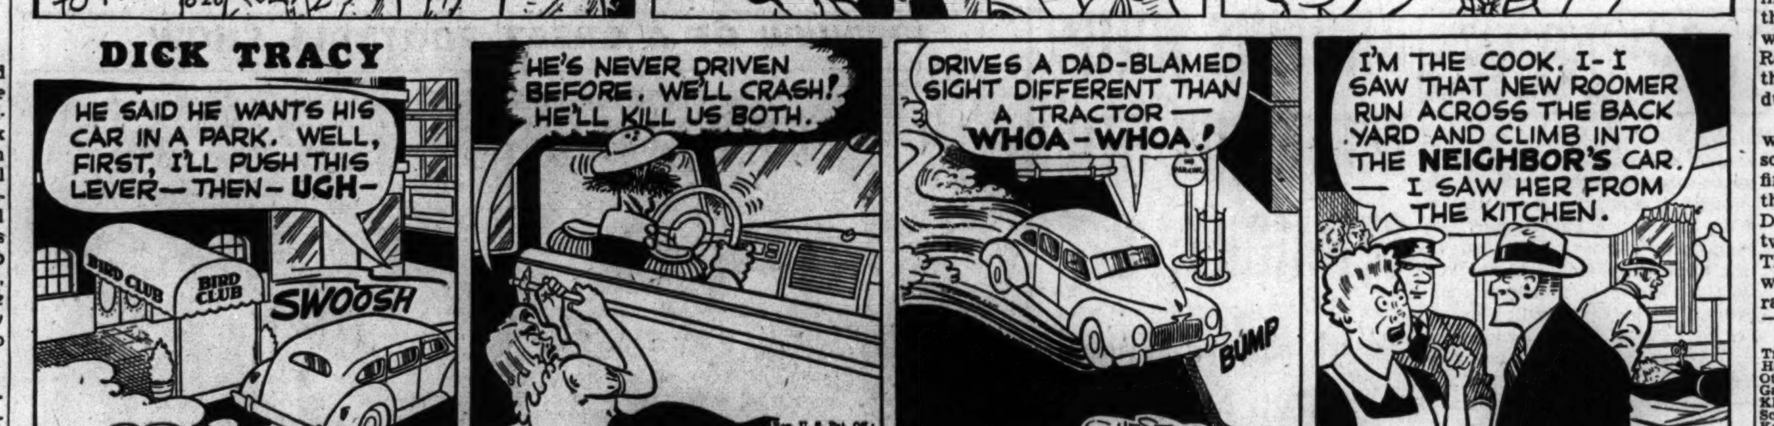

Wally Butts, University of Georgia football coach, visited the All-Star camp yesterday and remained for the afternoon drill. He was accompanied by Harvey Hester, owner of the Miami club of the All-America Football conference. Bert McGrane, Des Moines, Ia., Register sports writer, also watched the workout.

Billy Andrews, student manager of the All-Stars, yesterday was still bemoaning his .500 average in point after touchdown attempts against the Great Lakes Bluejackets last Saturday. Andrews, who was successful in one of his two tries against the Sailors, last fall kicked five extra points for Texas against Southwest conference teams. Billy also kicked two against Texas Christian and one against Texas A. and M. in 1943.

Ernie Bonelli, Pittsburgh right half back, will have his private rooting section at the game Thursday night. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bonelli of Blawnox, Pa., yesterday notified the star blocker that they will attend. Bonelli, a staff sergeant with the 3d air force, also has received word that he will be discharged immediately after his return to the Tampa base.

Head Coach Bernie Bierman will continue to maintain a busy schedule after the game. He will return to Minneapolis Friday and will attend a coaches' clinic in Superior, Wis., Saturday. His assistants—Ray Eliot of Illinois, Jim Lookabaugh of Oklahma A. and M., Jeff Cravath of Southern California, and Howie Odell of Yale—will depart for their schools to begin preparations for 1945 campaign.

All-Stars to Hold Final Drill Tonight

Barwegen's knee, with heat treatments, has improved considerably. Glen Burgeis of Tulsa is a probable substitute if Barwegen does not play.

Bob Kennedy and Walter Schlinkman apparently are leading in the battle for the starting full back position. Charles Mitchell, Tulsa, and William Meek, Tennessee, are the outstanding blocking backs. Ernie Bonelli, Pittsburgh; Edmond Shedlosky, Tulsa, and Don Greenwood, Illinois, are the leading wing backs.

To Introduce Team

Tonight's rehearsal in Soldiers' field will include the presentation of the starting All-Star eleven, a feature associated with the games since the inaugural in 1934. Two hundred musicians, directed by Ray Dvorak of Wisconsin, will entertain at the intermission. The band has held three rehearsals of their maneuvers at Northwestern university.

The All-Star squad attended the performance of "Dear Ruth" at the Harris theater last night.

NAVY TO PLACE WILLIAMS ON INACTIVE LIST

Lt. Comdr. Rollie Williams, athletic officer at the Great Lakes naval training station for the last nine months, soon will be placed on the inactive list.

The athletic public relations officer said yesterday Williams, on leave from the University of Iowa where he was basketball coach, will leave the station when a successor is named.

Skorich Pitches Maids to Triumph Over Queens

Pitcher Mary Skorich last night turned in a 6 to 2 victory for the Music Maids over the Queens in Hilburn stadium and the Chicks defeated the Bloomer Girls, 3 to 1, in Parichy stadium in the National Girls Softball league. Tonight the Queens and Maids battle in Rock-Ola stadium, 4200 N. Central av., and the Sparks play the Bluebirds in Bidwill stadium, 1900 E. 75th st. The league Thursday night will make its debut in Michigan City, Ind., with the Queens playing the Sparks a regular league game.

Open National Tennis Title Meet Today

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Two defending champions, Pauline Betz and Sgt. Frank Parker, both of Los Angeles, Cal., will start play in the 64th national singles tennis championship tournament in the Forest Hills stadium tomorrow, and the chances are they still will be around for the finals on Labor Day.

In recognition of her feat of winning the women's title three years in succession, Miss Betz will play the first match of the tourney against Betty Rosenquest of South Orange, N. J., a Rollins college [Fla.] student who recently graduated from the junior ranks.

Seeks to Equal Record

One of the most popular champions ever crowned at Forest Hills, Miss Betz is seeking to duplicate the string of four victories attained only by Helen Jacobs. Even Helen Wills and Alice Marble had to stop after three straight, altho Helen scored two "triples."

Parker, who first played in the national meet 14 years ago, will face Pfc. George Ball of El Paso, Tex., in tomorrow's second stadium match.

Altho Parker hasn't had any tournament tuneups this season, he has been playing against three former national champions, Lt. Don Budge, Lt. Don McNeill and Navy Specialist Bobby Riggs during a tour of the Pacific islands and he is in good trim.

Talbert Aims at 10 in Row

The principal opposition for the defending champions is expected to come from Bill Talbert of Wilmington, Del., winner of nine consecutive tourneys this summer, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, who has been almost as successful in the women's field.

HUNTER BEATS BILL PARSONS IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Chuck Hunter, Cleveland welterweight, won an eight round verdict over Bill Parsons of Danville last night in the Marigold Gardens. Altho Referee Frank Gilmer and Judges Harold Marovitz and Frank Clark voted Hunter a unanimous decision, the match was close.

Parsons went down for an eight count in the fourth round but came up fighting. The Danville welterweight put on a strong finish, scoring with rights and lefts frequently in the seventh and eighth rounds. Hunter had the edge by scoring consistently with left jabs thruout the fast contest.

A crowd of 2,390 paid $4,894 gross to see the show.

In the six round semi-windup, Bennie Droll, Peoria middleweight, won the decision over Mike Sopko, East Chicago, Ind., in a close bout.

BERKEY SIGNS CONTRACT AS DECATUR COACH

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 27 (AP)—Harrison Berkey, coach at Elkhart, Ind., High school the last 11 years, today signed a contract as head football coach at Decatur High school.

Berkey, who was graduated from Wabash college in 1929, starred in football at that school three years and coached West Lafayette, Ind., High school five years before going to Elkhart.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—A $4,313.90 daily double pay-off was registered at Belmont Park today.

Miss M. J. O'Leary's 2 year old Buddie Bones won the first race and returned $136.80 for $2. Mike Caffarella was in the saddle.

G. H. Bostwick's Junction City, with Joe Renick up, triumphed in the second at $20.40, $8.30, and $5.20 across the board.

The richest previous daily double pay-off on record is the $10,772.40 for $2 returned by the combination of Joy Bet and Merry Caroline at Washington Park, Chicago, on Aug. 14, 1939.

Twenty-three $2 tickets and one $10 combination were sold on the winning pair today.

Caddie Titles to Knollwood and Pat Rouse

Pat Rouse of Glen Flora won the individual title with a 54 hole score of 119 and a foursome of bag toters from Knollwood won the team championship in the Chicago District Golf association's annual golf title tournament for caddies yesterday at the Oak Park Country club. The team competition was decided at 18 holes and the Knollwood quartet, posting an aggregate of 330, included Harry Smith, 79; Joe Dodich, 81; Al Smith, 85, and Jack Charron, 85.

Caddies from 19 member clubs competed in the event. All contestants were under 18 years of age.

At the conclusion of the team competition, the 10 low scorers over 18 holes played an additional nine holes for the individual title. Four tied at 85 for the last qualifying berth, and Smith of Knollwood and Mike Gadzic of Hinsdale were eliminated in a play-off. Trailing Rouse in the individual competition, with 18 hole qualifying scores, scores for the last nine holes, and 54 hole aggregates listed in that order, were:

Ronnie Houdek, Glen Oak, 80—40—120; Joe Dodick, Knollwood, 81—43—124; Ike Ellison, Glen Oak, 83—42—125; Ken Weiler, Park Ridge, 83—43—126; Paul Snow, Bryn Mawr, 78—50—128; Jack Charron, Knollwood, 85—44—129; Rocky Comadeca' Olympia Fields, 85—48—133; Alec Grady, Ridge, 83—53—136; Harry Smith, Knollwood, 79—[disqualified].

Following Knollwood in the final team standings were:

MONARCHS LOSE TO AMERICAN GIANTS, 6 TO 5

The Chicago American Giants defeated the Kansas City Monarchs, 6 to 5, yesterday, in a twilight game in Comiskey park. Bill Wylie, second Kansas City pitcher, walked the winning run home for the Giants in the ninth inning. Score:

Kansas City	001	002	002—	5	8	2
Giants	013	100	001—	6	9	2

Batteries—Washington, Wylie and Haynes; Cornelius, Jessup and Dukes.

GIANTS WIN TWO FROM HELPLESS PHILLIES, 4-0, 6-2

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP) — The New York Giants swept a twilight night double header with the Philadelphia Phils tonight, 4 to 0 and 6 to 2.

Bill Voiselle pitched a three hit game in the opener. In the second inning the Giants slammed out three hits which, combined with a walk, netted three runs. Nap Reyes' base-clearing double climaxed the uprising. Three singles produced the other run in the fifth.

In the second game, Leon Treadway's triple in the third inning scored Ray Berres with the Giants' first run. They added two more on three hits in the fifth and chased Dick Mauney to cover with another two run outburst in the seventh. The Giants climaxed the evening's work with another three hit barrage and a run in the eighth. Score:

Browns Win 5th in a Row Over Sox, 8-7

gled, Wally Moses walked, and Schalk singled, Lopat scoring. The Browns replied to this slight burst in very emphatic fashion. In the home half Lopat had plunked Finney with a stray pitch Stephens arched his No. 19 homer into the left field seats, making the score 4 to 1. It went to 5 to 1 in the sixth on singles by Frank Mancuso, Gutteridge, and Finney.

Dykes and Aides Make Exit

Lopat's single with one out started the large sized plateward migration by the Sox in the seventh. A single by Moses and a pass to Farrell loaded the bases. Schalk's single drove in two of the guys, after which Curtright fanned, one of these strikes bringing about the dismissal of Dykes and his aides. Then Baker walked, reloading the bases, and Hockett soon unloaded them with his No. 2 homer, giving the Sox a 7 to 5 lead. But, unfortunately, the lead was shortlived.

Christman singled with one out in the home seventh, and it wasn't long before Lopat began getting ready for bed. Moore also singled, Christman going to third. He scored while Mancuso was forcing Moore. Len Schulte then singled for Sam Zoldak, who had relieved Shirley in the Sox half of the inning, Mancuso taking third. This was where Caldwell came in, his greeting being a single by George McQuinn, who batted for Gutteridge. The single was long enough to let Schulte follow Mancuso across the plate.

NAME OFFICIALS FOR ALL-STAR SOCCER GAME

Robert Jones and Fred Linstow, two of Chicago's leading soccer officials, have been named to officiate Sunday and Monday, when the King Edward team of Toronto, Canada, meets All-Star teams from the National Soccer league.

Sunday at 3 p. m. a team chosen from members of the Sparta, Slovaks, and Nacaxa, play the first game against the King Edward team in Sparta stadium, 21st st. and Kostner av. Monday in Winnemac park stadium, Foster av. and Leavitt st., the Canadians will oppose a team chosen from the Vikings, Hakoah Center, and Schwabens.

Cub Shakeup Puts Nicholson on Sidelines

light-night double headers, twice in Cincinnati, and once in Philadelphia. They have lost night matches twice in New York, twice in Brooklyn, and once each in Pittsburgh, St. Louis, and Philadelphia. They will play three night games on their present jaunt, the one tonight and in St. Louis next Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cubs have won eight while losing seven in competition with the Pirates this season. The last engagements between the teams were in Wrigley field on Aug. 1 and Aug. 2. Max Butcher beat the Cubs, 1 to 0, on Aug. 1 and the next day Paul Derringer beat the Pirates, 1 to 0.

The last time the Cubs were in Pittsburgh, June 12 to 14, the Pirates whipped them three straight to go into first place in the National league standings. Despite the Cubs' current losing streak now extended to five straight, the Cubs still are in first place. They have won nine more games than the Pirates and lost 17 fewer. The Pirates have played eight more games than the Cubs and are a game and a half out of the first division. They sharpened up for the Cubs by beating the Reds twice last Sunday, however. They will have Butcher, Roe, and Sewell, all poison to the Cubs, available for the series.

Yesterday the Cubs posed for world series pictures, then engaged in a batting practice. They departed for Pittsburgh in several detachments last night. All of the regulars are in good shape excepting Paul Gillespie, who has a bad knee, but who probably will catch at least one of the games in which a right handed pitcher is presented by the opposition.

The Cubs will arrive in St. Louis in time for the night game Friday. After the fill-in night game Saturday they will play the Cardinals in a double header on Sunday, then hie to Chicago for a Labor day engagement with the Reds. The lads will rest on Tuesday, Sept. 4, then open with the Giants in a double header on Sept. 5.

BOYS' NINES OF EAST, WEST TO BATTLE TONIGHT

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—George Fischer of Ogden, Utah, and Bill Glane of Detroit are the likely starting pitchers for the West and East teams, respectively, in the All-America boys' baseball game in the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

Babe Ruth, manager of the East aggregation, has been impressed with the work of the young Michigan hurler. Ty Cobb, manager of the Western aggregation, was noncommittal regarding a definite mound choice, but Fischer has looked the best of the hurlers from beyond the Mississippi river in the drills.

Probable lineups for the game that is expected to attract 30,000 are:

RETAILERS ASK OPA END PRICE SQUEEZE SOON

Warn Congress Aid Will Be Sought

The squeeze the office of price administration has been tightening on the country's merchants to cover higher costs for labor and raw materials without raising prices to consumers has "gone about as far as it can go," the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations asserted yesterday.

Joseph T. Meek, executive secretary, said the federation and other retail organizations will present to OPA in Washington, D. C., today a report containing documentary evidence of the squeeze to which they have been subjected since 1942. Should OPA fail to recognize the retail plea for relief, the federation intends to press for immediate action thru the Illinois congressional delegation, Meek said.

Will Take Story to Retailers

"Our plan is to take the actual presentation made to OPA by organized retailing into every congressional district in the state," he said. "We will provide retailers with the full story and urge them to get it to their congressmen at once. In other words, this issue is one that retailing cannot afford to lose. Neither, in our opinion, can any one who wants to get goods moved and jobs on the increase."

OPA's cost absorption theory is merely an attempt to make the storekeepers pay all the increased cost for encouraging civilian goods production, said the report, which will be presented to OPA in response to the agency's request last month for opinions from more than 40 representative merchants from all over the country.

The retailers said the squeeze began in 1942 when they were asked to absorb one general cost increase. Already in 1945 OPA has permitted 54 general increases in costs of merchandise. All but three of these the merchant had to pay out of his own pocket because he is forced to sell at war time ceilings.

Increases for Producers

Besides these general increases OPA this year has permitted 3,911 special price increases for individual manufacturers and processors, increases which also must be paid by the country's storekeepers, the report said. Thus far in 1945 such special reliefs already have totaled more than three times similar cost increases in 1942.

The case for the retailer was made public in a 100 page study prepared by Dr. Jules Backman of the New York university school of commerce, accounts and finance, and Martin R. Gainsbrugh, chief economist for the National Industrial Conference board. They were asked to study the effects of OPA's cost absorption principles on the retail industry by the group of merchants, who make up the OPA retail conversion pricing committee.

Answering the oft-repeated statement that retail merchants are making larger profits than ever before, the study said that 85 per cent of retailing's war time profits have resulted directly from savings in services that war time would not permit them to perform for customers, but services that retailers are expected, and already have begun, to resume.

Predicts Margins Will End

These are services that will provide many of the jobs for returning war veterans and aid reconversion, the study said. Thus most of the profit margin will cease to exist during the next year. The study also said the reported profits before taxes for retail corporations were substantially below the war time earnings of all other corporations. Corporate retail profits were more than one-fourth lower than those of manufacturing corporations.

"OPA's price control program for the transition period rests on a series of unwarranted assumptions," the report said. "Flexible control over prices of basic cost of living items might act as a brake upon runaway price rises. But the policy of rigidly controling almost all prices will impair the incentive to produce and thus adversely affect the number of jobs as well as the supply of civilian goods. A policy of rigid price control while wage increases are permitted or encouraged is doomed to failure."

SEC Permits Trial of Floor Trading Curb

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP)—The securities and exchange commission today announced it would withhold action at this time on its proposed prohibition of floor trading on the New York Stock and Curb exchanges and will permit the exchanges to "put into effect experimentally the rules which they have suggested."

Emil Schram, president of the stock exchange, said in New York the new rules relating to trading by members for their own account on the floor of the exchange would be put into effect Wednesday.

Await Self Rule Trial

Of the exchanges' proposed rule the SEC said "We are not convinced that it is impossible to devise measures more effective than these.

"Nevertheless we believe a prohibition of the kind proposed by our staff should not be imposed until the exchanges which now have recognized that floor trading gives rise to problems which require regulation more drastic than any heretofore attempted are given a reasonable opportunity to demonstrate whether it is feasible for them to eliminate the abuses which have been associated with floor trading in the past."

The exchanges' proposed rules, the commission said, would generally require floor traders who have acquired a position by purchasing stocks on a price rise or by selling on a decline to hold that position until the beginning of the second succeeding trading day.

They also would prohibit members on the floor from availing themselves of the privilege "of stopping" stocks except under order of another member.

Terminates Priority Privilege

The rules "would terminate the existing privilege of members on the floor, while acquiring a position in a security, of claiming priority over a public order at the same price, either by toss of a coin or by reason of the greater size of his order."

The commission said it is "satisfied that floor trading as now conducted gives an undue advantage to floor traders over the public; that frequently it accelerates market movement and accentuates fluctuations in particular securities or groups of securities and that more often than not it detracts from the stability of the market."

The SEC said it will continue to study the operation of floor trading during the trial period when exchange rules are in effect.

FIVE NATIONS ACCEPT U. S. ALTERNATIVE TO LEND-LEASE: CROWLEY

Washington D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley said today that Russia, China, France, Belgium, and Holland have indicated their willingness to "go along" with a United States credit program designed to continue the flow of goods formerly supplied thru lend-lease.

France, Belgium, and Holland already had agreed to the plan in their original lend-lease contracts and have renewed their pledges in recent conversations, he said in an interview.

Crowley estimated that when lend-lease officially ends on V-J-day, about 4½ billion dollars in goods will be stockpiled in the United States, in process of delivery and on contract. Half of this represents commodities destined for Britain.

Britain has not formally stated its position. Ambassador Halifax is en route here from London with a commission appointed by Prime Minister Attlee. They are expected to begin discussions next week.

The United States has proposed that any nation which participated in lend-lease can obtain its shipments provided it agrees to pay within 30 years at 2% per cent interest.

INVESTMENT BUYING PUSHES INDUSTRIAL STOCKS TO NEW PEAK

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Investment demand lifted industrial stocks to eight year peaks in today's market as peace time prosperity hopes inspired buyers.

Rising prices on sizable trading appeared at the start. Let-downs in activity and prices followed. Rails, indifferent most of the session, turned higher in the final half hour and leaders generally revived to finish at about their tops. Closing gains of fractions to two points or so were widespread with a few bigger gains. Transfers totaled 1,570,000 shares, largest since Aug. 10.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was up 0.9 at 66.8 against a year's high at 68.2. The industrial average rose 1.3 to 89.7, a top since Sept. 4, 1937.

Two stock exchange seats were sold for $67,000 and $68,000, a net increase of $8,000 over recent transactions.

RAIL LOANS HIGHER

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—An uneven advance of rail loans stood out in an otherwise narrow bond market today. Leaders advanced fractions to more than two points at one time, altho extreme gains were shaded before the close. Industrials and utilities, particularly higher priced issues, held steady along with treasury obligations.

CHICAGO STOCKS STRONG

Prices rose in a 56,000 share turnover yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, the largest trade since June 28. Ninety-nine issues of the 134 traded advanced and only 15 declined. Most active issues making fractional gains included Chicago corporation common, Admiral, Asbestos Manufacturing, Cities Service, and Gillette Safety Razor.

DAWES SPENDS 80TH BIRTHDAY AT DESK IN BANK

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, board chairman of City National Bank and Trust company and former vice president of the United States, observed his 80th birthday yesterday by putting in a full working day at his desk.

The only departure from his regular routine came at lunch time when a testimonial luncheon was given him at the bank by Philip J. Clarke, president. It was attended by close friends and business associates.

Gen. Dawes, a native of Marietta, O., was vice president from 1925 to 1929 and ambassador to England from 1929 to 1932. For services in World War I he was decorated by the United States, Italy, France, and Belgium.

Plan Home Furnishings Market for Next January

The winter home furnishings market will be held in the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart, probably Jan 7 thru 19, pending satisfactory arrangements with the office of defense transportation, officials of the two markets announced yesterday. Lawrence Whiting, president of the Furniture Mart, and John C. Goodall, general manager of the Merchandise Mart, said there was little possibility of a market in October and November.

21 More Firms Report Contract Cancellations

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP)—Twenty-one companies reported today to the securities and exchange commission war contract cancellations totaling $304,638,550, bringing to $8,482,247,358 the cancellations reported to date by 115 firms. Today's reports included Zenith Radio corporation, Chicago, $3,024,060; Domestic Industries, Chicago, $2,918,000; Sentinel Radio corporation, Evanston, $3,624,033.

Steel Makers Gear Industry to Peace Time

With a large number of war contracts canceled, the steel industry is gearing its production to large orders for peace time goods sought by railroads, public utilities, road builders, and others, an industry spokesman said yesterday.

The railroads last week placed orders for hundreds of freight cars, including hopper, box, and flat cars, and a Canadian exporting company is arranging for the production of 600 railroad cars of an undesignated type for shipment to Belgium.

Utilities' Orders Expected

The steel industry also expects large orders from public utility companies which were said to have an enormous expansion program for rural power distribution in the next three to five years. Current demand for the wire and other steel products needed by the utilities far exceeds the supply, it was said.

Another substantial outlet for steel is road construction. Large road programs are expected to absorb a big amount of concrete reenforcing materials. Altho mining enterprises are expected to buy less steel wire and related products than they did last year, oil well operators, industrial plants, electrical companies, and others are expected to maintain present demands or increase them.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, expects to increase production in the Chicago area by 10 per cent this week.

Declines Auto Steel Estimate

The industry spokesman said it was too early to say what effect would be felt from the war production board's abolition of its controled materials plan by Oct. 1. He also said it was impossible to forecast what amounts of steel would be available for the automobile industry which was released from all production controls last week.

Altho many prime contracts have been canceled since the end of the war, the volume was not as large as expected, the spokesman said.

BOWSER SALES FOR HALF YEAR SET NEW PEAK

Net sales of Bowser, Inc., Chicago gasoline pump manufacturer, and its subsidiaries, for the first half of this year were the highest of any six months' period in its history, R. Hosken Damon, president, said yesterday. Total sales were $22,662,900, compared with $11,572,338 a year earlier, an increase of 98 per cent.

Net income was $778,172, or $1.21 a share, against $198,287, or 41 cents a share for the first half of last year. The rise in earnings was caused largely by increased production efficiency and a larger number of shipments, he explained. Bowser recently purchased the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing company, Ontario, Canada, as part of an expansion program.

NAVY TO RETURN LORD FACILITIES TO OWNER SOON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Facilities of Lord Manufacturing company at Erie, Pa., seized last Oct. 25 in a pricing and profits dispute, will be returned to the owners on or soon after next Tuesday, the navy said tonight. The company makes anti-vibration devices for airplanes. Government owned tools and inventories will be made available to the company if it wishes to acquire them.

PRICE CONTROL BEST ACHIEVED IN COMPETITION

Cost Laxity of War Expected to Go

BY THOMAS FURLONG

Competitive fights are shaping up on the industrial horizon that promise to make discussions of government price regulation academic.

Manufacturers are confident that competition and mass production will give consumers greater price protection than any formula that can be written by the office of price administration staff.

Competition is a better governor of production costs than ceiling prices fixed by government order, as the war time experience has shown, manufacturers say. They point out that under war conditions when prices were regulated by government edict there has been a steady rise in production costs.

Controls Fail to Hold Prices

Costs have crept higher despite price control. In effect the government under war conditions has been guaranteeing a profit to manufacturers and some of the incentive to hold down costs has been lost. Under normal competitive conditions manufacturers must keep a tight control over costs to stay in business.

Among the industries in which severe competition is foreseen are the mechanical refrigerator and radio fields. The pre-war leaders in these industries have no intention of pricing their products so high that new competition will swarm into their field. There are scores of companies flushed with pride in the war production achievements ambitious to take on new products. They are potential competitors in any industry in which manufacturers adopt a high price policy.

General Electric company and other large manufacturers have made clear that they will adhere strictly to a policy of low prices and mass production. Economic necessity will enforce this policy in industry generally or the present day leaders will lose their markets to new manufacturers.

Some May Not Survive

A fierce competitive fight is ahead in the radio field. A number of manufacturing companies in Chicago who made communication equipment for the military services are plunging into production of civilian models on a greatly enlarged scale. Not all the companies are likely to survive. Those that do will be the companies that can control their costs and meet the severe competition that is in sight.

Under war conditions the main emphasis was on production, not costs. Early in the war period WPB Chairman Nelson sounded the keynote when he told manufacturers, "To hell with costs, give us the goods and we will argue later about costs." In effect all war production was on a cost plus basis. This is the reverse of competitive American business experience in which costs and prices have been reduced as increased production was attained.

Surplus Property Stocks Exceed 2½ Billion Dollars

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—Inventories of surplus property reached $2,517,349,000 at the end of July, the surplus property board reported today.

President Acts to Release Enemy Scientific Secrets

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—President Truman today laid the groundwork for American industry to capitalize on some of the enemy's scientific and industrial war secrets.

The President, in an executive order, placed under the jurisdiction of the war mobilization and reconversion board the release to American industry of information, including patents, seized from the enemy. The release of the information would be subject to requirements of national military security.

Hints of Technical Aid

Mr. Truman's order gave no details on the information now in possession of this country, but the office of war information in a report yesterday said some technological secrets combed from Germany by American and British scientific sleuths might "shortly make some American technical processes obsolete and outmoded."

The President said he wanted scientific and industrial information obtained from Germany and Japan to be "of maximum benefit to the public."

Policy of Free Use

"It is the policy of this government, subject to the requirements of national military security, that there shall be prompt, public, free, and general dissemination of enemy scientific and industrial information," he said.

"The expression, 'enemy scientific and industrial information' as used herein, is defined to comprise all information concerning scientific, industrial, and technological processes, inventions, methods, devices, improvements heretofore or hereafter obtained by any department or agency of this government in enemy countries regardless of its origin, or in liberated areas, if such information is of enemy origin or has been acquired or appropriated by the enemy."

People and Events

Albert M. Carter, of Murphysboro, Ill., former chief clerk in the Illinois secretary of state's office, yesterday became regional director of the Smaller War Plants corporation. He was sworn in by Judge Philip L. Sullivan of United States District court. Carter will direct the region including Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Iowa, serving 10,000 small manufacturing plants. George E. Hale, who has been acting regional director, will remain as deputy to Carter.

Albert M. Carter

Walter Hochuli, director of marketing and distribution for the petroleum administration for war since 1943, has resigned to return to the Texas company as general sales manager Sept. 1. Before becoming associated with the PAW, Hochuli was sales manager of the company's central territory with headquarters in Chicago.

The Refrigeration Equipment Manufacturers association has called a special meeting with government officials Oct. 15 thru Oct. 17 at Hot Springs, Va., to discuss immediate means of obtaining materials.

Robert R. Reno Jr., Chicago manager of the Equitable Life Assurance society, will celebrate 25 years with the company today at his agency's educational conference in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Dan J. Collins, assistant to the advertising director of La Salle Extension university, has been appointed executive secretary of the Chicago Federated Advertising club.

10 MILLION ASKED IN PATENT SUIT OVER GEAR SHIFT

Five Chicago men filed suit in federal District court yesterday asking 10 million dollars damages from Ford Motor company and two other companies for allegedly conspiring to infringe on patents on a gear shift mechanism. Besides Ford, the complaint named the Houde Engineering company, Buffalo N. Y., and its parent corporation, the Houdaille-Hershey corporation, Detroit, Mich.

The plaintiffs are Salvatore Cipulla, 521 N. Troy st., Frank Girardi, 720 N. Throop st., Joseph Burrescia, 1258 N. Kedzie av., Antonio Torretta, 411 S. Homan av., and Edward B. Dublin, 3222 W. Madison st.

Their complaint said that after their steering post gear shift had been rejected by Houde on May 15, 1939, a patent on an identical shift was issued in the name of John J. Wharan on Feb. 11, 1941, and assigned to Ford. Since that time, Ford has been manufacturing and selling the device, the suit charged.

BETHLEHEM JOB TOTAL WILL TOP PRE-WAR PEAK

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—War contract cancellations have affected 45,000 employes of Bethlehem Steel company, E. G. Grace, president, said today, but by Sept. 15 the company expects to stabilize employment at 160,000, a 60 per cent increase above the 1937 peace time peak of 100,000.

"Our biggest readjustment in employment preceded the end of the Jap war," Grace said. "The peak total was nearly 300,000 in the fall of 1943, but our force had dropped to 207,000 by July of this year. We are now returning to normal work schedules as rapidly as possible to provide maximum employment."

OTIS PROPOSES ACQUISITION OF PULLMAN UNIT

Acts in Conjunction with Alleghany

A proposal to purchase the sleeping car facilities of Pullman, Inc., made by Otis & Co., Cleveland, O., in association with a group of railroad financiers, was disclosed yesterday by Atty. Gen. Clark in Washington, D. C. The proposal later was submitted to the federal District court in Philadelphia, Pa.

Clark made public a letter from William R. Daley, Otis president, outlining the plan for the purchase by his firm, Robert R. Young, Allan P. Kirby, and other business men. The group promised to spend about 500 million dollars over a period of years in modernizing the sleeping car service.

Young is chairman and Kirby is president of Alleghany corporation, holder of the controling interest in Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and other subsidiaries.

Promises Thoro Study

George A. Kelly, vice president of Pullman company, said in Chicago that he expected the offer "to receive thoro consideration by the court and by Pullman management." He confirmed reports that Otis representatives previously had consulted with Pullman officials.

"In its proposal this business group commits itself to a vast expansion of the railway sleeping car service," Daley said. "The present obsolete fleet will be replaced with the most modern fleet of sleeping cars and observation cars that competitive engineering brains and manufacturing facilities can produce."

"Most of the present day Pullman cars look more like cattle cars," Young said. "They have Christmas tree lights, filthy carpets, and serv-

PLANS TO RETIRE DEBT DISCLOSED BY 3 COMPANIES

W. F. Hall Printing company of Chicago, Socony-Vacuum Oil company, and Reliance Manufacturing company yesterday announced plans for debt retirement.

Alfred B. Geiger, Hall president, said that on Oct. 1 a total of $350,000 of 10 year 2⅞ per cent sinking fund debentures will be called at 102 and accrued interest and $200,000 of the same issue will be retired thru operation of the sinking fund. This will free the company of all funded indebtedness for the first time in 36 years, he said.

Socony-Vacuum will retire at an unspecified date 64½ million dollars of 2⅞ per cent debentures. Redemption will be made thru use of company funds and a 10 year 50 million dollar bank loan with an average interest of 1.72 per cent.

Will Retire Preferred

On Nov. 1 Reliance will retire the $672,300 balance of the 2½ million dollars of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock issued in 1922 at $110 a share and accrued dividends.

The Morris Plan Corporation of America registered with the securities and exchange commission 937,500 shares of 10 cents par value common stock to be offered at $8 a share, or on an exchange basis by American General corporation. Proceeds would be used to retire securities and bank loans.

American Central Manufacturing company registered 142,154 shares of $1 par common to be offered at $16 a share.

A. T. & T. Registers Issue

American Telephone and Telegraph company filed a statement covering its previously announced refunding issue of 160 million dollars of 30 year 2¾ per cent debentures.

Wheeling and Lake Erie railway sought bids on a 6 million dollar issue of general and refunding mortgage bonds. Proceeds would be used to retire series E and F refunding mortgage bonds.

Murray Corporation of America on Sept. 17 will seek stockholder approval of its proposed issuance of 200,000 shares of $50 par cumulative preferred stock, and an increase in authorized common from 1 million to 1¾ million shares.

PACIFIC TIN

I wish information on Pacific Tin Consolidated corporation—L. P.

Pacific Tin Consolidated was especially hard hit by the war because all the mining properties of the company and subsidiaries were in Malaya, seized by the Japanese in December, 1941. Its tin production previously had ranged from 3 million to more than 6 million pounds a year.

Earnings were 90 cents a share on the 1,086,737 shares in 1940 and 47 cents in 1939. In 1941 the profit before charging off war losses was $774,594, but this evidently reflected substantial tax savings. Charge-offs against income and earned surplus in that year totaled $2,727,912, of which $2,611,196 represented net book value of assets lost. In addition, $1,735,814 was written off against capital surplus.

No dividend has been paid since 1941, when 70 cents a share was distributed. In 1940 and 1939 the payments were 60 cents and 15 cents. Small net losses were shown each year after 1941. Assets at the close of 1944 included net working capital of $1,364,000 and small additional items. Book value of the stock was $1.30 a share with no allowance for claims filed against the British government and the United States state department in connection with the Malaya losses. These claims totaled $11,198,000, of which $10,619,000 would be allocable to the parent company. It is not known in what condition the mining properties will be recovered.

HEDGING SALES AFFECT GRAINS; CLOSE IS UNEVEN

Closing grain prices were irregular yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat was ¾ cent lower to ⅛ cent a bushel higher, oats declined ⅝ to ¾ and rye ⅜ to ⅞, corn was unchanged to ½ higher, and barley 1¼ higher to ⅛ lower. Hedging sales against large shipments of cash wheat and oats from northwestern country elevators affected prices.

Harvesting of spring wheat is general in the Dakotas and Minnesota, and the grain is moving to market as fast as railroads can provide cars. A reduction in the buying price for spring wheat by the Commodity Credit corporation weakened futures early and the market lacked aggressive support.

PREDICTS MORE BEEF, LITTLE PORK AND LAMB

More beef may reach the public within a few days, but pork and lamb will continue scarce, George A. Eastwood, president of Armour & Co., said yesterday.

"The trade expects substantial increases in beef within a very few days—perhaps 25 to 30 per cent more than the war time average," Eastwood said.

Pasturage for grass fed cattle is unusually favorable, he said, and the expected run of this type of stock may tax the facilities of slaughterers. Pork production may be 40 per cent under that of a year ago, the result, Eastwood added, of government regulations restricting hog raising.

Warns of Air Line Competition

He said if service were not improved, the railroads would not "stand a chance" to compete with air service. If the Otis offer were accepted, it would be three years before service "would begin to approach normalcy," he asserted.

In its petition to the Philadelphia court Otis asked permission to intervene in the government's anti-trust suit against Pullman, Inc., and authority to purchase Pullman's sleeping car service.

Pullman was ordered by the court on May 8, 1944, to dispose of either its car manufacturing or its car service business. It elected to retain the manufacturing facilities and was given a year from last March 22 to dispose of the service. Shortly thereafter Pullman made an offer to sell it to the railroads of the country.

Otis in its motion said it would meet Pullman's figure, reported at the time of the offer to be 75 million dollars. It requested the court for immediate action, asserting a total of 6,250 heavyweight sleeping coaches would have to be replaced by streamlined cars.

INTERNATIONAL CODE FOR TRADE PROPOSED; WOULD BAN CARTELS

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—An international commercial conduct code, banning preferential arrangements between groups of nations or dominions and colonies, as in the British empire, and discrimination between traders by state trading corporations, as in Russia, was proposed today by Eugene P. Thomas, president of the National Foreign Trade council.

The code would limit intergovernmental commodity agreements to agricultural or other primary commodities subject to chronic surpluses, abolish trade restricting cartel practices, provide voluntary commercial arbitration of all commercial disputes, and grant equal commercial facilities to aliens and citizens in any country.

CATTLE PRICES OFF AS SUPPLIES ARE INCREASED

Cattle receipts in the Chicago stock yards yesterday totaled 22,000, largest since the middle of last February and second largest for an August session since 1936.

Prime long fed steers brought the $18 a hundred pounds ceiling, as high as any cattle have sold this year, and the majority sold $15 to $17.50. A fair average of sales indicated declines up to 15 cents, altho a few steers sold as much as 25 cents under last week's close. Other cattle were steady to 25 cents lower.

The supply of hogs at 7,500, including direct shipments to packers, were smallest for a Monday since last March. Packers gave ceiling prices for nearly everything received, sorting only when necessary to avoid violation of price rules.

Lamb prices dipped to the lowest levels since November, 1943, despite a reduction in the supply.

Consolidated Film Calls Meeting to Vote on Merger

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Stockholders of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., have been called to a special meeting on Sept. 28 to vote on proposals to merge the company and Republic Pictures corporation with Setay company. The consolidated corporation would be named Republic Pictures corporation.

October Egg Prices Fall to Low for Six Months

Egg futures prices fell 1 to 1.05 cents a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday on selling apparently induced by the weakness of the spot market and unfavorable storage movement. The October future closed at 38.90 cents a dozen, its lowest in six months. November closed at 38.80 cents and December at 35.70, their lowest for the season.

APPROVES DEBENTURE CALL

The securities and exchange commission has approved the plan of Union Producing company, Shreveport, La., to redeem 1 million dollars of 6 per cent debentures due 1952 at principal amount plus accrued interest. United Gas corporation, Union's parent, owns 40 millions of the outstanding debentures. The redemption will be made on or about Sept. 25.

LABOR, INDUSTRY IN INDIANA SIGN POLICY CHARTER

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 27 [Special]—Management and labor in Indiana sat down at a conference table here today and executed a charter which may be of historical significance to the state and the country in management-labor relations.

The action, the result of several weeks of meetings sponsored by the state department of commerce and public relations, made Indiana the first state to adopt a labor policy. No previous publicity had been given the matter so that other states would not be apprised of the plan immediately.

Signers Include Hoffman

The text of the charter, whose six signers included two South Bend men, Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker corporation, and James McEwan, president of the Indiana state industrial union council [CIO], follows:

"In Indiana labor and management have one common aim, one mutual goal—promotion of the general welfare of the state as a whole and the individual well being of all its residents and citizens. A sound economy is possible only with such an understanding. Because leaders of management and labor long have recognized this fact, the relations between these groups have been friendly and cordial.

Mullen, Mitchell Included

"By adopting as a policy the conference table method of give and take, Hoosiers have successfully demonstrated their desire and their ability to reconcile and to adjust differences that do arise between the two groups. As representatives of labor-management, we pledge ourselves to maintenance of this policy and to seek an intelligent approach to all problems of mutual concern to the end that peace and harmony among all economic groups may continue to prevail in the Hoosier state."

Other signers included Carl W. Mullen, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor [AFL]; Dean H. Mitchell, president of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce; Charles W. Kern, Indiana commissioner of labor, and Lt. Gov. James, director of the state department of commerce and public relations.

"The friendly and harmonious spirit which prevailed among these leaders of labor and management, no less that the actual signing of the charter, is a tribute to the foresight and statesmanship of these men," said James.

WPB PUTS NEWSPRINT RESTRICTION ON ALL TYPES OF CONSUMERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP)—All users of newsprint were placed under consumption limitation order L-240 today by the WPB. Magazine, booklet, and other print paper users who last week were exempt from consumption controls on all papers now must conform to the war time restrictions still imposed on newspaper publishers in the quota consumption of newsprint.

Book and magazine publishers and commercial printers may use in any calendar quarter up to 113.3 per cent of the amount of newsprint which they lawfully used in the corresponding quarter of 1944, or the second quarter of 1945, or 10 tons, whichever amount is largest.

Publishers of shopping guides, free distribution newspapers, "want ad" publications, and free distribution publications appearing in newspaper format may use in any calendar quarter up to 105 per cent of the newsprint they used in the same quarter of 1944, or the second calendar quarter of 1945, or 10 tons, whichever is largest.

Users of newsprint other than newspaper publishers also must conform to delivery quota and inventory restrictions set forth for newspapers in order L-240.

FOUNDRY JOBS—Free
IOWA FARE PAID
Modern Foundry requires 100 men NOW. Skilled or unskilled men needed for jobs as:
Squeeze Molders
Molder's Helpers
Slinger Helpers
Iron Powers
Shake Out
Chip and Grind
Plant still running 48 hours per week, time and half over 40 hours. Best possible peace time job SECURITY. THINK of being with an old reliable company where working conditions and living are tops. THINK of vacations, pensions and death benefits paid by the company. THINK of having good clean shower and ventilated lockers and FREE LAUNDRY service daily for work clothes. THINK of working in a BIG foundry highly mechanized with the minimum of hand lifting. If unskilled, you work a few days at trainee rate, THEN to piece work. THE AVERAGE PIECE WORK EARN'GS. CONSIDERABLY OVER $1 HR.
